Pumpkins Rule!

A symbol of the season. Pumpkin tableaux everywhere. We carve Jack O'Lanterns to light up Halloween. Thanksgiving Dinner features a turkey, trimmings, and traditional Pumpkin Pie. Pumpkin seeds are a popular snack. Marketers promote pumpkin latte, donuts, ice cream, even pancakes, into tasty seasonal favorites. Families go pumpkin picking. Festivals featuring "Pumpkin People in the Park," "largest pumpkin" to "pumpkin chunking" (catapulting pumpkins). There's a strong connection in folklore between pumpkins and the supernatural: witches turning people into pumpkins. In the 19th Century, Jack O'Lanterns to ward off imaginary demons. In "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," the Headless Horseman throws his Jack O'Lantern head at Ichabod Crane. In "Cinderella," the Fairy Godmother turns a pumpkin into a carriage, but at midnight it reverts back into a pumpkin. Of course, there is the "It's The Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown" ☺

The Bible and Handel's Messiah

The First Presbyterian Church of Rutherford will explore Hallelujah: The Bible and Handel's Messiah. The four-week program will cover the music of the advent season beginning November 4, through November 25, 2018, exploring some of the key Scripture passages about the Messiah.

These passages have had a profound effect on the imagination and worship of Christians for two thousand years, leading George Frederic Handel to write one of the greatest expressions of worship and adoration—his oratorio, the Messiah.

We hear parts of it sung every year during the Christmas season, but what many listeners fail to realize is that the entire text of Handel's Messiah is drawn from Scripture—and many of the Old Testament passages that shaped Israel's hope for their Redeemer are included in that text.

We will be guided through Scripture passages used in Handel's work that highlight who Jesus is and what he came to do while listening to Handel's Messiah. It might change the way you listen to the Messiah.

The study will take place directly across the street in the Karen Kaiser Parish House. The study is free and open to all. Registration is required by calling 201-438-3569 so we can put a book aside for you. ###

Beaver Moon

The November full moon appears on Friday, November 23, 2018, at 12:39 a.m. and is called the "Full Beaver Moon." According to "The Farmer's Almanac," this was the time to set beaver traps before the swamp freezes, to ensure a supply of warm winter furs.

Another interpretation suggests that the name "Full Beaver Moon" comes from the fact that the beavers are now actively preparing for winter. Other names for this moon include "Full Frost Moon."

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to each recurring full moon. European settlers followed the custom. ###

Heights Friendly Neighbors Kick Off Their Annual Fund Drive

The members of the Friendly Neighbors will officially begin their annual campaign on Thanksgiving Day, November 22, 2018. It will continue through New Year's Day. They have been in existence since 1939 as a local organization and consist of a group of 10 women from the Churches in Hasbrouck Heights. They donate their time and effort toward raising money, food, and supplies for needy local families. No expenses are taken and all funds go toward helping town residents. This year they are helping 10 families with 18 children. These families are struggling to meet their financial obligations. Understandably, it is nearly impossible for them to celebrate the holidays with food and gifts for their children. We suggest that if you want to help these families, make a small donation. Your donations can be mailed to Mrs. Jackie Mazza, 126 Harrison Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights. ###

Neighbors Helping Neighbors

The Community Chest of Rutherford is now celebrating the 73rd year of raising funds for Rutherfordians. If you haven't been a supporter before, now is the time. Last year, with the help of generous individuals, families and businesses, your Community Chest was able to assist thousands of Rutherford residents. We did this through the financial support offered to eight important Rutherford community organizations. All this was, and continues to be, operated and managed by unpaid volunteers. This year the demand on our services remains. Families will need food assistance and greater support for programs for our youngsters. The Community Chest is a "one-stop shopping" charity of worthy organizations. ###

Wallington FD 17th Annual Holiday Parade: America's Largest Display of Lighted and Decorated Fire Trucks

The Wallington Fire Department is presenting its 17th Annual Holiday Parade on Saturday, November 24, 2018 at 6 p.m.

This 2 mile parade is America's oldest nighttime firefighter's holiday parade of lighted and decorated fire trucks and floats, featuring 2,500 participants and over 250 fire trucks from the Tri-State area, which weaves through the streets of Wallington where many residents kick off the holiday season with "front yard tailgate" parties with family and friends.

Co-Chair Rich Pelcher said, "When we started the parade in 2002, our only thoughts were to honor our 1st Responders, many who participated in the 9/11 tragedy. Our goal was to give them a sense of community and relief.

Seventeen years later, the event has grown with generations of families lining the streets, and firefighters participating from as far away as North Carolina. Just to see the faces on the children, who watch the parade, is enough to satisfy all our hard work. We look forward to seeing everyone again this year."

The parade begins on Mt. Pleasant Avenue and concludes at Centennial Field. Any Fire Department or Company, organization, business, or community member who wishes to participate in the parade is encouraged to register, but they must decorate floats with themes that celebrate the holiday season.

Parade awards will be presented to participants in various categories.

For more information www.wallingtonfdholidayparade.webs.com, call 973-473-7612 or email: Richard.pelcher@gmail.com ###

The excitement and "Romance of Railroads," and the enjoyment of building and displaying model trains has kept the Society of Model Engineers going since 1926, making it the oldest model train group in the United States. The larger "O" Scale layout is 40 by 70 feet and has almost 20 scale miles of train track, with detailed scenic diorama with realistic track work, roads, interesting structures, bridges and tunnels. The "HO" Scale layout is approximately 30 by 45 feet. It also, is fully scenic with miles of scale track. Over 50,000 miniature trees have been installed by the members to depict Northern New Jersey. Many of the models are one of a kind and were handmade by Society members. Trains of all types, passenger, freight, and circus trains, will be operating continuously. Thanksgiving

While it has been claimed that the First Thanksgiving was held by the Pilgrims at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in 1621, three other states claim the honor of the First Thanksgiving.

A group of Spanish colonists arrived at St. Augustine, Florida. This was in the year of 1565. They held a feast with local Indians to give thanks for their safe arrival in the New World. Another group of Spanish colonists arrived at what is now El Paso, Texas, in 1598. They prayed and held a three-day feast with the local Indians.

The State of Virginia claims that on December 4, 1619, English colonists arrived at what is now Charles City. Their leaders issued an edict which read, in part, “We ordain that the day of our arrival...shall be kept yearly and perpetually holy as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God.” These were the first colonists to use the word “Thanksgiving.”

What can be attributed to the Pilgrims, was the first mention of turkey as a food served at their feast. The table, in addition to wild turkey, was stocked with water fowl, fish and venison. This was to celebrate their first harvest in the New World. The feast lasted three days and was attended by fifty-three Pilgrims and about ninety Indians of the Wampanoag Tribe, who had given food, over the winter, to the colonists. These Thanksgiving Days were onetime events.

There would be local Thanksgivings, in many communities, for a number of reasons until the American Revolutionary War. The Continental Congress gave the first national proclamation of Thanksgiving. They recommended that the governors of each state observe this date. The date was December 18, 1777, to honor the defeat of the British at the Battle of Saratoga. At the end of the war, Congress passed a resolution requesting the states to observe Thursday, November 28, 1782, as a “Solemn Thanksgiving to God.” This was to honor the American victory in the war.

Until the American Civil War, various Presidents would proclaim “Thanksgiving Days” for different reasons and by 1859, twenty-five states had their own Thanksgivings.

Because of the victories of Gettysburg and Vicksburg, President Abraham Lincoln issued a proclamation on October 3, 1863, that Thursday, November 26, 1863, was National Thanksgiving Day. This was the fourth Thursday of November. Since 1863, the United States has observed Thanksgiving Day.

Presidents after Lincoln followed his tradition of proclaiming the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day. That is until 1939; that year there were five Thursdays in November. President Roosevelt declared the fourth Thursday as Thanksgiving. His intent was to expand the shopping days for Christmas. It was hoped that this would improve the economy during the Great Depression. Advertising Christmas goods before Thanksgiving was considered inappropriate.

This caused a political uproar. Republicans called it an affront to the memory of Lincoln. People began referring to November 30 as the Republican Thanksgiving and November 23 as the Democratic Thanksgiving. Many communities had already set the last Thursday as Thanksgiving and football schedules were set well in advance. Twenty-three states went along with Roosevelt’s recommendation, twenty-two did not. Texas could not decide and took both days as a government holiday.

The President declared the third Thursday as Thanksgiving Day in both 1940 and 1941.

The US Congress passed a bill at the end of 1941 and was signed into law by President Roosevelt, making the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day. This was now made a matter of federal law. It became effective in 1942.

Some American Indian groups view this as a day of mourning. This is seen as honoring the conquest of Native Americans by the colonists. One group protests every year at Plymouth Rock. However, the Oneida Indian Nation since 2010, has marched in the Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade in what they call “the True Spirit of Thanksgiving.”

Along with the religious aspect of the holiday is the big three. That being Family, Food, and Football. This is usually the time for members of the family to come together and share the Thanksgiving dinner. After the meal, many gather to watch football on TV. Sadly, I do miss the high school football games. Games like the Hasbrouck Heights – Wood-Ridge rivalry were always a great community event. Well, there is still the Macy’s Parade.

Happy Thanksgiving to all! ###

Your Fire Chiefs Offer These Safety Tips

- Thanksgiving is the peak day for home cooking fires.
- Three-fifths (59%) of reported home cooking fire injuries occurred when victims tried to fight the fire themselves.
- A CPSC study found that 83% of frying fires began in the first 15 minutes of cooking.
- Keep anything that can catch fire - potholders, towels or curtains - away from your stovetop.
- Have a "kid-free zone" of at least 3 feet around the stove and areas where hot food or drink is prepared or carried.

Thanksgiving Proclamation, November 29, 1623

TO ALL YE PILGRIMS

Inasmuch as the great Father has given us this year an abundant harvest of Indian corn, wheat, beans, squashes, and garden vegetables, and has made the forests to abound with game and the sea with fish and clams, and inasmuch as He has protected us from the ravages of the savages, has spared us from pestilence and disease, has granted us freedom to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience; now, I, your magistrate, do proclaim that all ye Pilgrims, with your wives and little ones, do gather at ye meeting house, on ye hill, between the hours of 9 and 12 in the day time, on Thursday, November ye 29th of the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and twenty-three, and the third year since ye Pilgrims landed on ye Pilgrim Rock, there to listen to ye pastor, and render thanksgiving to ye Almighty God for all His blessings.

William Bradford, Ye Governor of ye Colony

The Tradition Begins

- The first Thanksgiving (in 1621) likely featured duck, lobster, rabbit and geese; it is unclear if turkey was served.
- The first national Thanksgiving was declared by President George Washington in 1789.
- The iconic Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade got its start in 1924. It was celebrated on Christmas Day that year. Today, it is thought to be the most popular parade in the country.
- Ninety percent of American homes serve a traditional turkey dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

- The cranberry is so named because the stem of the cranberry plant was thought to resemble a crane. Twenty percent of all cranberries are consumed on Thanksgiving.
- How does your family like their stuffing served? Our country is divided about 50-50: half put their stuffing inside the bird to cook, the other half make it separately as a side dish.
- Pumpkins are grown for decoration or cooking and baking. Pie pumpkins are smaller, more dense and sweeter than Jack O'Lantern pumpkins. The most common type is the "sugar pie" pumpkin. ###

Halloween In The Park

Woodland Park was invaded by ghosts, goblins, aliens and assorted scary characters on the evening of Tuesday, October 16, 2018.

Last year, over 600 participated in this event.

Halloween in the Park began at 6:15 p.m. and concluded at 9:30 p.m. This was their 19th year.

Every 15 minutes, two hayride trailers took turns collecting riders at the Harrison Avenue end of the pavilion and went around to the back section of the park where they were frightened by a variety of terrifying citizens of the night.

Youngsters signed up for the earlier time slots as the fright stations were less scary.

After the horrific experience ride, they escaped at the Roosevelt Avenue end of the pavilion — where they were treated to cider and cookies. The pavilion fireplace was warm and glowing. Al DeAngelo and Pantophobia Haunted Attractions assisted in this event.

The Hasbrouck Heights Fire Department was on stand-by at the scene.

The event was sponsored by the Hasbrouck Heights Recreation Department. For more information call 201-288-4143. ###

Be A Volunteer

The Bergen Volunteer Center is seeking volunteers for direct service programs to help Bergen County residents.

• Mentoring Moms and Mentoring Youth - Mentoring Moms is a program that connects volunteers with mothers who are faced with overwhelming responsibilities.

Mentors do not have to be mothers, but rather be women that can provide support with the everyday challenges that mothers face.

Mentoring Youth is designed to recruit, train and supervise adult volunteers to provide mentoring support to youth at risk of social, emotional or behavioral problems.

Mentors are matched in one-on-one relationships with youth ages 8-21. All are encouraged to apply. They are in need of Spanish-speaking male mentors! For more information on either program, e-mail Yamilet Torres at ytorres@bergenvolunteers.org or call 201-489-9454 extension 212.

• Redefining Retirement - Redefining Retirement helps retirees find meaningful volunteer work. Volunteers are matchmakers that recruit and connect other retirees interested in purposeful post-retirement engagement. For more information, contact Louisa Hellegers at lhellegers@bergenvolunteers.org or call 201-489-2064.

• CHORE and CHEER - The Chore Service performs minor household repairs for senior citizens and the disabled.

Retirees or people who work second and third shift

Turkey is the traditional dish for the Thanksgiving feast. In the US, about 280 million turkeys are sold for the Thanksgiving celebrations. There is no official reason or declaration for the use of turkey. They just happened to be the most plentiful meat available at the time of the first Thanksgiving in 1621, starting the tradition. ### jobs are encouraged to apply. Back-up volunteers and drivers are always needed!

Our CHEER Program offers supportive services to senior citizens who are minimally disabled and wish to retain as much independence as possible.

Volunteers visit clients weekly to help with tasks such as shopping, errands, and laundry. For more information on either program, contact Michele Ogden at mogden@bergenvolunteers.org or 201-489-7790. ###

Filling You In

By Jeffrey E. Mason, D.M.D.

• What is Infection Control? Infection control is a set of recommended safety precautions that dentists implement to protect their patients and staff in the office. Strict infection control is required to prevent the spread of disease, since many dental procedures involve direct contact with blood and saliva. Improved infection-control procedures with heightened awareness of the dangers of infection mean that the instruments and supplies your dentist uses in your mouth are either heat-sterilized or they are disposable items intended for one-time use.

• Do all dentists practice infection control? In 1986, less than 30 percent of dentists wore gloves, masks or gowns. Today, these infection-control tools are required in all dental practices. To fight the spread of diseases, such as human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), hepatitis B, syphilis and herpes viruses, your dentist has strict procedures and may use a variety of measures to ensure that instruments used during dental procedures are sterile.

As an extra precaution, many dentists and their staff are vaccinated for hepatitis B, to prevent them from potentially passing it on to patients. Sterilizing dental instruments, a process that destroys all forms of microbial life, is also an important part of infection control in a dental office.

• How else does my dentist protect me? Your dentist may use a variety of protective items that are used once and then thrown away, including gloves, masks, paper drapes, suction/water tube tips and needles. Dentists and their assistants can use different kinds of protective gloves. Latex or vinyl gloves are used for patient examinations and procedures and are worn whenever skin could be in contact with body fluids. Between patients, the gloves are thrown away, the hands washed and a new set of gloves is used to treat the next patient.

For cleaning and sterilizing instruments, heavy rubber utility gloves are used. If you are allergic to rubber or latex, your dentist can wear nitrile gloves, which do not contain any latex rubber proteins.

• What are universal precautions? Universal precautions, used for every patient, are safety procedures established by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the American Dental Association (ADA). These precautions require all dental staff involved in patient care to use appropriate protective wear, such as gloves, masks and eyewear.

• Do dentists sterilize the handpiece (drill) and other instruments after each patient? Dentists sterilize handpieces and other instruments between patients to prevent the transmission of diseases. Dental offices follow and monitor specific heat-sterilization procedures, which are outlined by the CDC and the ADA. Most dental instruments are sterilized in special machines; it takes much more than just soap and water to make sure instruments are free of bacteria. Recommended sterilization methods include placing these tools into an autoclave (steam under pressure), a dry-heat oven or chemical vapor (commonly called a chemiclave). Typically, this equipment is kept in the office, away from a patient's view. Ask your dentist to show you how and where instruments are sterilized.

• How are other objects sterilized? Before you enter the examination room, all surfaces, such as the dental chair, drawer handles and countertops are disinfected. To sterilize equipment that can't be moved, such as X-ray units and countertops, disinfectant is applied after each patient to ensure a germ-free environment. Some offices may drape this equipment with protective covers, which are replaced after each patient. Disposable sharp items, such as needles, that cannot be sterilized are disposed of in puncture-resistant biohazard containers. Anything contaminated with blood or saliva is disposed of in special containers with safety lids.

Do not hesitate to ask your dentist how you are protected in that office.

Real Estate Insight

Selling? No Better Time Than Now!

If you're serious about selling your home, the fall might be the perfect time of year to make it happen. Many owners hesitate to market their homes between Halloween and New Year's Day, believing the holiday season to be an off-peak time to sell. But the idea that houses don't sell in November and December comes from outdated historical trends.

In fact, several studies show that, on average, homes listed during this time are more likely to sell, sell more quickly and sell closer to the asking price. November, in particular, has some unique advantages that make it an ideal time to sell. Here are three reasons why Thanksgiving month might be the best time for you to sell your home.

Buyers are Serious. As in, serious about buying a home this time of year. It's been widely accepted that homes sell best in the spring and summer because parents want to wait until summer to move school-aged children. But today, believe it or not, more than half of home buyers aren't married so their decisions aren't necessarily based on kids' schedules.

If buyers are looking for a home in November, they've either waited through the busy season in hopes of a better deal, or they're facing their own time constraints due to work changes or other reasons. For these highly motivated buyers, the traditional barriers to winter house-hunting, bad weather, short days, holiday preparations, don't apply. You may have fewer showings this late in the year but you're likely to get more qualified buyers and buyers that are more apt to make an offer close to listing price.

Less Competition. Because of the misconceptions about selling during winter, it's true that many sellers don't think it's worth their time to try to sell their homes toward the end of the year, so they take their homes off the market. Their loss of a potential buyer could be your gain!

Serious buyers have fewer homes to choose from over the holidays. While buyers may have had thirty homes to compare and choose from in June, there may only be ten homes that fit their criteria in November. If they are motivated to buy, they're gonna choose one of these ten homes. Less competition for you means more buyers checking out your increasingly desirable home either online or in person.

Tax Benefits. A house marketed in November may lure buyers looking for year-end tax breaks. Buyers looking to lower their taxes may snatch up a home later in the year so they can deduct home purchase costs. That includes points, interest and property taxes.

And if someone sold a house during the traditional summer selling season and faces capital gains taxes on the deal (because he's an investor or has lived in the house for fewer than two years), he may be highly motivated to buy it in November since closing on the purchase of another house within 180 days lets him avoid paying capital gains taxes.

More generally, there's just the changing dynamics in home buyer searches. The justification for not listing in the fall because of less daylight hours and possible uncomfortable weather, inhibiting buyers from wanting to go out and view homes has little relevance today. It's a proven fact that nine out of ten home buyers search for homes online, at their workplaces, on their smart phones, and from the comfort of their homes after dark.

Much like the old printed MLS listing books, newspaper ads, and pocket listings, this practice of "seasonal marketing" has seen its better days. The bottom line is home sellers today who adapt to the new real estate landscape and the modern buyer's online searching habits put themselves at a significant advantage over their selling competition – especially in November and December!

VFW and American Legions that have Post Homes can get charged the residential rate with their utilities. This may save them a lot of money. How can they get switched over to a residential rate? Call them but you must be registered and have a CRI-200. The CRI-200 is a charity registration number provided by the state.

In the past, if your Post did not receive a certain amount in donations you did not have to register for one. Now they all must. It is a tedious process on line but the benefit is you will save on your utilities. Just type CRI-200 in the search engine. It pops right up.

On POW/MIA news the Defense POW/MIA Accounting Agency announced that the remains of a U.S. serviceman, accounted for from World War II, are being returned to his family for burial with full military honors.

Army Pvt. Donald E. Brown, from Iowa, was 24 at the time of his death. In July 1944, Brown was a member of Company A, 745th Tank Battalion, fighting in support of the 1st Infantry Division in the European Theater. Brown was killed in action on July 28, 1944 when his tank was destroyed by enemy fire near Camberton, France.

Once the war was over the American Graves Registration Command searched for and disinterred the remains of U.S. service members who were killed in battle. In July 1947, an investigation located remains in a tank from Brown's battalion. The remains could not be identified at the time. They were designated Unknown X-452 Blosville and were interred in Normandy American Cemetery, Colleville-Sur-Mer, France.

Following thorough research and analysis of American Soldiers missing from ground combat, as well as receiving requests for families, the Department of Defense and American Battle Monuments Commission disinterred X-452 in August of 2017, and moved them to the DPAA laboratory.

To identify Brown's remains, scientists from DPAA and the Armed Forces medical Examiner System used mitochondrial and Y-chromosome DNA analysis, anthropological analysis as well as circumstantial and material evidence.

Of the 16 million Americans who served in World War II, more than 400,000 died during the war. Currently, there are 72,813 service members still unaccounted for from World War II. Brown's name is recorded on the Tablets of the Missing at the Brittany American Cemetery, an American Battle Monuments Commission site in Saint James, France, along with the others missing from World War II. A rosette will be placed next to his name to indicate that he has been accounted for.

This news article was provided by the Department of Defense Missing Personnel office. They work constantly to account for servicemen and women not found or accounted for from all of American battlefields.

You can get more news and info by going to www.dpaa.mil or find them on social media at www.facebook.com/dodpaa. Want to call instead? 703-699-1420/1169. ###

Artful Thinking

By Artie Maglionico • Lodi Historian

The Elizabeth Ann

Over the years it has been my privilege, both as a historian for the Borough of Lodi and citizen of the USA, to interview no less than 40 area residents who served and fought in the military during WW II. Their brief biographies gave us first-hand accounts as to what it was like to face death on a daily basis and still be around to talk about it. Saddle Brook resident, Mr. Joseph De Luccia, is one such individual. At 94 years old Mr. De Luccia has honored me by sharing his war time memories as a radio operator/gunner on the war plane known as the B-17 Flying Fortress, successfully completing 32 missions over France and Germany in preparation for the allied invasion.

Mr. De Luccia was born on May 19, 1924. He graduated from Paterson East Side High School in 1942. Among his classmates was an athlete by the name of Larry Doby, who went on to become the second African American, after Jacky Robinson, to play in Major League Baseball. After high school Joseph became employed at the Western Electric plant in Clifton, NJ where he worked on transmitter and receiver equipment for both the B-17 and B-24 bombers.

Thanks to a radio course Joseph took at Paterson High School, he later became qualified as a fighting member of the US Air Force. By the time he entered the war, Joseph had since joined the ranks of the 457TH BOMB GROUP 750TH SQUADRON. "I was drafted into the Air Force on February 3, 1943." Recalls Joseph. "I was 18 years old and eager to do my part for our country's war effort."

After enduring the rigors of boot camp, in Miami Florida, Joseph was sent to Sioux Falls, SD., where he attended Radio School. He completed the course in the windy city of Chicago ILL. He was then sent to Laredo, Texas where he attended gunnery school. "After gunnery school I was sent to Dalhart Texas" says Joseph, "That's where I became a member of a ten man crew on the Flying Fortress B-17. The next thing I knew we were flying practice missions over Texas." Even those practice missions could not fully prepare the crew members for the danger that was soon to follow.

Despite the grim news as to the ill-fated missions that plagued the B-17 bombers, Joseph was eager to earn his wings. "By then the English Air Force was experiencing a dismal 51% loss rate and was relying heavily on the success of the American bombers and fighters." Says Joseph. "We began flying on D-DAY plus 12. The name of our plane was The Elizabeth Ann."

The Elizabeth Ann's first mission was over Hamburg, Germany, then over Bordeaux, France, then back to Hamburg and finally over Berlin. "I was situated near the bomb bay doors" remembers Joseph. "I witnessed a lot of death and destruction." Between the months of June and October of 1944, crew members of The Elizabeth Ann took part in 32 hellacious missions. They flew at 30,000 feet where the temperature dipped to minus 50 degrees and where the steady attack of enemy war planes was relentless and deadly. "I saw many planes getting blasted out of the sky and people getting killed" Joseph recalls. "I knew only too well that each mission could have been my last."

Joseph, who after 5 missions was promoted to the rank of Tech Sergeant, never let the fear of going down in flames get in the way of performing his duties. "I tried not to think about death and dying." Says Joseph, "I thought that if I were to survive it would be the biggest accomplishment of my life. Meanwhile, those German FW-190 and ME-109 fighters were creating havoc wholesale."

By early 1944, B-17 bombers were flying over Berlin at the rate of 1000 strong. This time around they were escorted into battle by 800 P-51 Mustangs whose presence lessened the casualties of B-17 bombers dramatically. During the Elizabeth Ann's first mission over Berlin two engines had shut down with one engine working at 75% efficiency. Only one engine was working at full capacity. "We flew back to an English Bomber base on two engines." Recalls Joseph "We were picked up and brought back to our base not knowing that we were listed as missing in action."

Another mission found The Elizabeth Ann flying over Saint Lo, France. "Our squadron of B-17 flew over at 27,000 feet then dropped to 12,000 feet to deliver anti-personnel bombs." Says Joseph, "We cleared away all German artillery so as to allow our soldiers to walk through Saint Lo to continue our invasion."

During those missions Joseph witnessed many B-17 bombers exploding in midair then disappearing into oblivion. He saw them spiral out of control then hit the ground in a thunderous ball of fire and smoke. "The sky was dotted with parachutes." says Joseph, "Many of the crew members were killed during their descent or died upon hitting the ground. If you survived the fall the German people attacked you with a vengeance for leveling their cities." Either way it didn't end well for those brave lads.

Toward the end of the war the B-17s went on a mission to destroy the factories that were manufacturing the German U-1 buzz bomb. A live shell went through the Elizabeth Ann's gas tank on her right wing and exploded over head causing her crew to steer her back to the base. "We lost two bombers during that raid," remembers Joseph.

Joseph De Luccia is quick to mention to those who attend his many lectures that WW II was indeed the highlight of his life and was proud to have answered his country's call to service and to help in keeping freedom intact and to preserve the American way of life.

At his lectures Mr. De Luccia discusses gaining control of the skies over Germany in preparation of the Allied invasion. He also gives lectures on the "Air Force in WW II" at Bergen Community College.

Joseph was a member of the U.S. 8th Air Force, 457th Bomb Group, 750th Squadron.

Thank you Mr. De Luccia and to all Veterans for helping to keep the American Dream alive.

Here's wishing you all a peaceful Veterans Day.

Rutherford World War I Centennial Bells of Peace

The Rutherford World War I Centennial Committee has agreed to participate in the "Bells Of Peace: A World War I Remembrance" initiative on November 11, 2018, at 11 a.m.

This program is sponsored by the National World War I Centennial Commission, The Pritzger Military Museum & Library, The American Legion, The Veterans of Foreign Wars and The Society of The Honor Guard of The Tomb Of The Unknown Soldier. Citizens and organizations across the nation are asked to toll bells 21 times with five second intervals between tolls, beginning at 11 a.m. on Sunday, November 11, 2018. The Committee will be contacting local organizations and houses of worship to encourage participation.

This time is significant, in that it marks the exact moment one hundred years ago that the Armistice went into effect ending World War I, "The War To End All Wars." The tolling of bells is a traditional honorific to remember those who served, fought and may have perished during wartime.

This program was conceived and designed in collaboration with Veterans' organizations to honor the service and sacrifice of our World War I Veterans and all Veterans. Bells will be tolled in many communities across the nation, in houses of worship, schools, town halls, cemeteries and public carillons.

The National Commission web page: www.worldwar1centennial.org can provide tools and information for bell tolling and conducting services to honor WWI Veterans.

American Legion Seeking Boys State Applicants

For one week in June 2018, over 1,000 boys attended the 73rd year of the American Legion Jersey Boys State (ALJBS) held at Rider University. One hundred and thirty-eight of these boys were from Bergen County. The two boys that represented Hasbrouck Heights were Nicholas Cali and Dylan O'Connor.

The weeklong experience is designed to educate and motivate New Jersey's boys so that each may become a citizen leader dedicated to service, respect, and Americanism. Together, the boys form a mythical "51st" state of the union each year, where they elect their own local, state and national representatives. Activities at ALJBS include legislative sessions, general assemblies, court proceedings, athletics, and band and career seminars, among many others. For those boys who live in Hasbrouck Heights, the sponsoring American Legion Post 106 donates all expenses associated with attending ALJBS.

The Hasbrouck Heights Post is now seeking boys to represent the post as delegates to ALJBS which will be held on June 16-21, 2019. Only boys who live in Hasbrouck Heights and are presently in their junior year at any high school, public or private are eligible.

Once selected, the boys will receive information and forms about ALJBS from American Legion department headquarters in Trenton, NJ, and will be required to attend two county orientation meetings. These meetings give them details as to what they should expect at ALJBS and include a question and answer period to address any of their concerns.

For students attending Hasbrouck Heights High School, applications are available in the Guidance Office. For those students attending private school, applications can be obtained from Mr. Thomas Romano at 201-370-9813. ###

Riggin Field Re-dedicated

On October 14, 2018, the 100th anniversary of his death, the Captain Charles Holland Riggin Field was re-dedicated. The program was led by Jeffrey J. Lahullier, President East Rutherford Historical Society. The program included an intro by William Armstrong of American Legion Post 67. An 11-piece band from Henry P. Becton High School played the National Anthem and patriotic songs. The Rutherford chapter of Free Masons presented a wreath. Mayor James Cassella and Council President Lahullier ceremoniously planted a 6-foot weeping cherry tree and Mayor Cassella unveiled a new sign. The Rev. Donald Pitches, pastor of Carlstadt First Presbyterian Church, tolled the bell. He also gave the Benediction. A table displayed mementos. A memorial stone with an American Legion emblem/plaque of unknown origin was located in the area. Light refreshments concluded the service. Remarks by Jeffrey J. Lahullier, President East Rutherford Historical Society. He was born in Mardela Springs, Maryland on September 1, 1890 to George and Roxie (Twilley) Riggin who lived in Quantico, Maryland. At the age of 17 he worked on Walnut Street in Salisbury, Maryland for two different local businesses. In the fall of 1908 he attended St. John's College and graduated in 1912. There as a senior he was captain of one of their cadet companies where he received his first military training. That same year he took a position as commandant and instructor at Charlotte Hall Academy. In 1913 he took a position as instructor at Municipal Square School where he was an educator and later became principal. This address in East Rutherford is listed as 162 Everett Place. He was also a member of Engine Company 1

here in town as well as a member of the Free Mason's from Boiling Spring Lodge No. 152, Rutherford. August 1917 he entered the Army being commissioned Second Lieutenant directly from civilian life. On August 1st that same month he married Lillian Bigelow, a school teacher working here at Lincoln School in East Rutherford. His Army training sent him to Kansas and then North Carolina where he chose to attend school. He went to the School of Engineering where he eventually taught the construction of trenches and barbed wire entanglements. He was then sent to Camp Merit which sat on the borders of Cresskill and Dumont, NJ where he was commissioned First Lieutenant. Riggin narrowly escaped a flu pandemic at the camp that wiped out more than 550 infantrymen. Riggin left this embarkation camp in May 1918. Troops at that time marched from Camp Merit to Hoboken, NJ. These troops were then deployed from that port to the battlefields of Europe. With less than a month to go until the end of the war Riggin made the ultimate sacrifice losing his life during the second battle of the Maras and Belleau Woods, France on October 14th 1918. At the age of 28, he lost his life leading his company in an advance. This was the Meuse-Argonne Offensive which lasted 47 days. Twenty-six thousand American lives were lost along with 28 thousand German lives and an unknown number of French. This battle helped to bring the war to an end. He was buried by a fellow Captain and one of his Lieutenants on an open hillside near Cunel (North Eastern France). One of Riggin's men was quoted saying the following: "He was of a sunny, cheery disposition and was liked by everyone with whom he came in contact with." Another wrote "every man would follow him any time and any place." His own words from a letter written by Riggin to a friend waiting in America to cross "If you don't hurry and get here we'll have the German Kaiser wiped off the face of the earth." It took almost a year to get his body home from France but he was later laid to rest with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, and later along with his wife, Lillian Riggin. Lillian died at the age of 62 on December 22nd, 1952 at her home in Clearwater, Florida. The park was originally dedicated to Riggin in 1927. Improvements were made in 2004. ###

Storm Tips:

USING GENERATORS
- Use extreme caution when operating portable generators. Never use a portable generator (gasoline, diesel, or propane) indoors or in an enclosed area such as a basement, garage, shed, or tent. This can result in carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning or death. ###
