Spring-ing

The crocuses and snow blossoms pierce the dreary winter landscape. Daffodils and magnolia trees spring to their glory. The days are getting longer. Robins have arrived. Plant sales spring up. Soon, neighbors will be raking wind-blown leaves, digging up their gardens to plant colorful flowers. Easter eggs will be hunted. Religious services will be observed. But the big tell that spring is here is when the words are shouted at the Little League fields across America, “Play Ball!”

Troop 17 Eagle Scout Project Improves Woodland Park

Damian Kulesza had to take the last step to get Scouting's highest rank, the Eagle, which was to do his Eagle project.

After consulting with town officials, he planned improvements for Woodland Park.

We re-painted the tables green, because the paint was getting faded and didn't look good compared to the great park it was located in. It may seem to be easy, but avoiding the paint was the hardest part.

This was industrial paint, so anything it was painted onto would be green for a pretty long time. The paint made them look amazing, and very reflective.

We did other things than just painting a bunch of tables. While some people were painting, the other people circled around the park countless times fixing small things, and picking up litter.

We also straightened a path of gravel, by packing it back together with shovels. We collected about 4 bags of trash with everyone helping.

Troop 17 is chartered by Corpus Christi Church. Any boy, middle and high school age interested in Scouting, is invited to attend a meeting on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Corpus Christi ECLC. Scribe, Troop 17. ###

Roll of Honors Awards

The first annual Roll of Honors Award ceremony was held at the February 25, 2016 Board of Education meeting at A.S. Faust Intermediate School in East Rutherford. The recipients of the recognition were Grace McGee, a school secretary, retired, and Judy Ackermann, a beloved teacher, deceased. Mr. Joseph Abate, Interim Superintendent, awarded the plaques to Mrs. McGee and Bruce Ackermann, Judy's husband. Gina Pappas, a teacher at Faust School, honored Mrs. Ackermann, and Louis Ravettine, retired East Rutherford Principal, honored Mrs. McGee. The auditorium was filled with family members, school staff, friends, and past students who attended the ceremony to honor the two women's dedication to the East Rutherford school system for many years. Provided by Jessica Gerity. ###

Heights Lions Den

On February 12, 2016, Hasbrouck Heights Lions Club President Joseph Mastropietro presented The Hasbrouck Heights Free Public Library a $500 check for the ongoing purchase of large print materials. Each year, the Lions make an annual contribution to help supplement the cost of these expensive materials and to further their mission of supporting vision for all. In 2009, the Lions Den was established to help meet this need. Each purchased book is plated and gives special recognition to the Hasbrouck Heights Lions Club for their generous donation. Photo provided by The Library. ###

Earth Day 2016 — Trees for the Earth. Let's get planting

The movement continues. We are now entering the 46th year of a movement that continues to inspire, challenge ideas, ignite passion, and motivate people to action.

In 1970, the first Earth Day, the movement gave voice to an emerging consciousness, channeling human energy toward environmental issues.

Forty-six years later, they continue to lead with groundbreaking ideas and by the power of example. And so it begins. Today. Right here and right now. Earth Day is more than just a single day — April 22, 2016. It's bigger than attending a rally and taking a stand.

This Earth Day and beyond, let's make big stuff happen. Let's plant 7.8 billion trees for the Earth. Let's divest from fossil fuels and make cities 100% renewable.

Let's take the momentum from the Paris Climate Summit and build on it. Let's start now. And let's not stop. - See more at: <http://www.earthday.org/earth-day/#sthash.9SvzLO22.dpuf>

Over the next five years, as Earth Day moves closer to its 50th anniversary, they are calling on you to help them achieve one of their most ambitious goals yet — they are planting 7.8 billion trees and they're starting now.

Trees will be the first of five major goals they are undertaking in honor of the five-year countdown to their 50th anniversary.

On their own and together, these initiatives will make a significant and measurable impact on the Earth and will serve as the foundation of a cleaner, healthier and more sustainable planet for all.

Why Trees?

Trees help combat climate change. They absorb excess and harmful CO2 from the atmosphere. In fact, in a single year, an acre of mature trees absorbs the same amount of CO2 produced by driving the average car 26,000 miles.

Trees help us breathe clean air. Trees absorb odors and pollutant gases (nitrogen oxides, ammonia, sulfur dioxide and ozone) and filter particulates out of the air by trapping them on their leaves and bark.

Trees help communities. Trees help communities achieve long-term economic and environmental sustainability and provide food, energy and income.

Plant a tree. Make a donation. Activate your friends and social networks. We can do this. #trees4earth - See more at: <http://www.earthday.org/earth-day/earth-day-theme/#sthash.qyIRCM2k.dpuf> ###

Full Pink Moon

The April full moon will appear on Friday, April 22, 2016, at 1:24 a.m. It is called the "Full Pink Moon."

According to the "Farmer's Almanac," this name came from the herb, moss pink, or wild ground phlox, which is one of the earliest widespread flowers of the spring.

Other names include the "Full Sprouting Grass Moon," the "Egg Moon," and, among Coastal tribes, the "Full Fish Moon," because this was the time that the shad swam upstream to spawn.

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to each recurring full moon. European settlers followed the custom. ###

Beautiful flowering plants have adorned The Boulevard for over 10 years.

The Hasbrouck Heights Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Hasbrouck Heights Garden Club, invites businesses and residents to sponsor a flowering planter by making a $50 donation.

The planting will be done by the Garden Club at the DPW after the May 15 frost date.

EPA Finalizes Passaic River Cleanup

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency finalized a plan to remove 3.5 million cubic yards of toxic sediment from the lower eight miles of the Passaic River in New Jersey, followed by capping that entire stretch of river bottom.

The sediment in the Passaic River is severely contaminated with dioxin, PCBs, heavy metals, pesticides and other contaminants from more than a century of industrial activity.

The lower eight miles of the Passaic is the most heavily contaminated section of the river. Ninety percent of the volume of contaminated sediments in the river are in the lower eight miles.

The 3.5 million cubic yards of contaminated sediment will be removed by dredging the river bottom, bank-to-bank, from Newark Bay to the Belleville/Newark border. The cleanup is estimated to cost $1.38 billion. Source: Elias Rodriguez, EPA. ###

RLC Rocks!

It was a full range of activities to celebrate Read Across America Day at the R. L. Craig School in Moonachie on February 26, 2016. A Survivor Island game show concluded a busy fun-filled day. ###

Rutherford's STEM Club Places First

On March 2, 2016, STEM community advisor Bill Helphingstine brought Pierrepont's STEM Club to the the Vex IQ Bank Shot Robotics Competition at South Hackensack Memorial School.

Pierrepont students faced off against twelve other school districts in a variety of team challenges. The Pierrepont team had the distinct accomplishment of winning all divisions and brought home a trophy for the overall win and two individual category plaques.

Challenges included a teamwork challenge whereby two robots work together to complete a task; a robot skills challenge whereby one robot scores points moving a series of balls up a ramp and over to a goal area under driver control; and a programming skills challenge whereby a robot scores as many points as possible autonomously.

Members of the Pierrepont team were visibly enthused by their big win. Students utilized K'nex-like pieces called "VEX IQ" to create various robot iterations. They then proceeded to create a code program for the remote and robot to perform the necessary functions for the competition.

Seventh Grader Elijah Chi noted that, in preparation for the event, students worked diligently every day at lunch eager to build robots. He was astonished at what the VEX IQ robots could eventually do.

Joey Shymko asserted that the group "tried things that might seem impossible," but the competition "made me believe in the possible and myself."

Advisor Bill Helphingstine shared that winning the competition was one of most "fun wins" he has ever had. The sense of solidarity in the STEM community is apparent when walking into the room during lunchtime practices. Members speak of the Club as "family." Reflecting on her experience, student Joey Shymko declared, "STEM brings everyone together, no matter the gender, height, race or anything else.

It's basically family."

All students agreed that both the Club and the competition were memorable experiences. Student Brian Landzettel summed up a sentiment that many STEM Club members expressed. He "wants to see VEX robotics in the school systems moving forward. It lets kids be creative and have their visions brought to life." Provided by JoAnn Hughes. ###

Faust School in East Rutherford participated in the South Bergen Jointure Commission's VEX IQ Bank Shot Robotics Competition at Memorial School in South Hackensack. ## Zorat Wins Culinary Competition

Bergen Community College student, Lucretia Zorat (right), of Moonachie, rose as the cream of the crop March 9, 2016, winning a culinary competition at the institution as part of its annual Women's History Month celebration.

Three students showed off their culinary chops for a panel of expert judges including (from left) Christine Nunn, the executive chef and co-owner of the acclaimed Picnic on the Square in Ridgewood; Rama Ginde, of caterer WannaBee Chef; and Dana Cohen, a former "Hell's Kitchen" contestant. Zorat, a hotel/restaurant management student at the College, prepared four courses in varying cuisines during the competition for the grand prize – a day in Picnic's kitchen alongside Nunn.

Bergen's hotel/restaurant/hospitality and culinary arts programs offer students a blend of in-class lecture and hands-on experience in a professional-grade kitchen at the College's main campus in Paramus. Provided by Bergen Community College. ###

The McKenzie School Fourth Graders constructed replicas of land and water ecosystems, and learned other domain-specific words for ecosystems, such as biomes. In order to understand the components of each ecosystem, the students first studied the structure: community, population, and habitat. Each ecosystem shows a community, population, and habitat. The projects were completed collaboratively. It was a hands-on, cross curricular extravaganza! McKenzie students wrote informative essays, including main ideas, body paragraphs, transition words, and closing statements. They also used research skills from various sources and paraphrased their findings. All students enjoyed the convenience of typing reports using laptops! Provided by Cory Scelsa. ###

On February 3 and 4, 2016, Meliam Gonzalez RN, BSN from Hackensack University Medical Center's "TraumaRoo Program" visited McKenzie Elementary School. Pre-K to 1st Grade learned about "Playground Safety" and the proper way to call 911. All students in 2nd and 3rd Grades learned about "Bike Safety," the proper way to call for help, and to also know how seat belts keep us safe. McKenzie School 4th Graders learned about "Pedestrian Safety" by reinforcing walking safely and removing all distractions. Provided by Cory Scelsa. ###

Health Tip Eat Greener

Eat more fruits and vegetables. Try to eat fruits and veggies for snacks as well as at main meals.

Instead of a candy bar, grab an apple. The sugars in fruits are just as full of energy, but are healthier for your body. Many Americans do not get their daily recommended amounts of fruits and vegetables.

Don't just open an extra can of peas at night either, try to add fresh fruits and vegetables to your diet as they are higher in vitamins and nutrients and have no preservatives added.

Eat organic if you can and pay attention to the flavors. You will be amazed at the differences in taste between canned, fresh and organic products. ###

Lincoln School Celebrates Read Across America

Lincoln School in Rutherford celebrated Read Across America Day/Dr. Seuss' Birthday on Wednesday, March 2, 2016. NEA's Read Across America is an annual reading motivation and awareness program that calls for every child in every community to celebrate reading on March 2, the birthday of beloved children's author, Dr. Seuss. This year's theme celebrated his newly discovered book, "What Pet Should I Get?"

Many community leaders and sports figures stopped by Lincoln School to share their favorite children's book, as well as students from Rutherford High School who conducted various reading activities. Mrs. Philp's 3rd Grade class was surprised with mystery reader Bruce Driver, captain of the 1995 Stanley-Cup winning New Jersey Devils, and NJ, the New Jersey Devils mascot! Mrs. Atkachunas' 2nd Grade class listened to Superintendent of Schools Hurley, and Mrs. Smith's 2nd Grade class was delighted to hear Police Chief Russo's reading of a book about a mischievous dog.

In President Obama's proclamation of this year's Read Across America Day, he said, "From a child's first foray into the depths of a story to an adult's escape into a world of words, reading plays an integral role in our lives. . . The moment we persuade a child to pick up a book for the first time we change their lives forever for the better, and on Read Across America Day, we recommit to getting literary works into young people's hands early and often." All our readers this year proved the saying, "You're never too old, too wacky, too wild, to pick up a book and read with a child." Provided by JoAnn Hughes. ###

ER Memorial Library Patrons Donate to Bergen County Protection and Rescue Foundation

The East Rutherford Memorial Library Director Christine Hartigan and Children's Librarian Maria Russo delivered a variety of toys, dog and cat supplies donated by local patrons to the Bergen County Protection and Rescue Foundation, a no-kill shelter in Cliffside Park. The donation drive was sponsored by a month long program at The Library entitled: "Pet Food for Fines." Patrons were given up to $5 off their Library fines if they donated dog or cat food supplies.

The donated braided dog toys were made by children and families during The Library's February "Random Act of Kindness" program. The kids and families that came out were shown how to take an old T-shirt and make it into a tug toy for a dog. The program generated 16 toys that were donated to the shelter dogs. Provided by Maria Russo. ###

Rutherford Lions Holiday Decoration Contest

In 1946, with the end of World War II, the Rutherford Lions Club wanted to encourage residents to again light up their homes for Christmas, so they decided to sponsor a Holiday Decoration Contest.

And they have sponsored one every year since, so this past December was the 70th Anniversary of this contest. One Lion member, Ted Van Winkle, who joined the Club in 1947, has been a judge in this contest for 69 years.

No one has to enter the contest. Every decorated house is eligible. The week before Christmas, Lion judges look at every decorated house in town and choose what they consider to be the best house, window, door, religious theme, and in retail areas, the best decorated business, and the the best decorated overall property in each area.

Then, during Christmas week, the Junior Women's Club members look at these area winners and choose a 1st and 2nd Place winner for each category and an overall winner.

These winners are presented with a certificate and a gift card at a Mayor and Council meeting early in the new year. The winners for 2015 were:

- Overall: The Podobinsky Family
- House: 1st Place The Reynolds Family; 2nd Place The Scott Family
- Door: 1st Place The Rizzutto Family; 2nd Place The Pak Family
- Window: 1st Place The Natiello Family; 2nd Place The Koenig Family
- Religious: 1st Place The Baumann Family; 2nd Place The Gagliardi Family

Knights Annual Corned Beef Dinner a Success

More than 130 people attended the Corned Beef Dinner held by the Knights of Columbus at Assumption Church in Wood-Ridge. The affair, which took place on March 12, 2016, was to honor St. Patrick.

Lucky Larry's Caterer of Wood-Ridge did an excellent job in preparing the food that was served. The corned beef was perfect, the cabbage with diced carrots was tasty and the boiled potatoes that were seasoned could have been a meal by itself. Of course there was Irish Soda bread, and rye bread, prepared by Mills Bakery and great dessert prepared by the Lyndhurst Pastry Shop and a good amount of beer and wine obtained from Meadowland Wine & Liquor in Wood-Ridge.

Dr. Love DJ Service added to the evening by playing many familiar songs. Everyone who attended had an enjoyable evening out.

Past Grand Knight Russell Petrocelli, thanked all who attended, all who supported the affair with their ads or donations and all the Knights for their cooperation in making this year's dinner one that will be remembered for a long time. Photo and story by Marie and Peter Gallo Jr. ###

Wildcats BYBL Champs

From the first day of try-outs, the Faust School Boys Basketball Team from East Rutherford, was on a mission to win the Bergen Youth Basketball League Tournament.

The Wildcats opened their season with a dramatic come from behind victory on the road vs. Teaneck Charter School. Over the next few games, the Wildcats' suffocating defense led them to wins vs. Alpine, South Hackensack, and Dumont.

On January 5, 2016, Faust suffered their first loss of the season against undefeated Maywood.

The boys bounced back the next day with an impressive win in Little Ferry. Over the next two weeks, Faust ran off wins against a talented Bergen Arts team, Dumont Honiss, and Lyndhurst.

The Wildcats finished the regular season as the #2 seed and a bye into the semi-finals of the BYBL Tournament.

On February 9, the Wildcats were matched up with last year's tournament champions, Dumont. The Wildcats cruised to a 47-29 win and the opportunity to get redemption for their only loss of the season vs. Maywood in the finals.

Peralta, Mitarotonda, Bethea, and Renta all scored in double figures as the Wildcats prevailed 50-42 to win the BYBL Championship.

Four Wildcats, Nick Mitarotonda, Michael Renta, Brian Peralta, and Bryan Catala, were chosen to play in the BYBL All-Star Game the following night. Mahdy Suleimon won the Free Throw Competition, ending a great week for Faust. The Wildcats finished the season with an overall record of 11-1. Provided by Jessica Gerity. ###

Artful Thinking

By Artie Maglionico • Lodi Historian

Lodi's Micheline "Micky" Satkowski was born Micheline Leroy Monge in Henin Lietard, France on September 29, 1926.

She grew up in the safe surroundings of her parents, Louis and Emilie, along with her two older brothers, Pierre and Claude.

In the spring of 1938, Micheline's father, a successful insurance salesman, was transferred to the city of Bethune which is located just below the Belgium border.

"My father took over for a man who was retiring," said Micky. "He saw it as a chance to prosper in a large city."

No sooner did Micky, (a nickname she was given as a teenager), now an 11 year old, settle into her new environs, when the Germans invaded Austria and were continuing north into Czechoslovakia.

Louis, a Veteran of WW1, was immediately called back into active duty. Suddenly Micky's world of flower gardens and rosy faced dolls was in danger of being shattered by a monster whose thirst for death and destruction was yet to be fully realized. "Hitler then made a promise not to invade other countries." Recalls Micky "with that my father was discharged from the Army."

Less than a year later, Adolf Hitler and his Nazi war machine had marched into Poland. On September 3, 1939 France and England had no recourse but to declare war on Germany. Micky's childhood was giving way to the experience of war.

Louis was called back into the military. "Luckily my father was again discharged in the spring of 1940," recalls Micky "In May of that year the Nazi's invaded Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and finally France."

That June, amid the distant sounds of war, Louis and his loved ones fled to a cousin's home located in the coastal village of Campigneulles Les' Grandes. Micky, now 13 years old, had just been released from the hospital where she was treated for a ruptured appendix. "If that wasn't enough. "Said Micky, "we had to leave our dog Poupette behind."

It was during that time when Micky saw her first German soldier. "We just froze in our tracks," sighed Micky as she relived the encounter.

"They drove by on a motorcycle with a side car as we played in the yard. They stopped, gave us a long expressionless stare, and then drove away."

A few weeks later, sensing that it was safe to return home, Louis gathered his family and made his way back to Bethune. They approached the house with caution not knowing what or who might be lying in wait.

Once inside they noticed a machine gun, still smoking, on the table the barrel of which was facing the back window. The walls, riddled with bullet holes, gave evidence of the battle that ensued a few hours earlier. "All of the windows were gone." Said Micky "The Germans used them to cross muddy streams."

Suddenly from out of the hallway, wagging her tail in delight, crept the family dog Poupette. Micky ran to the side of her black and white Terrier only to find a litter of lifeless puppies huddled together in the corner of the room.

Unable to fend for themselves the ill-fated pups succumbed to the hostile conditions. Poupette managed to stay alive by eating the fat that was left to congeal in a frying pan. "I saw her teeth marks in the fat." Recalls Micky, "She had managed to beat the odds and her barking, no doubt, kept the looters away."

It became a vow of Micky's mother to keep the dog and to share with her the families lessening food supply. "Families couldn't feed themselves let alone their pets." said Micky. "Life as I once knew it did not exist any longer." Poupette remained with the family for the duration of the war and then some.

In October of 1940, Micky's 21 year old brother Pierre, a high school teacher, was taken prisoner by the Nazi's and was forced to work repairing railroad tracks.

Knowing that his family had no clue as to his whereabouts Pierre wrote his name, address and location on a small piece of paper.

By a stroke of good fortune a fellow countryman noticed the paper fall from Pierre's hand. Later, in the shadow of twilight, the Frenchman retrieved the note and returned it to the Leroy Monge family.

At last Louis and his wife Emilie knew that their son Pierre was alive and well. Until then they were experiencing a living nightmare. "My father went to where my brother was" said Micky. "He made sure that Pierre saw him just to let him know that the family was aware of his location."

Three months later, on Christmas Eve, 1940, Pierre was released from the Nazi work camp and was allowed to return to the awaiting embrace of his family.

Meanwhile, the war in Europe had intensified and so too the horrors of Nazi occupation. "Our house was at the end of the street," said Micky, "The German soldiers used to park in our drive way and glare at us. How intimidating they were."

By mid-1940, Allied planes began dropping leaflets of hope to the French people below who were being held against their will in the Nazi death grip.

German soldiers perched themselves high in the Church tower overlooking the town square. They served as an ominous reminder that anyone caught reading those flyers would be dealt with harshly. "You could hear the soldiers climbing up the tower during our Mass." Remembers Micky, "This went on from 1940 to 1944 and you didn't know how or when it would end."

Micky and her friends defied the Nazi threat and read those flyers even at the risk of being caught. "It is better to live in the glimmer of hope," said Micky, "than to die slowly in the darkness of despair."

By the fall of 1942, 20 year old Claude, the youngest of Micky's brothers, was ordered by the Germans, as were most young Frenchmen, to work in one of their war factories.

This was a dangerous job since most of these factories were being bombed by American and British war planes.

Rather than risk being killed for the Nazi cause Claude joined the French underground. "I was 15 years old by then" recalls Micky "My family trusted me with the secret of my brother's plight. Had it slipped out my brother Claude would have been executed."

It wasn't until August of 1944 after the Allied forces landed in Normandy that Claude was reunited with his family. Those were anxious times for the Leroy Monge family.

Overhead was the constant threat of bombing raids of the American made Flying Fortress which was able to unleash its deadly cargo from 30,000 feet.

One had to always listen for the sounds of the Allied planes in search of German installations. "If you were frying food," said Micky, "someone had to be outside listening for the planes. We were trapped between British and German aircraft and I saw many pilots on both sides parachuting to safety or to their deaths."

The war as Micheline remembers it was a time of overwhelming anxieties, sacrifice beyond human comprehension and inconceivable risk taking.

Rationing was a way of life under Nazi rule. Whether it was food, clothing, and medical supplies and yes...wine...it all went toward the German war effort."

If it didn't grow in France or could not be purchased on the black market you did without it," said Micky "We'd have to barter for goods...a bushel of fruit for a pint of milk." The British broadcasting company (BBC) had a free French station which was highly frowned upon by Nazi brass.

Listening to allied forces sending messages of hope and of faith could easily have ended in disaster. "We listened and we prayed," said Micky, "after the broadcast we had to turn the dial to another station in case a German soldier came in. We didn't want him to suspect anything that could bring us harm."

By June 6, 1944,"D-Day" the bombardments had become more frequent and with deadly intent.

The Nazi's, as well as the French, thought that the Allied Forces were taking the short passage across the English channel from the south east of England to Pas de Calais only a few miles away from Micky's home town of Bethune.

Realizing that the full impact of the invasion was taking place to the south in Normandy, most of the German troops were immediately sent in that direction. Suddenly, according to Micky, the once larger than life German soldiers had turned sheepish in demeanor. "They were afraid of dying just like us," said Micky.

Finally on August 14, 1944 English speaking Canadian troops entered the city of Bethune. From the center of town could be heard the joyous sounds of liberation.

"Until then sniper fire kept us from getting to the center of town," remembers Micky.

"Now the entire town was able to join in the celebration." On the morning of August 15, the Canadian troops were camped out in the center square enjoying a breakfast of fried eggs and tomatoes.

Where once the citizens of Bethune were afraid to go was now sacred landscape upon which all were free to walk.

"I will never experience a joy like that again," admits Micheline. "We brought a soldier home for dinner and in return he gave us a few bars of Life-buoy soap. It was the first time in 4 years that we were able to wash with real soap. All the good stuff went to the German Army. The German citizens suffered just like we did."

Soon, recalls Micky, prisoners of war and members of the French underground, including brother, Claude, who she hadn't seen for two years, were returning home. "For my family," said Micky, "it was joy without a shadow."

In October of 1944, Micky now 18 years old, left for Lille, France where she enrolled in a local college. Forced to return home due to a respiratory illness Micky remained in her mother's care until March of the following year.

Once back in Lille, Micky found employment as an interpreter for the American Red Cross. "I learned how to speak English as a child," said Micky. "I'm glad I did."

It was then that Micheline Leroy Monge met her soul mate...Lodi resident Corporal Henry Satkowski U.S. Airforce.

"We met on May 19, 1945," recalls Micky "he wanted to take me out the same day but I insisted that we be chaperoned."

Henry, smitten by this 18 year old beauty, talked a friend of his into coming along for their first date. What began as a chance meeting between two people who were drawn together by war was now a budding romance.

Blossom though it did 3 months later the American Red Cross bid the whole of France and WWII adieu. Micky and Henry had to go their separate ways...but not for long.

On September 11, 1945 the love sick Corporal, pulled up in front of Micheline's home in an Army truck. Emilie met him at the front door with her arms folded and her foot tapping repeatedly on the top step.

"He assured my mother that nothing happened between us in Lille," recalls Micky. "He was telling the truth of course." From there Henry departed for Germany. The two kept in touch until 1946 when Henry was shipped back to U.S. soil and his home town of Lodi, New Jersey.

"He wanted to get married before he went home" said Micky "but my mother disapproved." Convincing her mother that Henry was a man of honor and integrity, Micheline said goodbye to her family and friends in Bethune, France and on March 1, 1947 made her first footprints on the fertile soil of the United States of America.

Micky remembers it as follows: "Late in February, I went to Paris with my father. We called TWA, but because of a heavy snow storm the airport had been shut down. My father had to return home leaving me alone in Paris for 4 days.

Money, food, and coupons had run out, so she had to find shelter in a warm subway. On Thursday she got to the station and boarded a shuttle bus to the airport only to find that she had been bumped until the following day.

Finally 24 long hours later she arrived at New York's La Guardia airport, called Henry and his brother, Casmir, to pick her up.

They arrived 2 hours later and found her standing next to a beautifully dressed war bride who was on her way to Kansas City.

She had on a coat and bobby socks and Casmir, thinking that I was the one dressed in furs and nylons, congratulated Henry on having such great taste in women.

Henry laughed as he informed his brother that indeed she was the girl in the bobby socks. Boy was Casmir let down. Yes folks, Casmir might have been let down, but Henry was the happiest guy in Lodi.

The couple married on March 19, 1947, and moved to Washington Street in Lodi in 1952.

Henry was employed by the U.S. Post Office until succumbing to cancer in 1990.

Micky worked at Josephine's Dress Shop in Lodi until the late 50s, when she went to work as a bookkeeper for a Maywood banking firm. After a short stint as a substitute teacher, Micky became employed at The Lodi Library as Senior Assistant in the Children's section where she retired in 1988. Micky also worked as an ESL teacher from 1988 to 1998.

Today, the 89 year old French born war bride is an active member of the St. Francis De Sales Church on Union Street in Lodi.

Her brothers, Pierre and Claude, are deceased. Her mother Emilie died in 1982 at the age of 93. Louis, her father died in 1984 at the age of 85. Poupette lived a full and protected life until 1949.

"I HATE WAR AS ANY-ONE DOES" said Micky "But the irony is that had it not been for U.S. involvement in WWII, I'd have never met my husband and would never have moved to America."

Real Estate Insight

By Mary Ellen Courtney

Real Estate and Reality TV Cont'd.

Reality TV has taken over prime-time viewing hours, and two formats have taken over reality TV: Singing competition and Real Estate.

No two reality TV formats have more shows based on their concepts.

Last month we looked at the "reality" of real estate as it appears in the sparkling world of the rich and glamorous.

This month, we're going to consider the practical side of real estate as portrayed in many of today's TV Home Renovation Shows.

Some of the top real estate shows out there - "This Old House," "Flip that House," "Moving Up," "Property Brothers," etc. – feature nice, normal people, realistic homes and the real restrictions of...The Budget.

On the surface, they seem pretty legit but are they? I mean, we've all seen home renovation shows where the nice young couple buys a decrepit home with a kitchen so ugly that even 1960 wouldn't take it back.

In 30 or 60 minutes, that ugly house becomes a veritable dream home, with every detail perfect, down to the color-coordinated stand mixer and coffee maker in the new gorgeous kitchen. Reality?

Angie Hicks, founder of AngiesList.com which provides referrals and reviews of contractors says. "We live in a world of home improvement as entertainment. A lot of steps get left out in that entertainment because obviously it would be kind of boring."

Steps that are usually left out include the homeowners' research before they decide what renovations to make, drawing up plans with architects, consulting engineers on structural issues, getting estimates from multiple contractors and then choosing one and getting permits from local building officials, all of which can add months to a project.

But, though real estate on reality TV might not be completely 100% truthful, that doesn't mean it isn't useful.

"This Old House" made its debut in 1979, hosted by Bob Vila who had a degree in journalism and his own building company.

It has seen changes over the years but the format has remained largely the same, focusing on renovating one house the entire season. It is a perennial favorite among Angie's List members, one of whom stated: "Some of the new shows play up the fake drama a little too much. "This Old House" is straight forward and low key."

The fact is there's no better place to reinvent oneself than in the home. "Martha Stewart Living" cultivated that territory 20 years ago. People watch these shows to utilize the ideas that get talked about.

It's what's called "take-away value" and in order to achieve it, the better shows have to incorporate the three "I"s: Ideas, Inspiration and Information.

Their content enables people to actually get off the couch and work themselves or to, at least, make smarter choices when hiring help. They have a better idea of what to ask, what the process entails and how much it ought to cost.

Here are a few things you see on home renovation shows that I would point out as either reality or fantasy...

Home renovation projects include unexpected and often expensive setbacks. Reality. Life is not quite as precisely scripted as you see on TV.

Things happen that you can't foresee and that fact of the matter is that renovations often go over budget. Setting aside a contingency fund is a smart move.

Contractors show up on time and work into the night to get the job done. Fantasy. Your contractor is likely juggling your renovation with several other projects and you may not be his first priority.

The stress of a major home renovation can bring homeowners to tears. Reality. Many are overcome with emotion as they struggle to make decisions, cope with setbacks and live with chaos.

Adding the right furniture and accessories can make your home look like a magazine cover story. Reality. These things don't come with the renovation job but if you're willing to do some shopping and spend some extra time, you can make your home look just as nice.

By Thomas Marshall

New Jersey is known as the crossroads of the Revolution. It sits in between Philadelphia and New York, so not surprisingly, many battles and skirmishes took place here.

New Jersey had a high population of Loyalists and they fought against their former neighbors. Neighbor murdered neighbor and settled old scores. Loyalists and Patriots alike took part in the local savagery that took place here. It was a rough time in New Jersey.

By October 1780, General Cornwallis surrendered his army to General Washington at Yorktown, Virginia. In school you are told that for the most part this is the end of the war.

The actual official end would not come until the Treaty of Paris of 1783. That would be two years and 11 months after Yorktown. That would be just enough time for the nation's first international incident.

Take a guess which state was involved? Ok, I didn't make it hard but you're right. New Jersey. It wouldn't be New Jersey if something crazy didn't happen.

Philip White was a Loyalist that lived in New Jersey. He was a co-owner of a ship and this ship was used by the British during the war. There was nothing unusual about that.

He conducted many operations in New Jersey on behalf of the British. By 1782 he was trying to move Loyalist refugees out of Monmouth County. As the story goes, he killed several men in a gun battle. He was captured and according to Loyalists was blindfolded and had his hands cut off and died.

The Patriots claimed he was captured and while being escorted to prison he recognized a man who was the father of someone he killed and fearing reprisal, tried to flee through a swamp and was shot. Whichever story you choose to believe, it's all the same to Philip. He was dead in Monmouth County.

So, here today you may say, so what? One dead man out of thousands that have died of injuries, disease and battle, why does this matter? Well it didn't end there.

Captain Richard Lippincott, from Shrewsbury, New Jersey, was also a Loyalist. He was serving with his Loyalist Volunteers when they attacked a blockhouse guarding Toms River, NJ. Toms River was a launching point for many privateers to attack British vessels.

As it turned out the Patriots were forced to surrender and the men on guard were taken to New York City and placed on one of the famous prison ships. There is nothing surprising here. This was a common practice during the war, but this is New Jersey, we aren't done yet.

One of the prisoners taken in Toms River that day was Captain Joshua Huddy, a local born Patriot. A story had circulated among the local Loyalists that some man by the name of Edward died while a prisoner of Captain Huddy. The story may not have been true, but the Loyalists believed Huddy was responsible.

The Board of Associated Loyalists of New York authorized Captain Lippincott to take two prisoners back to Sandy Hook, NJ, and exchange them. He was also authorized by this Board to hang Captain Huddy for the death of Captain White.

Lippincott was pleased to oblige because he was a distant relative of Captain White. Lippincott took all three to NJ, exchanged two and hanged Captain Joshua Huddy from a tree on April 12, 1782. Over his hanging corpse a sign read "up goes Huddy for Captain White." He reported back to the Board in New York that he exchanged two and exchanged Huddy for White.

His funeral was attended by over 400 people and complaints of executing prisoners reached the ears of General George Washington. Washington was irate that Huddy was executed and he soon wrote to the Commanding General of British forces in America, Sir Guy Carlton.

Washington demanded that those responsible be turned over for trial in an American court. Sir Guy sidestepped the affair and said he had no control over civilian matters. The Board was under civilian control outside his jurisdiction.

Washington, not believing this nonsense, ordered five British Captains that were taken as Prisoners of War to draw straws. The Captain with the short straw would be hanged. He told Sir Guy if he turned over the responsible parties the Captain would be spared. Straws were drawn. The short one went to 20 year old, Captain Charles Asgill. Sir Guy Carlton needed to buy some time. He ordered a court martial of Captain Lippincott over his actions on April 12. This trial took time. Time Asgill needed, so that letters and communication can cross the Atlantic.

Carlton knew there was a policy in the British Army of not exchanging prisoners to be hanged. Carlton could not exchange Lippincott for Asgill because Lippincott would face the gallows. The same policy saved Benedict Arnold when he turned traitor in 1780. Major John Andre was hanged as a spy because Arnold could not be exchanged for him, a trade which Washington wanted, but could not be done.

Captain Charles Asgill's mother soon found out her son won the New Jersey Lottery. In a panic she wrote everyone, among them King George the Third, King Louis of France and his Queen Marie Antoinette.

Letters began pouring into Washington's Headquarters. Our nation's first international incident was underway. Washington no doubt wanted to spare Asgill, just like he never wanted to hang John Andre. Andre received a court martial for hiding his uniform while trying to make contact with the traitor, Benedict Arnold.

He was found guilty of being a spy and his sentence was death. Asgill on the other hand committed no crime. Washington just wanted Lippincott to face American justice.

Disgusted with the whole matter Washington took all the letters and sent them to Congress and asked for a ruling.

At this time, the court martial of Lippincott concluded and found him innocent on the grounds that he was carrying out the order of the Board of Loyalists. Sir Guy Carlton who claimed no jurisdiction over the Civilian Board of Loyalists had them disbanded. It would seem Sir Guy had more control than he liked to admit.

The Congress of the United States reviewed the matter and declared that since Captain Charles Asgill surrendered at Yorktown he was under the protection of the Articles of Capitulation agreed upon and signed there and could not be subjected to the gallows.

Congress ordered General Washington to release the prisoner and send him back to England. Washington did so and Asgill went back to England in December 1782.

Asgill remained in the Army. He rose to the rank of General and was also given the title of 2nd Baronet upon the death of his father. He saw duty in Ireland where he helped put down a rebellion there in 1798. He died on July 23, 1823.

Lippincott survived the war but could not stay in New Jersey. He, like many Loyalists after the war, went to Canada to restart life again. Apparently, Toronto was where he resided until his death in 1826.

Joshua Huddy was buried in a Church yard. Long gone is the crowd of mourners whose cries for vengeance reached all the way to the Court of King Louis and George the Third.

The tree on which he was hanged was still standing as late as 1867. I don't know if it still does. Today in Toms River there is a place called Huddy Park. It's named after the local patriot who gave his life in the cause of liberty. It's a place to relax and enjoy a beautiful day. A spot to reflect on a long ago April when the park's namesake was executed for a crime he didn't commit. An execution that shook the courts of kings. ###

Rutherford Blood Drive April 4

The Rutherford Community Blood Bank will hold its spring blood drive on Monday, April 4, 2016, from 3 to 8 p.m., at the Kip Center, 55 Kip Avenue, Rutherford.

This drive is being dedicated to the memory of Fred Fiume, a Rutherfordian who died in July of 2015 at 53 years of age.

Although Fred lived with an extremely challenging illness for most of his adult life, he still chose to give to his neighbors, who formed a broad and diverse community. Fred was a loving husband, the devoted father of four children and a friend to many.

He also was a blood donor, and a Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks and a member of its Special Children's Committee. This good neighbor's commitment to community was made apparent by activities such as his six-year tenure on the Rutherford Board of Education and his time spent as part of the Rutherford High School Music Boosters. Professionally, he served four years of active duty in the United States Army and 14 years as a reservist, including a deployment to Iraq, retiring with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Fred worked as a dentist in the military, private practice and various correctional institutions in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, including facilities on Rikers Island. He also served on the board of the New Jersey Academy of General Dentistry.

Donors will receive an extra "thank you," a $5 gift card to Dunkin' Donuts.

Appointments are not required, but can be made by calling 201-251-3703. The Kip Center is located next to the municipal parking deck. Donors should bring ID and eat before coming, and those 16 or 17 years of age must bring the parental consent form. ###

Operation Take Back Drugs

On Saturday, April 30, 2016, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., the Hasbrouck Heights Police Department will be participating with the DEA, as well as the Bergen County Prosecutor's Office in "Operation Take Back New Jersey."

"Operation Take Back New Jersey" is a program to provide the citizens with a safe and legal method to dispose of their unwanted, unused, and expired medications.

Please be advised that if an individual wishes to surrender obvious, non-pharmaceutical, illicit drugs, they may do so at that time. This program is anonymous.

The goal of the program is to allow the citizens of NJ to deliver all of their unused, unwanted, or expired medications to law enforcement officials who can in turn dispose of these controlled substances in a safe and non-hazardous manner, preventing these pills from falling into the hands of juveniles or into the illicit market in our communities. ###

Health Tip Eat Breakfast

How are you supposed to have energy and a functioning mind if you are not feeding your body?

Eating breakfast is one of the most important steps to losing weight and being healthy.

Skipping breakfast causes hunger pains, binge eating and irritability. Even if all you eat is a piece of toast with peanut butter on it as you run out the door, the fuel you give your body in the morning will help you function better all day long. ###

Filling You In

By Jeffrey E. Mason, D.M.D.

Mouthguards

To avoid injuries to your mouth while you're playing sports, talk to your dentist about getting an athletic mouthguard made just for you.

What is a mouthguard?

A mouthguard is a flexible appliance that is worn during athletic and recreational activities to prevent injuries to your mouth and face, such as split lips, broken teeth, and jaw fractures.

When should I wear a mouthguard?

It is advisable to wear a mouthguard any time there is a strong chance of your head making contact with other participants or hard surfaces. Mouthguards should be worn when participating in activities such as basketball, softball, football, wrestling, soccer, lacrosse, rugby, hockey, martial arts, and skateboarding.

What are the different types of mouthguards?

There are several types of mouthguards, including the following:

- Stock mouthguards: The least expensive option is a ready made stock item, which offers the least protection since little can be done to adjust its fit. This type of mouthguard—which is available over-the-counter—requires the user to close his or her jaw to hold it in place; as a result, it may interfere with speech and breathing. It also may lead to soreness of the jaw muscles. A stock mouthguard is not considered an acceptable device for facial protection.

- Mouth-formed mouthguards: There are two types of mouth-formed mouthguards, both of which are available over-the-counter. The first is a shell-liner mouthguard, which is made from an acrylic material that is poured into an outer shell, where it forms a lining. When placed in an athlete's mouth, the lining material molds to the teeth and is allowed to set.

- Custom-made mouth-guards: When it comes to injury prevention, a custom-made mouthguard is your best option.

This type of mouthguard, which is made by your dentist, offers the best protection, fit, and comfort level because it is made from a model of your teeth.

How should I care for my mouthguard?

To keep your mouthguard in good condition, follow these steps:

- After each use, brush your mouthguard with a toothbrush and cool (not hot) water.
  - Keep your mouthguard in a well-ventilated plastic storage box when you're not using it. Your dentist will provide you with a case.
  - Don't leave your mouthguard in direct sunlight or in a hot car; heat can melt the device, altering the way it fits in your mouth—resulting in less protection.
  - Bring your mouthguard with you when you see your dentist for your regular check-ups. Your dentist can give it a thorough cleaning and check its structure and fit.
  - Call your dentist if you have any concerns about your mouthguard.
- For more information about mouthguards, talk to your general dentist.

Messiah in the Passover Demonstration

Dr. Mitch Glaser, President of Chosen People Ministries, will conduct a presentation called "Messiah in the Passover," a vivid and exciting demonstration showing how Jesus fulfilled the ancient feast of Passover.

This will be held at Bible Baptist Church on Sunday, April 17, 2016 during both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Chosen People Ministries is a mission founded in 1894 by Leopold Cohn, a Hungarian rabbi who came to believe that Jesus is the Messiah promised by the Hebrew Scriptures.

From humble beginnings in Brooklyn, New York, Chosen People Ministries has grown into a worldwide ministry to "the Jew first and to the Gentile."

"Messiah in the Passover" begins with the traditional Passover Seder table complete with all the articles of this important Jewish celebration.

The speaker will explain the symbolic meanings of the various items of the Passover feast and highlight their relationship to the Last Supper that Messiah celebrated with the disciples, giving special emphasis on the redemptive significance of the crucifixion.

"Messiah in the Passover" gives the Christian community insight into Jewish traditions so that the Jewish roots of Christianity can be better understood. This program also helps the Jewish and Christian communities understand their common heritage.

Dr. Mitch Glaser is a Jewish believer from New York City who came to faith in Messiah in 1970 after a restless search for spiritual truth. For over 40 years, he and his wife, Zhava, have been active ambassadors of the Gospel in many parts of the world.

Dr. Glaser is a graduate of Northeastern Bible College as well as Talbot School of Theology (part of Biola University). Dr. Glaser's Ph.D. is in Intercultural Studies and his dissertation topic was the History of Missions to the Jews in the 20th Century.

This meeting is open to the public, and Bible Baptist Church would like to invite the Christian as well as the Jewish community to attend.

The Church is located 31 Passaic Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights, NJ 07604

For more information please call 201-288-4139 or visit www.Biblebaptist.net

A love offering will be received. ###

From the Porch at Holy Trinity

Thanks to everyone who contributed items for the Easter baskets that were distributed by Lutheran Social Ministries to children in New Jersey. More than 50 children had a happier Easter thanks to your generosity.

For their next project, they will be participating in the Hope Chest Program, coordinated by Community Access Unlimited in Elizabeth, NJ.

They provide supportive services to youth who are transitioning from supervised to more independent living. This includes those who are developmentally disabled or those who are aging out of foster care.

Each person in the program is given a basket with essentials to help set up their new home. Items needed are those for kitchen, bath or bedroom and must be new or in "like new" condition.

During the months of April, May and June, they are requesting donations such as dinnerware, silverware, glasses, pots and pans, simple cooking utensils/gadgets, bath or kitchen towels, shower curtains, bath mats, or twin size bedding.

Help them to provide these at-risk youth with items that will help them on their road to independence and let them know there are many who care.

Your donated items may be left on the porch at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 92 Burton Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights.

Bible Study Beginning April 14; The Gospel of John

It's clear from the first few paragraphs that the gospel of John broke sharply from the style of the gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke.

The other gospel writers focused on events, following Jesus through the bustling marketplaces and villages.

Unlike them, John assumes readers know the basic facts about Jesus. Instead of focusing on facts, John mulls over the profound meaning of what Jesus had said and done.

The book reads as if it were written under a great shady tree by an author who had lots of time for reflection.

There are no Christmas scenes here: no stables, shepherds or wise men. John tells nothing of Jesus' birth and youth. Instead, he introduces Jesus as the adult Son of God.

And in the gospel of John, Jesus speaks and preaches more than in any of the other gospels. You will likely recognize more familiar verses and phrases found in this remarkable book such as Jesus' "I am" sayings.

They invite you to participate in this 6-week study of The Gospel of John: "The Beloved Disciple."

They meet on Thursday evening at 7 p.m. beginning on April 14, 2016, in the multi-purpose room at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 92 Burton Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights.

Pope Francis has declared this year to be a Year of Mercy, a moment in time when we meditate on the virtue of mercy for ourselves and move toward our circle of family and friends and into the world of the marginalized and the alienated.

Real mercy is shown in our daily life. Living Mercy means forgiveness, God-Like Mercy means unconditional love. Provided by Desmond Nanetti. ###

Youth Mentors Wanted

Each year in Bergen County, approximately 600 children are removed from their homes due to abuse, neglect or other factors that place them at risk of harm.

These children are placed in foster homes, residential facilities, hospitals, shelters or in the care of other family members.

The Bergen Volunteer Center's Mentoring Youth program is currently recruiting volunteer mentors to work one-on-one with youth between the ages of 5-18 who are facing these difficult challenges.

Mentors serve as positive role models; provide guidance, friendship and support; and advocate on behalf of youth when called upon to do so.

Mentors show children a different perspective, expose them to unexplored opportunities and help them to build trust.

The next 3-week Mentoring Youth training will begin on Wednesday, April 6, 2016. Each session is held from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Bergen Volunteer Center.

For more information call Eva Tobias at 201-489-9454 x-209, or visit www.bergenvolunteers.org ###

Women Needed for Mentoring Moms Program

Mentoring Moms, a program of the Volunteer Center of Bergen County, trains volunteer mentors to work with mothers who are overwhelmed by the responsibilities of children and life and who are also faced with immense personal challenges.

Adult women are needed as mentors for mothers living in Bergen County. There is an especially great need for women who speak other languages to become mentors.

Volunteers are provided with a free multi-session, 10-hour training program and ongoing support from program staff.

During this time, the volunteers take workshops on developing listening skills, communication and problem solving.

Through weekly contact, mentors offer emotional and practical support to the mothers.

Registration is now open for Mentoring Moms Spring training, which begins April 11, 2016 from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Volunteer Center of Bergen County, 64 Passaic Street, Hackensack. Call 201-489-9454, ext. 211 for more information. ###

Ian Gallagher Entertains the Leisure Club

At their March 9, 2016 meeting, the members of the Leisure Club were entertained by Irish singer, Ian Gallagher. He is an excellent entertainer whose personality and style have the power to make people listen and want more.

Accompanied by nothing more than his rich guitar picking and strumming, Ian allows his unique voice and clever lyrics to tell a story, or frame an image in your mind's eye.

Many of the songs he sang were well-known Irish songs, songs that members could easily sing-along to. At times when he sang, it was so quiet that you could hear a pin drop.

Ian has been a favorite program for the Leisure Club members for many years. He is a guitarist, singer, and an all-around entertainer who always knows how to use that personal touch to put a smile on your face. Story by Peter Gallo Jr. ###

On February 27, 2016, 5-year-old Dariel Ramirez became Lodi Fire Department's newest "Honorary Junior Firefighter" when Assistant Fire Chief Ron Cannici presented him with a fire helmet bearing his name, a patch and a baseball cap. Additionally, the Department contributed $250 towards Dariel's medical expenses.

Dariel had two brain tumors, the first which was diagnosed last summer.

According to Chief Mike Varrecchia, members were alerted to his plight during the "Santa" run, and the Department unanimously voted to make Dariel an honorary member.

Dariel died a few days later. Lodi Firefighters served as his pallbearers, with Lodi Fire Chief Mike Varrecchia carrying the junior fire helmet bearing the boy's name. Photos by Damien Danis. ###

At about 00:20 hours on February 20, 2016, the Wood-Ridge Fire Department responded to a house fire on Valley Boulevard.

The three Chiefs arrived and found smoke coming from the eaves. Using a thermal imaging camera, firefighters found the fire in the ceiling of the second floor apartment. The ceiling was opened up and the fire was quickly extinguished with a 1 3/4 hand line.

A 5 inch line from the hydrant was connected to Engine 902. The Ladder was raised to vent the roof. No injuries were reported. It was reported that the cause of the fire was determined to be electrical in nature.

Carlstadt, Hasbrouck Heights, Little Ferry, engines; Lyndhurst RIC, Moonachie Truck, and Moonachie EMS Rescue assisted. Photos by Dennis Kronyak Sr. ###

On March 11, 2016, at about 6 p.m., the Hasbrouck Heights Fire Department responded to a Terrace Avenue 3rd floor apartment fire. Two hydrants were connected to two pumpers with 5 inch lines. Fire Watch Detail

On Tuesday, March 15, 2016, the Wood-Ridge Fire Department and EMS Squad were dispatched to the Fiesta for a "Fire Watch" detail for the Persian "Festival of Fire."

Carlstadt FD Recognition Sunday

On Sunday, February 21, 2016, The First Presbyterian Church, led by Pastor Donald M. Pitches, held their 22nd Annual Fire Department Recognition Sunday Service for the Carlstadt Fire Department and

Auxiliary. Bagpiper Sharon Dunn led the Carlstadt Fire Department into the Church. The service was open to area mutual aid departments. Pastor Pitches' theme was

"Joys and Concerns of God's Family." There was recognition and presentation of symbols of service with Pastor Pitches presenting Carlstadt Fire Chief Tony D'Amico with a symbolic key. (In the 1800s, before whistles and pagers and pletrons, fire chiefs were given the Church key to ring the bells for a fire alarm.) The program provided a brief history of the Department, and recognized the 2016 Fire Officers and Former Chiefs of the Department. Following the service, brunch in the Community Hall was provided by the Department. Photos by Dennis Kronyak Sr. ###
