VOL. 16, No. 2

The magnificent, heavenly sounds of earthly angels enveloped us. The sweetness and clarity of melodic singing enriched us. The richness of the pipe organ. The simplicity of a lone chime filled our soul. While spirits danced lightly, we were blessed within at the Immaculate Conception Convent Chapel. On Sunday, January 6, 2019, the Felician Sisters of the Immaculate Conception Province of Lodi, presented The Glory of Christmas Concert -- Feast of the Epiphany. See story and photos on pages 18-19.

Groundhog Day February 2

According to folklore, if it is cloudy when a groundhog emerges from its burrow on this day, then spring will come early; if it is sunny, the groundhog will supposedly see its shadow and retreat back into its burrow, and the winter weather will continue for six more weeks.

Punxsutawney held its first Groundhog Day in the United States in the 1800s. The first official trek to Gobbler's Knob near Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, was made on February 2, 1887.

Movies, advertisements, cartoons and other media have portrayed the legendary role of the groundhog in popular culture.

The term "Groundhog Day" is a phrase that is sometimes used to express if the same events or actions occur repetitively for a period of time.

Groundhog Day, already a widely recognized and popular tradition, received widespread attention as a result of the 1993 film "Groundhog Day." ###

Selecting The Right Valentine Gift

Finding the right Valentine's Day gift is probably the most difficult shopping experience in any man's life.

A Valentine's Day gift is instrumental in revitalizing the bond between a duo.

The gift evokes the memories of the moments of love and affection which both have experienced. And it reminds the couple of the unconditional love which exists between them.

This year, show your Sweetheart how much she means to you by giving her a gift from the heart.

Remember that the Valenromance and appreciation.

The nature of the gift can reflect how much you care. The meaning of your gift also varies according to the seriousness and the type of relationship you're in.

If you've gone out with her a few times, the level of commitment is low, and you're simply having a lot of fun. What do you buy her?

Buying her a Valentine card, flowers or candy is acceptable for this early stage in a relationship.

On the other hand, if the tine's theme is all about love, relationship is strong and its future seems bright, opt for a more original present.

> Think about what she appreciates the most and what she has mentioned over the past few weeks, or get her something that relates to her hobbies and interests. The key is to show that you put some thought into the gift. ###

Necco Sweethearts a.k.a. conversation hearts were invented in 1866.

Each box has approximately 45 sayings — including "True Love," "Hug Me," and "You Rock," but you can personalize your own, too, and about 10 new sayings are added each year.

More than 8 billion conversation hearts are manufactured each year. And Necco has to start making them just days after February 14 to have enough in time for the next Valentine's Day.

That's almost 100,000 pounds per day. But don't worry if you still have last vear's box — they have a shelf life of five years. ###

Women purchase approximately 85 percent of all valen*tines.* ###

Approximately 145 million valentines are sent in the U.S. each year according to estimates by the U.S. Greeting Card Association. That's second only to Christmas with 1.6 billion units, and is followed by Mother's Day with 133 million units. ###

Teachers will receive the most Valentine's Day cards, followed by children, mothers, wives, sweethearts and pets. ###

In the Middle Ages, young men and women drew names from a bowl to see who would be their valentine. They would wear this name pinned onto their sleeves for one week for everyone to see. This was the origin of the expression "to wear your heart on your sleeve." ###

The red rose was the favorite flower of Venus, the Roman goddess of love.

• Red roses are considered the flower of love because the color red stands for strong romantic feelings.

• 189 million stems of roses are sold in the U.S. on Valentine's Day.

• California produces 60 percent of American roses, but the greater number sold on Valentine's Day in the U.S. are imported, mostly from South America.

• Approximately 110 million roses, mostly red, will be sold and delivered within the three-day Valentine's Day time period.

• Every Valentine's Day, the Italian city of Verona, where Shakespeare's lovers Romeo and Juliet lived, receives about 1,000 letters addressed to Juliet.

All About Valentine's Day

The story of Valentine's Day begins in the third century with an oppressive Roman Emperor and a humble Christian martyr. The Emperor was Claudius II. The Christian was Valentinus Valentinus.

Claudius had ordered all Romans to worship twelve Gods, and he made it a crime punishable by death to associate with Christians. But, Valentinus was dedicated to the ideals of Christ, and not even the threat of death could keep him from practicing his beliefs. He was arrested and imprisoned.

During the last weeks of Valentinus' life a remarkable thing happened. Seeing that he was a man of learning, the jailer asked whether his daughter, Julia, might be brought to Valentinus for lessons. She had been blind since birth. Julia was a pretty young girl with a quick mind. Valentinus read stories of Rome's history to her.

He described the world of nature to her. He taught her arithmetic and told her about God. She saw the world through his eyes, trusted in his wisdom, and found comfort in his quiet strength.

"Valentinus, does God really hear our prayers?" Julia said one day.

"Yes, my child, He hears each one," he replied.

"Do you know what I pray for every morning and every night? I pray that I might see. I want so much to see everything you've told me about!"

"God does what is best for us if we will only believe in Him," Valentinus said.

"Oh, Valentinus, I do believe," Julia said intensely.

"I do." She knelt and grasped his hand.

They sat quietly together, each praying, Suddenly there was a brilliant light in the cell. Radiant, Julia screamed, "Valentinus, I can see!" I can see!"

"Praise be to God!" Valentinus exclaimed, and he knelt in prayer.

On the eve of his death Valentinus wrote a last note to Julia, urging her to stay close to God, and he signed it "From Your Valentine." His sentence was carried out the next day, February 14, 270 A.D., near a gate that was later named Porta Valentini in his memory. He was buried at what is now the Church of Prexedes in Rome.

It is said that Julia herself planted a pink-blossomed almond tree near his grave. Today, the almond tree remains a symbol of abiding love. On each February 14, St. Valentine's Day, messages of affection and devotion are exchanged around the world. Story by Peter Gallo Jr. ###

Valentine's Day Romantic Libation

If there was ever a holiday made for drinking wine, it's Valentine's Day! Champagne is the classic choice, but the richness and depth of flavor in red wines capture the soul and spirit of true romance. What kind of couple are you and your honey? Here are some recommendations based on your romance style!

For the Romantics: Amarone

Amarone is an Italian wine made in the Veneto region of Italy from Corvina and Rondinella grapes. What makes a beautiful Amarone so rich, luscious, and powerful is that after harvest, the grapes are dried all winter, which concentrates their sugars and flavors. Amarone is vinified dry, this is not a dessert wine, but there's no mistaking the depth of flavor, velvety texture, and juicy dark fruit flavors that are purely luxurious. Look for Amarone that has a little age on it, and open it about an hour before pouring. The best ones can be expensive, but your valentine is worth a splurge!

For the Classic Couple: Bordeaux

What red wine is more classic than Bordeaux? These wines are various blends of the five "Bordeaux varietals": Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Merlot, Petite Verdot and Malbec. Bordeaux is so classic that it's become a brand name driven by notoriously high prices from the top chateaux, but there are still affordable discoveries to be made. Look out for the Merlot-based wines from Fronsac, Cotes de Blaye, and Cotes de Castillon. For the Desirous Duo:

Look to Spain

Turn it up with a sexy, spicy red! There's just something about all Flamenco guitars and bullfighting that makes Spain a very sultry destination, and its wines are no exception to the rule. Look for wines made from grapes like Tempranillo, Garnacha, and Mencia. Ole!

For the Adventurous Couple: Lambrusco

Lambrusco is the best of both worlds, all the fun and festivity of a sparkling wine with the lively dark fruits of a nice red. Plus, it's inexpensive, so stock up! Served chilled, it's fabulous with a great cheese board and really amazing with all things chocolate!

Whichever one you pick simply remember to enjoy the time you spend together and enjoy the company and of course the wine.

Happy Valentine's Day from the Wine Guys. President Angel Martinez and Vice President Philip Miuccio, American Wine Society. ###

"Love-ly" Valentines

Just like people, flowers come in hundreds of shapes and sizes.

When it comes to Valentine's Day gifts, carefully selecting the flower varieties and colors you send will result in a thoughtful, customized gift your Sweetheart will treasure.

According to Heights Flower Shoppe, the first step is to consider your Sweetheart's preferences. What colors does he or she like?

A dozen red roses remains the classic Valentine's Day favorite. However, many women report that they adore roses in other colors just as much. There are hundreds of colors to choose from. The choices are endless and it's easier than ever to select a rose that is as unique as your Sweetheart.

Your florist can create arrangements that revolve around your Sweetheart's favorite hobby, sport or pastime.

Add a burst of spring to your Valentine's winter with floral varieties such as lilies, alstroemeria, iris, tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, tuberose or freesias.

A spring arrangement in a casual basket or clear glass vase makes a perfect accent for a romantic dinner.

With all of the sensational flowers available to choose from, even just one or two elegant blossoms can make a big impression. Also, green and blooming plants make romantic Valentine's Day gifts.

Ask yourself what message you want to convey. Consult with your florist, who can explain the assortment of possibilities available.

Bill O'Shea's Florist reminds you that to get the best selection and ensure prompt delivery, call the week before Valentine's Day.

When you call, have the necessary information handy: the recipient's name, address, phone number, what you want to send and how you want to be billed.

Are you having trouble putting your feelings into words? Secret Garden NJ, in Wallington, suggests these creative messages for your floral enclosure cards:

• (For flowers delivered on February 13th): Couldn't wait another day to say I Love You!

• (For flowers delivered before February 13th): I love you so much I couldn't wait for Valentine's Day!

• (For flowers delivered February 14th): Today's a very special day for sending all my love your way!

• With you, it's Valentine's Day 365 days a year.

Artful Thinking By Artie Maglionico • Lodi Historian

The month of February has always been a favorite of mine since it moved me that much closer to springtime. True, the weather doesn't always cooperate but the calendar, regardless of winter's onslaught, remains true to the promise of spring.

When I was younger, of course, February took on a different meaning, it arrived without fail on the 14th day of the month, Valentine's Day!

So folks with that thought in mind I thought I would tell you a story about my first romantic encounter, rather my first almost "romantic encounter" with the girl you have come to know as the "girl with red hair."

I've wanted to include this innocent little episode in my "growing up on Westervelt" story but didn't really know how or when to fit it in.

Since you, my much appreciated reader, have been asking to hear more on the subject of, you know, the girl with red hair, I thought this to be the right time since it goes along with the Valentine's Day theme.

This story, however, didn't take place on the 14th of February, rather on a soft and cozy Sunday afternoon in mid May in the year 1961.

When I was a kid it was a common practice among members of my mother's side of the family to meet each Sunday afternoon at the Hillside Place home of their parents, my grandparents, John and Maria Pesenti.

When the weather permitted we'd all gather in the back yard under a makeshift canopy my grandfather created, relax around a long cement table and celebrate just being there.

Sundays back then, as I'm sure some of you remember, were as serene as Christmas morning. It was a much anticipated respite from the toils and drudges of daily living. People wore their "Sunday best" just because it was, after all, Sunday the day of rest.

one. The warm, gentle, breeze brought with it the scent of spring flowers and the rays of the sun caressed the landscape giving new life and new hope to all in its light.

Love was surely in the air and it was being delivered by the girl of my dreams, the girl that made every day seem like Sunday. There she was walking up Hillside Place looking as though she had stepped off of a heavenly cloud that had my name on it; the girl with red hair.

It had only been a week since my cousin, Anthony, introduced me to her during a softball game on the Columbus School ground but when you're in love you lose track of time until everything else is insignificant. Anyway I met her in front of my grandma's house, I looked into her eyes and lost my ability to speak. She asked me if I wanted to go for a walk and I fell into one of those Ralph Kramden Chef of the future type "Humminah, Humminah, Humminah" panic stricken verbal breakdowns. You know the ones I mean? She took that as a yes, so we strolled off into the afternoon sun.

I had to keep looking down at my feet to make sure they were touching the ground that's how light headed I felt. This stuff only happened to me in a day dream. Ah yes, those wonderful day dreams. I was always rescuing damsels in distress, living happily ever after in my made up Camelot where I was forever enjoying my hero status.

But this was not a dream and I felt anything but heroic, rather helpless. I was wishing that my cousin Anthony would show up so as to break the tension with his comic relief but that was asking too much. This was Sunday and he was nowhere to be found. I was on at one another in complete silence. I looked around nervously hoping that someone, anyone would show up and break the spell that I was under. Had this been a Saturday the school ground would be alive with kids of all ages and I could easily have escaped into pits of obscurity from whence I came.

But again, this was Sunday and I and the girl with red hair were the only two people on earth. I found myself wishing that the school bell would ring that's how petrified I was. The sound I hated most was coming back to haunt me on the Sabbath no less.

Then it happened. I was about to enter uncharted territory. A scene that I played out over and over again in my dreams was now knocking on the door of reality. I was standing at the gateway of a new and inevitable experience, face to face with the girl with red hair, the prettiest girl in the world. I swallowed so hard that I felt my Adams apple impact the depths of my stomach. The "first kiss."

So I was twelve years old and never been kissed. Yes I thought about it at least 50 times a day but it didn't prepare me for the actual, you know, endeavor. I had to settle down and approach it mathematically. I hated math but in this case I used it to my advantage. I counted to ten then chickened out. Suddenly I was glad that the streets were void of people. I started counting again.

The girl with red hair didn't know whether to laugh, cry or go home. I'd get to number ten and hit an imaginary wall. I hit the wall so many times that I became disoriented and missed the target by at least 5 inches to the right. I felt like a boxer trying to get to his feet after being sent to the canvas numerous times. I was down for the count, a T.K.O. The fight was over!

The girl with red hair showed mercy after throwing in the proverbial towel. She smiled that beautiful smile, held my hand, and placed a gentle kiss, more like a peck, smack on my lips. I knew that the kids from Westervelt Place would never believe it so I managed to keep it to myself until now. Hey, promise you won't tell anyone. Happy Valentine's Day! ###

Collecting Socks for Vets and Soldiers

Holy Trinity Lutheran Church is joining efforts once again with Soldiers' Angels for its winter project, Warm Feet for Warriors, a sock collection for Soldiers and Veterans.

One of the most requested items by service members is socks! Just think how nice a brand new pair of socks feels, and how much more so when far from home.

We will be collecting new adult socks, male or female, any color in original packaging. These socks will be included in care packages that are sent to Chaplains overseas for distribution to those deployed and also here at home to Veterans in VA hospitals.

Last year Soldiers' Angels surpassed their goal of 8,000 pairs! Let's help them over the top again this year. Leave your donations in the box on the porch during January and February. Thank you for sharing in our ministry to those who serve for us in the armed forces all year long. Thank you for helping them know they are not forgotten.

We also remind you that, as we have done each winter, we are collecting food for the local food banks. If you are walking or driving by, feel free to add non-perishable items to the box on the porch at 92 Burton Avenue, we will see that it gets to those in need. For information, call the office of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church at 201-288-6889. ###

Answers and critiques for the Dental Implant Quiz:

(1) False: dental implants are small titanium posts that replace the roots of missing teeth which are inserted into the jawbone. After implant placement, a lifelike porcelain crown is usually attached to the implant.

(2) False: Most people find the dental implant surgery very easy to tolerate and is often managed by over-the-counter medication.

(3) True: The titanium of which they are made is completely biocompatible, and allergies are extremely rare. Thus, dental implants regularly achieve a very high success rate.

(4) True: Dental implants require the same care as natural teeth including daily flossing, brushing, as well as regular dental checkups and professional cleanings. With proper care, dental implants can last a lifetime.

(5) False: Although, some tooth replacement options like the removable "in and out" dentures may cost less, dental implants are expected to last longer and thus provide a more favorable long term option in regards to cost. In addition, they have a very natural feel and function in comparison to natural teeth. ###

From East Rutherford to Afghanistan: Thank You Goes a Long Way

Determined to let U.S. troops stationed in Afghanistan know that they are not forgotten, McKenzie School Fourth Graders worked hard preparing care boxes filled with donated items and thank you letters. This grade-wide project was also meant to provide each Marine with something special from "back home." With lots of good wishes, we shared our feelings of love and appreciation for these brave men and women so far away from their loved ones during the holiday season. Provided by Cory Scelsa. ###

On April 27, 2018, these Officers responded to an apartment on Washington Avenue on a report of a 60 year old male who had overdosed. Upon arrival it was determined that the male had injected heroin and was on the ground and unresponsive. These Officers quickly administered 2 doses of Narcan (Naxolone) and were able to revive the male. Because of their quick actions these officers are being recognized with a lifesaving award.

Both Officers quickly reacted and grabbed the son and were able to subdue and handcuff him.

Lodi Police Department PBA Local #26 Gives Back Donation

After reading a story in class entitled "My Rows and Piles of Coins," a local elementary school decided to take the life lesson they learned in that story and give back to their community.

In the story, the main character decided to save his coins to buy a bicycle for his family to use to go back and forth to work, so the Third Graders decided to save up their coins and donate the money to Lodi PBA Local #26. They presented PBA Local #26 with a money tree and a card signed by everyone in the class.

As a thank you for their kindness, generosity and respect for their local law enforcement officers, President Javier Hernandez, members of the PBA Executive Board, and members of the Lodi Police Department hosted a surprise pizza party for the entire 3rd Grade class, which is about 51 students.

PBA President Hernandez would like to express his gratitude to the teachers and students for showing their respect to local law enforcement. President Hernandez went on to say thank you to Chief Donald Scorzetti, Deputy Chief Louis Franco, Jr., and the Lodi Mayor and Council for their continued support of PBA Local #26.

Nurse Saves Man Who Stopped Breathing

The Borough of Teterboro presented Shakeyda Myers with a Certificate for Outstanding Achievement in Humanitarian Effort and Aid. She is a nursing student at Jersey College in Teterboro.

During the presentation, Mayor John P. Watt explained that on October 18, 2018, Shakeyda Myers revived a man who suffered a medical emergency and stopped breathing.

Myers, who was waiting in a Somerset County Walmart checkout line with her daughter, saw a man standing next to her fall to the ground.

She rushed over to the man and rolled him on his left side. He wasn't breathing, and Myers couldn't find a pulse.

Myers dialed 911 and started doing chest compressions. Myers and the officers took turns continuing compressions and used a defibrillator to try and get the man's heart started. EMTs arrived after police and took the man to a hospital. Myers says the experience validates her career choice.

She says she has worked in prisons and assisted other nurses in reviving people, but never had anything like this happen to her. Myers also says that after she gets a Bachelor's Degree in Nursing, she wants to work as an emergency room nurse. ###

Fire Marshal Talks to Lodi AARP Members

Lodi Fire Marshal Paul Wanco educated the members of the Lodi AARP Chapter 2015 at their January 15, 2019 meeting. He stated that as of January 1, 2019 all smoke detectors in Lodi homes must be the ones that are 10-year battery powered and all fire extinguishers must weigh between 5 through 10 pounds. Although Fire Marshal Wanco advised all of many safety precautions, he stressed two; the first was to be careful of leaving cooking food on their stoves; and the second was to never sleep in a room in which the door is left open. Many people forget or are distracted when something is left cooking on their stove. The most obvious risk of accidentally leaving the gas stove on is that of overheating oil or food you left cooking on the stove catching fire. It is recommended that a timer be used and be with you when you leave the kitchen. The alarm on the timer will remind you to check on what is on the stove.

In case of a fire having a closed bedroom door when sleeping keeps the air in the room cleaner and less smoky, allowing you to breathe easier longer. It also acts like a shield and will keep the fire out of your room for a few extra minutes, giving you time to come up with a plan to get out. It is Identity theft is probably the fastest growing crime in America. Because of this, representatives from the Kearny Bank, presented a program for the members of the Leisure Club of Hasbrouck Heights. Michael Healy, Vice President and Security Officer, discussed fraud and identity theft.

Joining him at the meeting held on January 9, 2019, were other members of the Kearny Bank Main Office as well as the Wood-Ridge Branch Manager, Dawn Marcano, who made all the arrangements for the event.

Among the main recommendations made by Michael, were, never open attachments from e-mails sent to you from people you do not know, never send money or gift cards in payment for anything, review your monthly account statements and be alert and wary of phone calls from individuals pretending to represent charities, associations, government agencies etc., requesting money. George Washington, it is still officially called "Washington's Birthday" by the federal government. Traditionally celebrated on February 22 - Washington's actual day of birth - the holiday became popularly known as Presidents' Day after it was moved as part of 1971's Uniform Monday Holiday Act, an attempt to create more threeday weekends for the nation's workers.

While several states still have individual holidays honoring the birthdays of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and other figures, Presidents' Day is now popularly viewed as a day to celebrate all U.S. presidents past and present. ###

Football Party Tips

No matter which teams are playing, you should get the gang together, stock your fridge with all the food and drink that matter, and set up the television just right in order to appreciate America's most watched sports event.

• Without proper decorations, your Bowl bash will be incomplete.

Put up banners of the competing teams on your wall or hang streamers bearing the team colors. Get Super Bowl paper plates, tablecloths and other decorative things.

• Next to the excitement of the game itself, your party will be most remembered for the food provided. Your decorations may be great, but if the snacks and main dishes aren't hits, no one will be pleased.

The main meal should be tasty, simple and filling.

• Make it easy and cater your party. Check out the menus at Hasbrouck Heights Pizzeria, Master Pizza (Carlstadt) and Piazza Pizza (Wallington). Order in advance since Super Bowl Sunday is one of the busiest nights for deliverybased restaurants.

• Set up the food in an assembly line so that everyone can customize their own dinner.

Stick to a buffet set-up in order to ease serving and eating. That way, everyone can enjoy the food while watching the game, and most importantly, you can too.

• If you want to impress, have a Super Bowl cake.

• To make clean up easier, use plastic cups, plates and utensils. Of course, napkins should be readily available so that, in the event of a spill, help is close by.

• Keep the beer in a cooler close by so you don't have to run to the fridge. Aside from the suds, have plenty of soft drinks and water on hand for the designated drivers.

• Avoid offering hard liquor on Super Bowl Sunday. Football is a sport that begs for beer, nothing else. Meadowland Wine and Liquor (Wood-Ridge), Wine Shop (Carlstadt) and Heights Beer and Wine Emporium (Hasbrouck Heights) sell the coldest beer in town.

• Keep radios and even small televisions set up around the house so that wanderers and those serving food don't miss a single down. You can even put one in the john if your guests are real football fanatics.

• It's always fun to mix in a little video game action on Super Bowl Sunday. If the halftime show is dull, set up your Playstation 2 or Xbox, and play football. Select the teams that are actually playing in the the Super Bowl and square off for some extra fun.

• Some people like to add to the entertainment by organizing betting pools. Ideally, these games are done in a way that even the guests who don't know a thing about football can join in.

For instance, you can bet on who will score the next touchdown, what the score at the end of each quarter will be or even who'll win the coin toss.

Make charts or grids so that the wagers are clear and keep the pot low so that no one blows their wallet.

• Invest in a few foam "bad-call bricks" to throw at the TV so your guests can express their feelings about the refs without doing damage to your house.

• Keep a football around and throw some NFL magazines on the coffee table as good finishing touches.

• If it's a real manly, pokernight type night, pass cigars around. Make sure there are enough chairs for everyone to sit on. Provide a side room for those who came for the food and atmosphere, and not the actual game.

• Spray some air freshener around as soon as everyone leaves, so the smell of cigars does not linger.

• Think ahead and place garbage cans around your place so that wherever your guests are, they can find a place for their trash. At the end of the night, all you have to do is collect the garbage bags, instead of checking under the couch for crumpled napkins.

• Organizing and hosting a Super Bowl party dosen't have to be time-consuming or stressful. Do it right, and you'll be able to watch the whole game, enjoy some great food and relax with your friends. ###

About Black History Month

Black History Month, or National African American History Month, is an annual celebration of achievements by black Americans and a time for recognizing the central role of African Americans in U.S. history.

The story of Black History Month begins in 1915, half a century after the Thirteenth Amendment abolished slavery in the United States. That September, the Harvard-trained historian, Carter G. Woodson and the prominent minister Jesse E. Moorland, founded an organization dedicated to researching and promoting achievements by black Americans and other peoples of African descent.

The group sponsored a national Negro History week in 1926, choosing the second week of February to coincide with the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass. The event inspired schools and communities nationwide to organize local celebrations, establish history clubs and host performances and lectures.

In the decades that followed, mayors of cities across the country began issuing yearly proclamations recognizing Negro History Week.

By the late 1960s, thanks in part to the Civil Rights Movement and a growing awareness of black identity, Negro History Week had evolved into Black History Month on many college campuses.

President Gerald R. Ford officially recognized Black History Month in 1976, calling upon the public to "seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout our history." ###

• Avoid driving while with your local AAA's televou're fatigued. Getting the proper amount of rest before taking on winter weather tasks reduces driving risks.

• Never warm up a vehicle in an enclosed area, such as a garage.

• Make certain your tires are properly inflated.

• Never mix radial tires with other tire types.

• Keep your gas tank at least half full to avoid gas line freeze-up.

• If possible, avoid using your parking brake in cold, rainy and snowy weather.

• Do not use cruise control when driving on any slippery surface (wet, ice, sand).

• Always look and steer where you want to go.

• Use your seat belt every time you get into your vehicle.

Tips for long-distance winter trips:

• Watch weather reports prior to a long-distance drive or before driving in isolated areas. Delay trips when especially bad weather is expected. If you must leave, let others know your route, destination and estimated time of arrival.

• Always make sure your vehicle is in peak operating condition by having it inspected by an AAA approved auto repair facility.

• Keep at least half a tank of gasoline in your vehicle at all times.

Honda

• Pack a cellular telephone

phone number, plus blankets, gloves, hats, food, water and any needed medication in your vehicle.

Winter Driving Tips

• If you become snowbound, stay with your vehicle. It provides temporary shelter and makes it easier for rescuers to locate you. Don't try to walk in a severe storm. It's easy to lose sight of your vehicle in blowing snow and become lost.

• Don't over exert yourself if you try to push or dig your vehicle out of the snow.

• Tie a brightly colored cloth to the antenna or place a cloth at the top of a rolled up window to signal distress. At night, keep the dome light on if possible. It only uses a small amount of electricity and will make it easier for rescuers to find you.

• Make sure the exhaust pipe isn't clogged with snow, ice or mud. A blocked exhaust could cause deadly carbon monoxide gas to leak into the passenger compartment with the engine running.

• Use whatever is available to insulate your body from the cold. This could include floor mats, newspapers or paper maps.

• If possible run the engine and heater just long enough to remove the chill and to conserve gasoline.

Tips for driving in the snow:

973-777-1600

• Accelerate and deceler-

ate slowly. Applying the gas slowly to accelerate is the best method for regaining traction and avoiding skids. Don't try to get moving in a hurry. And take time to slow down for a stoplight. Remember: It takes longer to slow down on icy roads.

• Drive slowly. Everything takes longer on snow-covered roads. Accelerating, stopping, turning – nothing happens as quickly as on dry pavement. Give yourself time to maneuver by driving slowly.

• The normal dry pavement following distance of three to four seconds should be increased to eight to ten seconds. This increased margin of safety will provide the longer distance needed if you have to stop.

• Know your brakes. Whether you have antilock brakes or not, the best way to stop is threshold breaking. Keep the heel of your foot on the floor and use the ball of your foot to apply firm, steady pressure on the brake pedal.

• Don't stop if you can avoid it. There's a big difference in the amount of inertia it takes to start moving from a full stop versus how much it takes to get moving while still rolling. If you can slow down enough to keep rolling until a traffic light changes, do it.

• Don't power up hills. Applying extra gas on snowcovered roads just starts your wheels spinning. Try to get a little inertia going before you reach the hill and let that inertia carry you to the top. As you reach the crest of the hill, reduce your speed and proceed down hill as slowly as possible.

• Don't stop going up a hill. There's nothing worse than trying to get moving up a hill on an icy road. Get some inertia going on a flat roadway before you take on the hill.

• Stay home. If you really don't have to go out, don't. Even if you can drive well in the snow, not everyone else can. Don't tempt fate: If you don't have somewhere you have to be, watch the snow from indoors. AAA ###

Full Snow Moon

The February full moon will appear on Tuesday, February 19, 2019, at 10:53 a.m. It is called the "Full Snow Moon."

The heaviest snow usually falls during February, according to the Farmer's Almanac. Some tribes also referred to this Moon as the "Full Hunger Moon," since harsh weather conditions made hunting difficult.

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to each recurring full moon. European settlers followed the custom. ###

Real Estate: Easing In Gently

Real estate can be a dream job for a lot of people. The general population mostly sees the agent's job as pretty straightforward: you show a house, negotiate an offer and make a bundle of money on each sale. From there you go on to make your millions, retire decades before everybody else and live handsomely thereafter on the income stream generated by your innumerable investment properties. Lol. In truth - in the real world - very few people see the behind-the-scenes work that the realtor has to do.

The real truth is that it might be wise to choose working on a part-time basis as a way of getting started in real estate. This is how most experts recommend people enter the field, and for good reason... working as a part time real estate agent allows you to figure out if you enjoy it and if it's the right career for you – all the while taking as little financial risk as possible.

That's because it will likely take you a few weeks to make your first sale - after which, you'll be working another 60-90 days towards closing it - to get paid. Real estate is actually a hard field to break into, even with the proper schooling and training. The benefit of entering into this career part-time is that you'll have the ability to work another job until you get on your feet. Keeping the steady income from that job can definitely make it less stressful to begin your real estate career. And, beginning as a part-time agent could mean the difference between success and failure if commissions are slow to start.

But don't be mistaken. There's nothing second-rate about working part-time in real estate and it certainly does not mean that you're not as qualified as any full-time working agent. The key is in never letting your part-time status diminish your service to the customers and clients you work for. And for that, you may need to make sure that your second job offers you some flexibility.

Indeed, to become a consummate professional and make a great living working part-time in real estate you must be sure that you can adequately service your prospects and clients. Your schedule will definitely not always correspond with that of your customers, whether they are buyers or sellers. Buyers are particularly demanding in their desire to meet with you and to view homes. Special skills may be required to try and modify their requirements to fit your schedule while keeping them satisfied and likely to do business with you again. Many other entities, like banks, building inspectors, title companies, etc. have set business hours. But technology and email have, to a large extent, removed many of the obstacles related to traditional business hours.

I've gathered few recommendations from a few people in our office – now seasoned, certified 'Top Producers' - who started their careers as parttime agents....

"For those thinking of getting into real estate, part-time is definitely the way to go. Hopefully they will have flexibility in their regular job. I had that when I started, thankfully. And I was able to make enough money within 2 years' time to quit my corporate job and devote my attention, full-time, to real estate." Rob F.

"Whether you're starting part-time or full-time, finding the right brokerage can mean the difference between thriving and starving. You'll need to make sure that the brokers and managers – like the people here – will work closely with part-timers, offering great training, mentoring, team spirit and support." Tom C.

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

"Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal. You who give me the divine gift, forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me. I wish to be with in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy toward me and mine. "

Repeat this prayer three consecutive days. After three days, the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Only your initials would appear at the bottom. L.A.R.

Veterans Today By Thomas Marshall

Anyone that went to school can probably name a fort from America's past. Plenty were certainly built over the years since European settlers came here. Fort William Henry, Ticonderoga, Fort Sumter, Fort Dix, Fort McHenry are just a few of the many constructed. There are many that most people have not heard of so, I will highlight one for your amusement.

In 1778, during the Revolutionary War, the British had been causing problems with settlers in the Ohio Valley. They had been getting their Indian allies to attack people in the area. After many settlers had been killed Congress wanted something done to stop the murders of families in the region.

General Washington came up with a plan to attack Fort Detroit, a fort, currently under British control. By capturing this Fort Washington thought that this would go a long way in stopping Indian and British raids.

In the fall of 1778, General Lachlan McIntosh, marched out of Fort Pitt with 1,200 men with the purpose of ultimately destroying Fort Detroit. He expected more men to come to his aid from Ohio, Virginia and Pennsylvania. When the necessary reinforcements did not show his plan had to be altered. He believed that taking Detroit was not a possible goal with the force at hand so he received permission from Congress to attack the Indian towns in the present day State of Ohio. He and his troops marched west about 20 miles and built Fort McIntosh in the town of Beaver, Pennsylvania, as a supply depot for a jump off point for his planned attack.

On November 4, 1778, he and his troops marched into the Ohio territory. As they neared what today is Lawrence Township in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, he realized that the weather, which was getting bad, was too much of a problem to continue further advancement.

He decided to build a Fort there near the Tuscarawas River and the trail they and the Indians used to watch over the area. His new plan was to return in the spring with troops and continue the plan of attack.

He leaves about 172 men and a few women to garrison the new fort. Then he departed with the rest of the troops at the end of November of 1778.

The brand new Fort Laurens, named in honor of the President of the Congress Henry Laurens, would be tested in its first winter in existence.

The British in Fort Detroit knew about the movements and the fort building of the American troops. Feeling threatened, it was decided to wipe out the new Fort Laurens if an opportunity presented itself. They would not have to wait long.

The winters in Ohio can be awful and in 1778 – 1779, bad weather and food shortages would take their toll on the garrison. Hearing this news the British sent a force to attack the new fort.

Captain Henry Bird of the 8th Regiment of Foot with some of his British Soldiers and Wyandot, Mingo and Delaware warriors laid a siege to the fort on February 22, 1779.

Colonel John Gibson and the 8th Pennsylvania Regiment and the 13th Virginia Regiment had to fend off attacks from the British and Indians and had to wait to receive reinforcements before it was too late. The British had their troubles too, with the winter and on March 20, 1779, lifted the siege.

This was great news for the garrison inside the fort because they had already been reduced to boiling and eating their moccasins. Three days later a force of 106 men from Fort Pitt arrived and with this relief column the fort was currently safe. The fighting and siege cost the Americans 21 soldiers killed in action.

There was a new Commander in Fort Pitt. His name was Colonel Daniel Brodhead. He decided that the fort was not suitable for attacking, Fort Detroit and the Garrison marched out of Fort Laurens on August 2, 1779.

Not even a year old and the fort was left abandoned. The fort was not burnt. It was left standing and over the years the fort deteriorated. None of the logs used to make the structure are standing today. The locals and Indians stripped the fort of any useful things they could find. The fort basically disappeared over time.

In 1887, a local, Christian L. Baatz, made a journey to where the old fort stood. He made several journeys after that and he renewed interest in the fort that once was. Ohio decided to preserve the land the fort stood on and today it is a historical landmark.

There is a museum there and you can trace the outline of the fort in the ground. Inside the museum artifacts from the time the fort was built along with many Indian artifacts can be viewed by visitors. If you visit, you can see the tomb of the unknown Revolutionary War soldier. He was one of the 21 Soldiers that were killed during the siege.

None of the original logs that enclosed the fort remain. Ohio is looking for help rebuilding the fort as it once was. If you go to their website you can sponsor a log for $100. Just put Fort Laurens Ohio in the search engine. It is Ohio's only Revolutionary War Fort. Happy Valentines' Day. ###

The Anaconda Plan

The Anaconda is a boa constrictor snake. It kills by squeezing to death its prey. General Winfield Scott, Union general-in-chief, proposed to President Lincoln, to strangle the Confederacy by: 1. Controlling the Mississippi River and 2. Blockading all southern ports. This was called the Anaconda Plan.

The control of the Mississippi River was achieved by July of 1863, with the capture of Vicksburg, Mississippi. However, the blockading of Confederate ports was a different matter. At the onset of the war, the Union Navy was ill prepared to execute their part of the plan. While as early as 1807, steam was used to propel ships, the preponderance of Navy ships were still wind powered. Many of these ships were designed and construction begun during the War of 1812. These were 44, 74 and even a 100-gun warship. The thinking, prior to the Civil War, was that the US Navy would have to fight a European power on the high seas.

There was a need for smaller, shallow draft, steam powered vessels. Government agents scoured harbors in Union States and purchased tug boats, ferry boats and other small powered vessels. These were armed with cannon and the ferry boats were modified with some iron plates attached to various places on the vessel.

One of the first actions, on the Atlantic coast, was a joint Army/Navy operation to capture of Roanoke Island in North Carolina. By capturing the island, Union forces would control Pamlico Sound and the many rivers that empty into it. This area was used by Confederate blockade runners. The Army component was the Coastal Division commanded by Brigadier General Ambrose Burnside. The division was made up of regiments recruited from northeast states. One of the regiments was the 1st NY Marine Artillery Regiment. The concept of this unit was to be amphibious in that they would serve both aboard Army gunboats and land to support other army units.

On January 7, 1862, Patrick Halloran, one month shy of his fifteenth birthday, enlisted in Company D of the Marine Artillery. He was assigned to the Army gunboat, Chasseur, a steamer of 330 tons, armed with two 12 pounder rifled guns.

Early in February the combined fleet was off Cape Hatteras, when they encountered a winter storm. The fleet suffered some damage. After the storm, the fleet entered Croatan Sound. On February 7, they began their amphibious assault on Roanoke Island. The troops were supported by the gunboats. After two days the island was captured.

on January 24, 1863. He went down to the pier in Beaufort, North Carolina and enlisted in the Union Navy. It appears that he served aboard the ships USS Powhatan and the USS Vermont. He was discharged on February 7, 1864. Patrick went back to New Jersey.

On September 7, 1864, not yet eighteen years old, Patrick enlisted for a third time. He joined the crew of the USS Berberry. This was an armed steam tug. The Berberry joined the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

the Berberry was on blockade station off Fort Fisher, North Carolina. About 11 p.m., the USS Aster, another armed tug, chased the blockade runner, Annie. The Annie ran aground near the fort. Aster also ran Grandfather. ### aground and requested assistance from the Berberry.

Berberry passed over a tow rope and attempted to pull the Aster free. However, the rope parted. It was decided to remove the crew and set the Aster on fire. The Berberry started churning for deep water, as the guns of the fort began firing. It was soon found to the horror of the Berberry's crew that the tow rope was now wrapped around the propeller. Quick thinking using an awning and blankets as sails got the Berberry to safety.

On Friday, October 5, 1864, Patrick Halloran was discharged on June 12, 1865. He became an American citizen on October 5, 1865. He and his wife, Bridget, lived in Hoboken and raised their children there. Patrick was my Great-

The force then proceeded to capture Fort Macon, Beaufort and Newbern. The Marine Artillery patrolled the sounds and rivers in this area. They often supported Union Troops interdicting Confederate attempts to stockpile supplies and load cotton on blockade runners.

When the regimental commander went on sick leave, internal conflict developed, and this was reported to the Secretary of War. He ordered the unit to be disbanded in early 1863. Patrick was discharged

Dangers of Carbon Monoxide (CO)

What is carbon monoxide? Carbon monoxide (CO) is a poisonous, colorless, odorless, and tasteless gas. Although it has no detectable odor, CO is often mixed with other gases that do have an odor. So, you can inhale carbon monoxide right along with gases that you can smell and not even know that CO is present.

Each year, more than 400 Americans die from unintentional CO poisoning not linked to fires, more than 20,000 visit the emergency room, and more than 4,000 are hospitalized.

How can I prevent CO poisoning in my home?

• Install a battery-operated or battery back-up CO detector in your home and check or replace the battery when you change the time on your clocks each spring and fall. Place your detector where it will wake you up if it alarms, such as outside your bedroom. Consider buying a detector with a digital readout. This detector can tell you the highest level of CO concentration in your home in addition to alarming. Replace your CO detector every five years.

• Have your heating system, water heater, and any other gas, oil, or coal burning appliances serviced by a qualified technician every year.

• When you buy gas equipment, buy only equipment carrying the seal of a national testing agency, such as Underwriters Laboratories. • Make sure your gas appliances are vented properly. Horizontal vent pipes for appliances, such as a water heater, should go up slightly as they go toward outdoors. This prevents CO from leaking if the joints or pipes aren't fitted tightly. • Have your chimney checked or cleaned every year. Chimneys can be blocked by debris. This can cause CO to build up inside your home, cabin, or camper. • Never patch a vent pipe with tape, gum, or something else. This kind of patch can make CO build up in your home, cabin, or camper.

• Never use a gas range or oven for heating. Using a gas range or oven for heating can cause a build up of CO inside your home, cabin, or camper.

• Never burn charcoal indoors. Burning charcoal - red, gray, black, or white - gives off CO.

• Never use a portable gas camp stove indoors. Using a gas camp stove indoors can cause CO to build up inside your home, cabin, or camper.

• Never use a generator inside your home, basement, or garage or less than 20 feet from any window, door, or vent.

How does CO harm you?

Carbon monoxide is harmful when breathed because it displaces oxygen in the blood and deprives the heart, brain, and other vital organs of oxygen. Large amounts of CO can overcome you in minutes without warning-causing you to lose consciousness and suffocate.

Besides tightness across the chest, initial symptoms of CO poisoning may include headache, fatigue, dizziness, drowsiness, or nausea. Sudden chest pain may occur in people with angina.

During prolonged or high exposures, symptoms may worsen and include vomiting, confusion, and collapse in addition to loss of consciousness and muscle weakness.

Symptoms vary widely from person to person. CO poisoning may occur sooner in those most susceptible: young children, elderly people, people with lung or heart disease, people at high altitudes, or those who already have elevated CO blood levels, such as smokers. When you suspect CO poisoning, promptly taking the following actions can save lives: • Move the victim immediately to fresh air.
