The Band

The stirring sounds and choreographed moves of high school marching bands mark the beginning of autumn. Our hearts fill with pride when band members, in their impressive uniforms, pass in review. The tap-tap-tap cadence of drums strikes the soul. Horns in harmony, capture the magic. • Admire the student who studies an instrument, practices constantly, joins the marching band, masters complex formations with precision that transform football fields into magical arenas. Appreciate their commitment, tenacity and resolve. • Hail to the band director whose infinite patience -- trains a new marching band each year. • Decades later, former marching band members smile as they relive the camaraderie of that life experience.

The beat goes on! See story on page 21. ###

Free Roses Benefit Food Pantry

Bill O'Shea's Florist promoted Good Neighbor Day on Wednesday, September 18, 2019. Owners, John and Linda Kosakowski, said that they gave out about 70 bunches of roses with the stipulation recipients keep one rose and pass along the others. During the event, food donations were collected for the Hasbrouck Heights Food Bank, netting about 60 bags of food plus cash donations.

It is believed that the first Good Neighbor Day was started by the late Brook Jacobs, owner of Greenbrook Flowers in Jackson, MS, in 1994. It was adopted and promoted by FTD nationally, with Bill O'Shea's Florist joining the program and continuously participating since 1995. ###

Torn to Shreds

On Saturday morning, September 7, 2019, Hasbrouck Heights held their 22nd Shred-it-Event at The Boulevard and Central Avenue parking lot. Residents and businesses brought in 8,050 pounds of confidential documents to be shredded. The program began in 2008; since then a total of 138,355 lbs have been shredded. The weight gets filed with the state and goes toward the Borough's paper recycling tonnage grant.

The town typically has two shredding events a year. The Hasbrouck Heights recycler, Atlantic Coast Fibers, provided this service.

The spring event on May 4, 2019 was sponsored by the Bergen County Utilities Authority. ###

Dedication of Memory Garden

Members of the Wallington community joined together with members of the Polish National Catholic Church of the Transfiguration, for the dedication of a memory garden on the Church grounds, Sunday, September 8, 2019. The garden was inspired by the passing of Emily Desbiens, a 20 year old parishioner who was killed last year in a tragic auto accident.

The idea to create the memory garden came from members of Emily's Church family, Amanda Maciag, and Michael Mludzik, whose father is the pastor of the Church.

"The memory garden is not to mourn the passing of our loved ones, but to celebrate their lives and the contributions they made to their families, friends, the community and their Church," said Reverend Gregory Mludzik. "During her short lifetime, Emily did much to support our Church, participating in many activities and fundraisers, including serving as a Sunday School teacher. Her warm smile brought comfort to us all and her many good deeds inspired everyone she met."

Emily was a varsity cheerleader and played softball at Wallington High School before graduating in 2015. She just finished her junior year at William Paterson University, where she was in the Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority.

The original idea to create the memory garden was quickly embraced by the Church's congregation, as well as by Emily's many high school and college friends. Support soon grew to include a number of local merchants who provided materials and assistance to make the garden a reality.

"Our family has been deeply touched by the outpouring of kindness and caring that everyone has shown in their remembrance of Emily," said her mother, Beverly Desbiens. "I know she would be grateful for the creation of this lovely spot where people from the community can come to meditate in a peaceful setting".

The memory garden is located on the grounds of the Polish National Catholic Church at 135 Hathaway Street in Wallington.

"All are welcome to come to this peaceful place for remembrance of their lost family members and friends," Reverend Mludzik said. "And may their lives inspire each of us to use our own lives to make a real and lasting difference for good." Provided by Bryan Jackson. ###

Hunter's Moon

The October full moon appears on Sunday, October 13, 2019, at 5:10 p.m. It is called the "Hunter's Moon."

According to "The Farmer's Almanac," with the leaves falling and the deer fattened, it is time to hunt.

Since the fields have been reaped, hunters could easily see fox and other animals which have come out to glean.

Other names for this moon include "Full Travel Moon," and "Full Dying Grass Moon."

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to each recurring full moon. European settlers followed the custom. ###

Rutherford's Repair Café!

What do you do with that toaster that won't toast, that bike with the faulty brakes, that computer you can't get to boot up? Throw it away? No way! Bring it to Rutherford's Repair Café!

On Saturday, October 5, 2019, from 12-4 p.m. Part social gathering, part repair shop, the Repair Café is an international phenomenon begun in Holland where community members volunteer to help fix things that people would otherwise throw out. It will be an afternoon drop-in event where community members can bring in broken or non-functioning items to be fixed for free with the help of expert volunteers. The purpose is not only to reduce waste but also to teach people how to fix things themselves.

Area residents are invited to bring broken or non-functioning items to the Rutherford Congregational Church, 251 Union Avenue, Rutherford, where, on a first-come, first-served basis, they will be assisted and advised in making repairs. Expert volunteers will have the necessary tools and may have some spare parts available for a nominal fee, but participants are encouraged to obtain the necessary parts beforehand.

Rutherford's Repair Café will have the following stations: bicycles, clothing, small appliances, computers, furniture, toys, and jewelry. There will be coffee, tea, and homemade baked goods, as well as a craft table (where adults and children will make art out of trash and recyclables). Paramus REI has agreed to hold a bicycle maintenance and repair clinic.

To volunteer or for more information, contact Brian Hanson-Harding at brianhansonharding@gmail.com.

August Visitors At the Arnault/Bianchi House

The Wood-Ridge Historical Society welcomed a second visit from Rudolphe Proust, great great nephew of Fridolin Arnault who called his house on First Street his "country home." Rudolphe was accompanied by his cousin, Linda Didario, great granddaughter of Fridolin, who has maintained her New Jersey roots. Linda makes her home in South Plainfield, but Rudolphe continues to be a Paris, France resident. During their August visit, both took great interest in the features of the house that was built in 1891 and the restoration work that has been done not only to the house but to the carriage house and "out house" as well. As they explored the rooms of the house, they expressed their thoughts on the lifestyle that past family members enjoyed. Rudolphe hopes to complete a novel using family background that would include the Wood-Ridge residence. Rudolphe and Linda were delighted with the completed landscaping surrounding the home. Rudolphe is a former member of the Paris Police Force, and through the kindness of Borough Police Chief John Korin and Officer Vitkovsky, their visit included a tour of the Borough Police Department. Our French visitor was well-impressed with the equipment of the Wood-Ridge force. He and officer Vitkovsky took pleasure in making comparisons with the equipment used in Paris. Beautiful weather added to the day, and all involved appreciated the well-spent couple of hours in Wood-Ridge. Provided by Dottie Dobek. ###

Murder: Family Style

On September 17, 2019, at the Lodi Senior Center, it all started out as a simple family affair. Tony Rigatoni, the most powerful player in "da pizza pie business" held a sit-down pizza luncheon to welcome new members into the family. Invited were the heads of families, their capos, and their wives. But everything went wrong after the three new men were "induced" into the family, one died suddenly of poison. Therein lies the premise of this interaction murder mystery. The cast of actors were Tony Rigatoni, Jimmy Crackhorn and Livia, his wife. The rest of the cast were members of the audience selected at random, each with a specific role to play. After the death of Jimmy, a detective arrived to help the audience solve the murder. The murder mystery was presented with a humorous slant as you meet the cast of hilarious characters and get entangled in a web of lies and intrigue. All become involved in a murder investigation where the members of audience, were asked to help solve the crime. "Murder: Family Style" was sponsored by the Lodi AARP and presented by D.O. A. Mysteries. All who attended had a great time with the show and enjoyed the pizza and dessert. Photo by Marie Gallo, story by Peter Gallo Jr.

HH Senior Magic Show

On September 11, 2019, more than 150 seniors attended the first meeting of the Leisure Club since the summer break. They were in for an unforgettable program provided by Bob Conrad. It was a magic show packed with illusions, unexpected situations and the comics of the puppet Coco the Chimp. Bob used his talents as a ventriloquist to bring his puppet alive and also a face that he had drawn. At times it appeared that his tricks seemed to be simple to explain, however, in the end he introduced a new twist to his illusions which made them impossible to solve. Bob had the full attention of all the members every second of his performance. He is a great entertainer. Bob Conrad is a full-time entertainer who has provided programs at elementary schools, library events, senior citizens centers, etc. His son, Kevin Woyce, has written about many topics and presents slide show lectures on the topic discussed in his books. He has entertained the Hasbrouck Heights seniors in the past with programs about "The Statue of Liberty" and "The Jersey Shore." Photo by Marie Gallo. Story provided by Peter Gallo Jr. ###

Longtime Costumière Fun-Ghoul Closes Doors

With great reluctance, we are announcing that the Fun-Ghoul Costume Company of Rutherford, New Jersey is closing its doors after 35 years of serving our community.

Since 1985, The Fun Ghoul Costume Company has designed and built hundreds of custom costumes for Fortune 500 companies, rock stars and other celebrities. Our designs have included King Kong for the Empire State Building, French's Mustard seen at stadiums throughout the country, the Vlassic Pickles Stork and the Da Mascot for Newark rapper Redman a.k.a Reggie Noble as well as various costumes for the Halloween trade show industry. We have designed costumes from Eddie of Iron Maiden as well as Dee Snider from Twisted Sister for the Halloween industry.

The industry has evolved into "pop-up" stores that are around for three months and then gone and the Dot.com retailers that are a dime a dozen. We are the last of the iconic costume houses that offered unique, "one of a kind" opportunities to transform yourself into someone truly memorable.

That said, we are selling off our entire inventory of masks, costumes, accessories and props. So, if you are among the thousands of customers who have rented a costume from us in the past, this is an opportunity to come in and purchase that costume that you've loved, before we close our doors forever. ###

Haunted History of Halloween Program

Registration is required. Participants can register online at eastrutherford.bccls.org for more information, call 201-939-3930. ###

Candy Corn Tidbits

• Candy corn has been made with the same recipe by the Jelly Belly Candy Company since around 1900.

• What's in that recipe, exactly? Sugar, corn syrup, and marshmallow.

• One serving (about 30 pieces) has 140 calories, the equivalent of three miniature Hershey bars.

• The National Confectioners Association reports that more than 35 million pounds were manufactured in 2005, amounting to almost 9 billion kernels. ###

Rutherford 44th Labor Day A

The Borough of Rutherford held its 44th Annual Labor Day Street Fair on September 2, 2019, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Despite the spotty light rain, it was one of the most well attended street fairs in the state, attracting over 30,000 people to pursue over 200 vendors lining the streets, parks, and plazas featuring antiques, collectibles, and craft vendors from all over the East Coast.

Cliffhanger Productions brought its signature brand of entertainment to the festival with many activities to entertain the kids while the parents shopped. There were many rides and amusements, a children's stage with a costumed character musical revue, magic show, balloon artists, professional wrestlers and a variety of street performers. Local restaurants were out in force, along with some of the area's non-profit groups that provided food-related fund raising – all doing their part to make sure that festival goers kept up their energy throughout the day.

Other area non-profits had booths to provide information, engage in fundraising, and recruit volunteers.

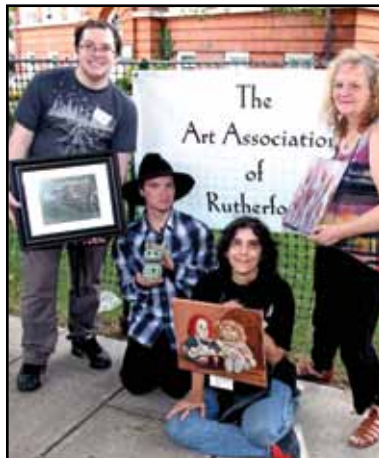

Musical entertainment was held at the Hutzel Memorial Band Shell in Rutherford's Lincoln Park starting at 11 a.m. with local artist and radio personality, Lise Avery, Jersey Sound, as well as Rutherford's own, "Luke and the Troublemakers." The Art Association of Rutherford members displayed and sold their paintings on the lawn of the Borough Hall.

Political candidates for local and state elections were visible. There was a Blood Mobile at the event.

How "October" got its name

The name, October, comes from the Latin word for eight. October used to be the eighth month. The Roman Senate tried to name the month "Antoninus," after a Roman emperor, but the people continued to call the tenth month October.

The name came from the word "octo" which means "eight" in Latin. The eighth month of a year had once been called "winterfyleth" (winter full month) as winter was supposed to begin at the October full moon. There is also some information that the month was named after a god in The Norse Mythology. ###

Smile for Halloween

As children, we can all remember the advice from our parents, “don’t take candy from strangers.” Except, the reality is that on one day per year children are encouraged and permitted to seek and ask for as much candy from others regardless if they know them.

Parents can help ensure the safety of their little costumed trick or treaters by celebrating within their costumes at a party or other group function. A controlled environment may mitigate some of the risk when trick or treating to strangers.

Another risk from the Halloween treats is the effect on the teeth. Sugary treats can cause cavities in teeth and result in pain, infections, and tooth loss. Proper brushing and flossing can reduce the affects of sugar on teeth. Some treats are better and some are worse as listed below.

Better

1- Sugar-free lollipops and hard candies: These treats stimulate saliva, which prevents dry mouth. A dry mouth allows plaque to build up on teeth faster, leading to an increased risk of cavities.

2- Sugar-free gum: Chewing gum can actually prevent cavities, not only because it helps to dislodge food particles from the teeth, but also because its increases saliva. Saliva works to neutralize the acids of the mouth and prevent tooth decay.

Thyroid Cancer Support Group

Thyroid Cancer Survivors’ Association, Inc. will meet on Thursday, October 3, 2019, from 6 to 8 p.m., at The Wood-Ridge Memorial Library. All are welcome. No registration required. ###

3- Dark Chocolates: Chocolates are loaded with sugar, but studies have shown that antioxidants in dark chocolate can be good for the heart and may even lower blood pressure. Just be sure to eat it in moderation.

Worse

1- Sugary snacks: Candy corn, cookies, and cake all contain a high amount of sugar which can cause tooth decay.

2- Chewy/sticky sweets: Gummy candies, taffy, and even dried fruit can be difficult for children and adults to resist, but they are a serious source of tooth decay, particularly when they get stuck in the crevices between teeth and make it nearly impossible for saliva to wash away.

3- Sour candies: High acid levels in these treats can break down tooth enamel quickly. Saliva slowly restores the natural balance of the acid in the mouth.

Be certain to brush and floss after consuming any of the sugary treats. Your dentist may offer other strategies to reduce the risk of tooth decay.

Health Tip Eat Greener

Eat more fruits and vegetables. Try to eat fruits and veggies for snacks as well as at main meals.

Instead of a candy bar, grab an apple. The sugars in fruits are just as full of energy, but are healthier for your body. Many Americans do not get their daily recommended amounts of fruits and vegetables.

Don't just open an extra can of peas at night either, try to add fresh fruits and vegetables to your diet as they are higher in vitamins and nutrients and have no preservatives added.

Eat organic if you can and pay attention to the flavors. You will be amazed at the differences in taste between canned, fresh and organic products. ###

Important Notice: Never trust wiring instructions sent via email.

Cyber criminals are hacking email accounts and sending emails with fake wiring instructions. These emails are convincing and sophisticated. Always independently confirm wiring instructions in person or via a telephone call to a trusted and verified phone number. Never wire money without double-checking that the wiring instructions are correct. ###

Cancelled Stamps Wanted

Fifteen years ago, in 2004, the Kiwanis Club of Hasbrouck Heights started a project collecting cancelled stamps. They came upon a letter from a Sister Ann Mary, a retired Carmelite Sister who was collecting stamps and selling them to dealers.

The money helped children at St. Benedict's Day Nursery and Infant Hospital of Georgetown, St. Vincent of the West Indies. She collected stamps until 2008. In 2008, the AARP Chapter 418 took this project as one of their own. Kiwanis Club has since disbanded.

In August of 2008, the AARP Chapter 418 found another organization that was collecting stamps. After a phone call to them (Ulseth Lodge Sons of Norway NLC) in Calumet, MI, they decided to send the cancelled stamps to them.

The Lodge collects and sends the stamps to a facility where they are sorted and packaged to sell to collectors and dealers. The proceeds are donated to the Norwegian Health System to aid physically and mentally challenged children and youth.

In June 2015, the AARP Chapter 418 disbanded. The Leisure Club of Hasbrouck Heights then took over the project. If you would like to help the Leisure Club of Hasbrouck Heights in collecting cancelled stamps, please trim the stamps to 1/4 inch around the stamps.

Old envelopes and postcards are also being collected. If envelopes, postcards etc., are more than 40 years old, please do not cut off the stamps, but save the whole envelope/postcard.

The stamps can be dropped off or sent to: The Gazette Newspaper, 345 Boulevard, Hasbrouck Heights, NJ 07604. or bring them to a Leisure Club meeting. ###

So, of course, shop for the best deal you can get. That may be with us or it may not. But before you place your business - your trust - with strangers from out of the area, please give us a call and get to know us. You'll be glad you did... Best Wishes from Our Family To Yours!

Airbnb: For You, Homeowner?

Some of the most popular lodging choices for visitors to Manhattan are not actually found in New York City. They're in New Jersey, just across the Hudson River where Airbnb and other home-sharing sites are booming, attracting travelers seeking less expensive places to stay. Much of this phenomenon occurs in Hudson County, which is among the top 30 revenue-generating counties in the nation for Airbnb hosts. But a lot of the listings posted by "the world's largest community-driven hospitality company" are in our County also, especially here in south central Bergen where the NYC commute is short and quick.

Airbnb's aim is to match two kinds of people together: those who have empty beds or houses that aren't being used, and those who need a place to stay while on business or vacation.

Airbnb isn't really designed for people who want a bed for a night – a hotel would probably suit them better. What it offers, rather, is place for travelers to lodge for several days/weeks in a row. For the property owner who has extra space that's not being used, it's a way to loan it out to people who need somewhere to stay for a few nights.

As a homeowner, think about how much of your home is basically going unused. Most people need just a few parts of their home – a spot to watch TV, a spot to sleep, a spot to cook and eat and maybe, if working from home, a spot to work. Plotting the location of family members in a typical house, researchers have found that people hung out in the kitchen or family room most of the time. All other rooms were basically unused.

Think of energy costs. A lot of the time, you're not paying to heat or cool yourself. Instead, you're paying to heat and cool stuff that's sitting in unused rooms. These empty rooms might be used to generate income if you were inclined to loan them out.

Your home is likely your biggest asset. And figuring out a way to monetize it, even just a little bit, is an easy way to put that asset to use and defray some of your living costs. It's also a good way to fix the problem of having a house that's too big for you by making sure that unused space gets used.

Airbnb has at least three different hosting options that you can research online. But before you do, it might be wise first to check with authorities to see if the Airbnb concept is legal in your town. Some communities are cracking down on Airbnb usage. This is because the service it provides is technically short-term renting, and with it comes its own web of legal issues. Some unfortunate homeowners have met legal trouble after they unknowingly let out their properties without realizing it's unlawful in their towns to do so. It's happened in East Rutherford and Lyndhurst recently.

Here also is further advice that potential Airbnb hosts would be wise to heed...

- Check with your association if you own a condominium. Many have deed restrictions or policies about renting out a property to short-term tenants.

- Check with your lender to make sure you don't have any restrictions on your mortgage note that might prevent you from participating as a temporary renter.

- Check with your insurance company. Some homeowner's insurance policies have short-term rental coverage built in. But if you're committed to Airbnb for the long haul, you may have to purchase long-term coverage used for hotels and bed & breakfasts.

- And lastly, check with your bank account. This may be most important. As a realtor, I urge our buyers not to purchase more of a home that they can handle in some expectation that some of it can be rented out in the future. This is a recipe for financial disaster...

Chore Program Helps Seniors

Since 1977, the Chore Volunteer Handyman Service of the Volunteer Center of Bergen County has been helping elderly and/or disabled people, by performing minor household repairs that clients cannot perform themselves.

The Chore Service assists in improving the quality of life of older people who are living independently.

Chore's services include installing grab bars and interior railings, smoke and carbon monoxide detectors; repairing leaky faucets or toilets, replacing broken door locks, installing weather-stripping, changing screens and storms, replacing light bulbs, replacing broken lamps and switches, installing simple electrical fixtures or replacing existing electric outlets and switches.

There are some jobs that are beyond Chore's capacity. Chore cannot service emergencies, and does not do outdoor work, painting, work requiring high ladders, tiling, door or window replacements, heavy lifting, new wiring or appliance repairs, cosmetic repairs or interior decorating.

Chore serves Bergen County residents who are at least age sixty (60) or who are permanently disabled of any age. Chore operates three vans which are staffed by 45 volunteers. Crews, comprised of a driver and two to three volunteers, are on the road every business day year round.

Each year, Chore volunteers make approximately 2,000 home visits, complete over 5,000 repairs, and log in over 10,000 hours of service.

Chore volunteers are also needed. A Chore Handyperson volunteer goes on service calls one day a week from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Volunteers enjoy being part of a crew of one or two other volunteers plus a driver. Each crew is assigned 4 to 5 service calls each weekday.

Back-up volunteer handy-men and women are also welcome.

Prospective volunteers should be able to perform minor household repairs such as those that able-bodied homeowners must do. Ideally, volunteers will be available on a regular basis so Chore can schedule a regular day with the same crew.

Chore provides service without charge; the only cost to the client is for parts necessary to complete the repair. To schedule a repair, or become a Chore Service volunteer, call 201- 489-7790. For info: <http://bergenvolunteers.org/> ###

Curtiss-Wright

On December 17, 1903, the Wright Brothers ushered in the Age of Powered Flight. The two brothers, Orville and Wilbur, were able to develop the concept of three axis control. This is still the standard method of control used today on all fixed wing aircraft. The brothers arrived at this system by observing birds, building and flying kites and gliders and the use of a homemade wind tunnel. They found that by twisting or bending the wing, like a bird, the aircraft could be banked and turned in the direction desired. This was called wing warping. They received a patent for this idea.

In 1909, the brothers formed the Wright Company, with Wilbur as president and Orville as vice president. The company opened a factory in Dayton, Ohio. This also included a flying school. To encourage sales of their aircraft, the Wrights hired and trained a group of exhibition pilots to tour the country. After the death of two pilots in flying accidents, the team was disbanded in 1910. They did sell a few aircraft to the US Army.

Glenn Curtiss first made a name for himself as a motorcycle builder and racer. He set a speed record for motorcycles, in 1907, of 136.36 miles-per-hour. This record stood until 1930. The bike was his own design. It has a 40 horsepower V8 engine, that Curtiss built. The bike is now in the Smithsonian Institution.

Alexander Graham Bell invited Curtiss to join his Aerial Experiment Association as a light engine designer and builder. The AEA built four aircraft. Number 3 was designed by Curtiss. He flew it to a height of over 5,000 feet in 1908. This plane became the basis of a series of Curtiss production aircraft.

Eugene Ely, a demonstration pilot, employed by Curtiss, in 1910, took off from a platform aboard the USS Birmingham and, in 1911, landed onboard the USS Pennsylvania, using arrestor cables. This method is now standard on modern aircraft carriers.

In an effort to circumvent the Wright's patent, Curtiss attached a tab to the rear of the wing called an aileron. Instead of twisting the wing, the aileron moved up or down, duplicating the same effect, causing bank and turn. However, the Wright Brothers saw this as a violation of their patent.

The Wright Company instituted a number of lawsuits against Curtiss and other aircraft manufacturers, both foreign and domestic. This would drag on until the start of WW I, when the US Government demanded that all parties settle the matter. Wilbur died in 1912 and Orville sold the company in 1915.

The Curtiss Company was the only American aircraft manufacturer to build planes that were used in combat. Curtiss built a series of flying boats, designed to take off and land on water, used by England, Canada, France and America. Curtiss also built the JN-4 (Jenny) trainer used by the Allies. By the end of the war they were the largest aircraft company in America. They were producing 100 planes a week and made over 10,000 by the war's end. Glenn Curtiss cashed in his stock in the company to the amount of 32 million dollars and retired to Florida in 1920.

The Wright Company would team up with the Martin Aircraft Company in 1917, to produce the Hispano Suiza engine, used in Allied fighter planes. These engines were built in New Brunswick, NJ. The end of the war saw the partnership dissolve and each company went their separate ways. The name was changed in 1919 to the Wright Aeronautical Corporation. The company now focused on building air cooled aircraft engines.

Operations were shifted from New Brunswick to a new factory in Paterson, NJ. At this location the Wright Whirlwind series of engines were developed. These engines were supplied to the US Navy. A Whirlwind Model J-5 powered Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis aircraft and those of Richard Byrd, Floyd Bennett and Amelia Earhart.

The Curtiss-Wright Corporation was formed with the merger of the Curtiss Airplane and Motor Company with the Wright Corporation and a few smaller companies in 1929. During the 1930s, they employed over 2,400 workers. Development was started on the more powerful Cyclone series of engines. The Cyclone engine was the first to exceed 1,000 horsepower.

With the start of WW II, there was a high demand for both the Whirlwind and Cyclone engines. The demand for Whirlwind engines was such that they were built under license by other contractors. The Whirlwind powered various flight trainer airplanes and armored vehicles such as the M-4 Sherman Tank and the M-18 Hellcat tank destroyer.

A new complex was built in Wood-Ridge, NJ. This would encompass an area of 140 acres and have 20 buildings. This amounted to about one third of the total area of the Borough of Wood-Ridge. The complex extended both above and below ground. It had a hospital, day care center, fire and police units. The site was also protected by anti-aircraft guns. At that time there were over 27,000 employed there.

This complex was a major supplier of aircraft engines. The Cyclone family of air cooled engines powered the Douglas DC 3/C 47, Boeing B-17, North American B-25 and the Boeing B-29, during the war.

The B-29 was powered by the Wright R-3350 Duplex-Cyclone. It had 18 cylinders in a twin row radial configuration. It was air cooled, supercharged and produced 2,200 horsepower. After the war, both the Douglas DC 7 and the Lockheed Super Constellation passenger aircraft were powered with an improved Cyclone engine that produced around 3,500 horsepower.

A highly modified R-3350 Cyclone was installed in a private racing plane called the "Rare Bear." This is a surplus Grumman F-8-F Bearcat. The engine is fitted with Nitrous Oxide injection. It is rated at 4,000 horsepower, but when the Nitrous Oxide is injected, the engine produces 4,500 horsepower. "Rare Bear" holds the world speed record for piston powered engines. It reached a speed of 528.33 mph on August 21, 1989.

In the 1950s, jet engines replaced piston engines for military and commercial aviation. Curtiss-Wright did not pursue that field of propulsion. The company geared down engine production and focused on producing parts for nuclear submarines. They diversified into plastics and electronics.

By the late 1970s, all operations at Curtiss-Wright, Wood-Ridge ended. This would lead to a decades long fight between the Borough of Wood-Ridge and Curtiss-Wright Corporation over back taxes. The issue was resolved in the early 2000s. At that time the land was sold. The east end of the property was developed by the Avalon Corporation. They have built a large townhouse complex called Avalon at Wesmont Station. At last count there were over 700 units. New Jersey Transit Rail Operations has built a station here for local commuters. The west end of the former property is now the Wood-Ridge Industrial Complex. It has 8 buildings with 2.3 million square feet of space available to be utilized by tenants. There is also a railroad siding for tenant use.

The Curtiss-Wright Wood-Ridge complex was a major contributor to America's victory in WW II and becoming the world power we are today. ###

Artful Thinking

By Artie Maglionico • Lodi Historian

"The Kids from Westervelt Place," A Christmas Adventure. Part One

It was a brisk, overcast Saturday morning in mid-November in the year 1958. There was snow in the forecast and I was praying that the storm would hold off until Sunday evening. Why waste a good snow storm on a Saturday? There's no school anyway, so what's the point, am I right folks? Snowfall on a Sunday night brought with it the possibility of a three day weekend. Of course, back in the 50s it had to be at least 2 feet or better before the Lodi Board of Education cancelled classes. If it was going to snow let it fall with all of its fury on a Sunday night and yes, let it be heavy.

Those were my thoughts and prayers as I laid sprawled across the living room rug with my dog, Dusty, at my side watching my favorite Saturday morning TV programs: Sky King, Andy's Gang, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, and Mighty Mouse. Every so often my older brother Eugene "Soupy" would pull rank on me and switch the channel to a "Learn to Draw" program hosted by a renowned artist by the name of Jon Gnagy. This was one of those days. My brother walked in carrying his art supplies and the next thing I knew I was at the kitchen table contemplating the possibility of working on a book report that was assigned three weeks earlier and due the following Friday. I was beginning to feel the pressure which was coming at me from all angles and carried with them the face of my mother, Lena.

The subject I had chosen was Astronomy. My head was always in outer space so I figured the topic would not be "Alien" to me. I was lucky enough to have cashed in on my brother's artistic prowess by convincing him to design the cover and make it look like I did it. "If you want it to look like you did then do it yourself!" he told me in no uncertain terms.

"If I do it" he continued "your teacher might suspect that you're a fraud." "I'll take my chances" I replied and let him create my masterpiece.

Now that that was settled all I had to do was get him to write the report. The idea of me writing it had the same effect as did the cover. It was a fleeting thought that sent a spasm down my spine. I knew nothing at all about Astronomy except, for what I had learned on Flash Gordon. Again Nothing! Lena suggested, strongly I might add, that I go to The Library and read a book on the planets. The words "read" and "planets" collided like two asteroids over the vast, crater riddled wasteland of my mind and vaporized. The only planets that I was even remotely familiar with were the sun and the moon. All I needed to know about the sun was that you'd go blind if you looked at it and, with the help of a magnifying glass, you could burn holes in things. As far as the moon went, all I knew was that a man lived in it, it was made of green cheese and a cow jumped over it. Hardly enough information to base an entire book report on.

Suddenly, as if by divine intervention, my thought process was shattered by the uproarious entrance of our egg man, Mr. Korbin Heisse. It was a Saturday morning ritual. He'd enter in a whirlwind of enthusiastic hello's announcing in operatic fashion that he was indeed the "Egg Man." My dog would slip side across the kitchen floor barking out of control. My mom would tell him to be quiet, he'd obey, then she'd purchase a dozen eggs. It was like clockwork and on this particular Saturday I could not have timed it better if I tried. Before you could say "the yokes on you" I was out the side door walking merrily but swiftly down Arnot Street to the corner store to meet up with kids from Westervelt Place. They were all there: Kenny, Bruce, Johnny Rannou, my cousin Anthony, Rocco, and Alan. They made room for me on the tile covered show case beneath a store front window on the Arnot Street side outside of which were placed two large bread boxes.

On the Westervelt Place side was another large window under which was home to an assortment of potatoes including a basket full of sweet potatoes in anticipation of Thanksgiving and the arrival of the Christmas season.

Rocco was behind the counter with his older sister, Mary, waiting on a customer. Their Dad, Louis, the owner of the store, was grinding chopped meat. He was donned in a heavy flannel shirt for when he entered the walk-in freezer. Over his shirt he wore a white meat stained apron and over his ear was placed a pencil. There was always a Camel cigarette burning in the ash tray next to the cash register behind him. In the background was heard the strains of the phonograph belting out the sound of Billy May and his orchestra playing "Lu Lu's Back in Town." Everything was unfolding the way it was supposed to. It was perfect. There wasn't much for a kid to talk about back then. Perhaps a TV show, a new bike that they saw on a commercial and stuff like that. Our conversations were always cut short by the desire to actually do something. During the summer months we always found ways to entertain ourselves. If we weren't playing Army or kick the can we were in the gutter bursting tar bubbles. In the colder months we really had to get creative. We didn't have to wait long to come up with a plan. In walked the three Davis Brothers. The youngest was creasing the air around him with a large speckled feather. "Where'd you get that?" asked my cousin Anthony.

The oldest brother chimed in and told us that they were just at the chicken market where workers were unloading a bunch of Thanksgiving turkeys into a large pen behind the store. "Feathers were flying all over the place!" he said.

That's all we had to hear. We never saw a real turkey, a real live one that is. This would be a first. It was settled without uttering a word. We were going to the chicken market to get a 'bird's eye view' (there I go again) of a bunch of turkeys on their way to someone's Thanksgiving celebration. What fun!

In my August column I wrote about a Lodi resident who served in Vietnam. Unfortunately I broke the cardinal rule of journalism by misspelling his name. His correct name is Dan Galdo. Thanks again for your service to our country. I'm sorry for the faux pas. Artie

POW MIA Site Dedicated

Ford-Nelson-O'Sullivan Post No. 277 celebrating 100 years has recently completed and dedicated a POW MIA Memorial on September 20, 2019.

It consists of a "Chair of Honor" for Prisoners of War – Missing in Action and a headstone with the inscription "This unoccupied chair is in honor of those who are still Prisoners of War (POW) or Missing in Action (MIA), and symbolizes there will always be a place in the Village awaiting their return. YOU WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN."

Post 277 donated its Post home and property to the Village of Ridgefield Park in 2014 with the exception of the northwest corner that would remain a Memorial site to the members of Post 277.

The area was completely renovated and raised up with new pavers, flag pole and headstone honoring the five branches of the military. The cannon was sand blasted and repainted.

Stop by and admire a lasting tribute to the men and women that served our nation. It is located at 109 Bergen Turnpike, Ridgefield Park. ###

September 11th Remembered

LITTLE FERRY -- The Little Ferry 9-11 Memorial was moved from the Memorial School to the Shannon Dalton Forde Memorial Field, to a newly constructed memorial, with a view of the Freedom Tower across the Hackensack River.

The program began with a dedication of the sign at the memorial entrance. Mayor Mauro D. Raguseo and Superintendent of Schools Frank Scarafile were the keynote speakers.

The National Anthem was sung by Ms. Lily Schwedhelm. Paul Bruno, Pastor, Evangel Christian Church, gave both the Invocation and Benediction.

Veterans unveiled the WTC steel. The Mayor and Council placed the wreath. Taps was played by Vietnam Veteran Joseph Wisneski. Memorial School students were in attendance. ###

MOONACHIE -- Due to the rebuilding of the Municipal complex, the original 9-11 Memorial was dismantled and staged at the Civic Center for many years. As the new Municipal complex has been completed, a new 9-11 Memorial was constructed, and this was the inaugural remembrance service.

The program began with a welcome by Mayor Dennis Vaccaro. Invocation and Benediction given by Pastor Martha Day, First Presbyterian Church.

The RLC School Singers led the Pledge of Allegiance, sang both the "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America." Speakers included Police Chief Richard Behrens and Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Jonathan Ponds. First Assistant Fire Chief William G. Hunt and First Aid & Rescue Squad Captain Frank Smith placed the Memorial Wreath. Councilwoman Kathy Kinsella thanked those for their military service. ###

LFFD Inspection/Memorial

The Little Ferry Fire Department held their annual inspection and memorial service on Saturday, September 7, 2019. This year's outdoor event took place at Little Ferry Firemen's Monument plaza located center-of-town at the crossroads of Kavrik Street & Marshall Avenue.

Following a proud tradition, the LFFD Honor Guard presented the colors as Firefighters stood in line formation. The program began with the Pledge of Allegiance and National Anthem. The invocation was delivered by Hose Co. #1 Ladies Auxiliary President Donna Kral. Fire Chief Anthony DiBlasio welcomed Department members and guests, introduced the 2019 Fire Officers and recognized retired LFFD Life Members who had served in the Department for 25 Years or more.

Deputy Chief Marty Loesner read the "LFFD Honor Roll" of departed members, which was followed by the sounding of the firemen's "Third Alarm," playing of Taps and concluded with a Departmental hand salute. Memorial wreaths were placed at the Firemen's Monument in memory of LFFD's deceased firemen and Ladies Auxiliary members.

Chief DiBlasio performed a membership roll call which was followed by an inspection of assembled firefighters and the Fire Department's apparatus. Little Ferry Mayor, Mauro Raguseo, members of the Borough Council as well as Mutual Aid Fire Chiefs were in attendance. Board of Fire Officers Secretary, Brian Busico, gave the closing prayer. The program was concluded with the playing of "God Bless America."

Chief DiBlasio thanked all who support the LFFD and gave special thanks to the members' families who make sacrifices which allow members to be firefighters. An Inspection Dinner was held later that evening where Membership Certificates & Service Year Awards were presented to a number of active members for their years of dedication and service. Provided by Brian Busico. ###

Fire Prevention Week October 6-12 Not Every Hero Wears a Cape. Plan and Practice Your Escape

Your Fire Department is teaming up with the National Fire Protection Association® (NFPA®)—the official sponsor of Fire Prevention Week for more than 90 years. According to Hasbrouck Fire Chief Angelo Roccamo, "This year's Fire Prevention Week, October 6-12, 2019, campaign recognizes the everyday people who motivate their households to develop and practice a home fire escape plan; these seemingly basic behaviors can have life-saving impact."

Wood-Ridge Fire Chief Elizabeth Ferry said, "Not Every Hero Wears a Cape. Plan and Practice Your Escape!" also focuses on what a home escape plan entails and the value of practicing it."

Moonachie Fire Chief Justin Derevyaniuk stated, "These messages are more important than ever, particularly because today's homes burn faster than ever"; noting that synthetic fibers used in modern home furnishings, along with the fact that newer homes tend to be built with more open spaces and unprotected lightweight construction, are contributing factors to the increased burn rate.

"People tend to underestimate their risk to fire, particularly at home. That over-confidence lends itself to a complacency toward home escape planning and practice," said Little Ferry Fire Chief Anthony DiBlasio. Lodi Fire Chief Ron Cannici added, "But in a fire situation, we've seen time and again that advance planning can make a potentially life-saving difference."

South Hackensack Fire Chief Jerry D'Amico noted that "A home escape plan includes working smoke alarms on every level of the home, in every bedroom, and near all sleeping areas."

Wallington Fire Chief Kyle Mizdol added, "It also includes two ways out of every room, usually a door and a window, with a clear path to an outside meeting place (like a tree, light pole or mailbox) that's a safe distance from the home."

East Rutherford Fire Chief David Alberta emphasized, "Home escape plans should be practiced twice a year by all members of the household."

Carlstadt Fire Chief Henry Riveros said, "The campaign "Not Every Hero Wears a Cape. Plan and Practice Your Escape!" works to educate everyone about the small but important actions they can take to keep themselves and those around them safe."

NFPA statistics show that in 2017 U.S. fire departments responded to 357,000 home structure fires. These fires caused 2,630 fire deaths and 10,600 fire injuries. On average, seven people died in a fire in a home per day during 2012 to 2016.

"These numbers show that home fires continue to pose a significant threat to safety," said Rutherford Fire Chief Scott Koen. "In a typical home fire, you may have as little as one to two minutes to escape safely from the time the smoke alarm sounds. Escape planning and practice can help you make the most of the time you have, giving everyone enough time to get out."

Mutual Aid Fire Chiefs stressed these messages apply to virtually any location.

"Situational awareness is a skill people need to use wherever they go," said Ridgefield Park Fire Chief John Antola Jr. "No matter where you are, look for available exits. If the alarm system sounds, take it seriously and exit the building immediately."

To find out more about Fire Prevention Week programs in your town, please contact your Fire Department. For more general information about Fire Prevention Week and home escape planning, visit www.fpw.org ###

Test all the smoke alarms in your home, for the life of the alarm and for the lives of your loved ones."
