Harvest Moon

The September full moon appears on Friday, September 16, 2016, at 3:05 p.m. It is called the "Full Harvest Moon."

According to "The Farmer's Almanac," this full moon occurs closest to the autumn equinox. The Harvest Moon usually comes in September, but in some years it occurs in October. At the peak of harvest, farmers can work late into the night by the light of this moon. Corn, pumpkins, squash, beans and wild rice, the chief Indian staples, are now ready for gathering. It was also called the "Full Corn Moon" or "Full Barley Moon."

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to each recurring full moon. European settlers followed the custom. ###

So here is September. The new month brings cooler weather. It also brings the excitement of the new football season for those that care. Fans go to the closet and get their jerseys out. Every team starts off on an equal footing and the games begin. Last year's failures are forgotten, in the hope that they won't be repeated this year.

You may have heard the term "play 60." It's a reference to playing the whole game, not just part of it. How many times have you seen a team play well for 3 quarters and in the 4th die out on the field from exhaustion and lose the game? It happens all the time.

A couple games with losses from that are enough to keep a team out of the playoffs. Frustrating to fans but the lesson is one of the most important. If they don't play the whole game your team don't deserve to win and probably won't.

This lesson doesn't come from the field of sports though. It comes from the field of battle long before the NFL.

In 1781 General Nathaniel Greene wanted to remove all of the British forces from South Carolina. The Revolutionary War was in its 6th year. He had a little over 2,000 men under his command and he decided to remove the last British outpost in South Carolina which was Fort Ninety Six.

He laid siege to the outpost but when it was reported that Lord Rawdon and his troops were making their approach on Ninety Six, Greene lifted the siege.

Rawdon and his British troops chased Greene and his men for days but could not catch him. Rawdon abandoned the pursuit. He burned Ninety Six and fell back into Charleston.

Greene rested his men along the Santee River. Sending detachments to harass the British operating in Charleston they waited for the next move.

From Charleston came the British Colonel Alexander Stewart and 2,000 men.

Their goal was to find General Greene's Army and defeat it. Stewart also camped along the Santee River at a place called Eutaw Springs, a couple of miles from the town of today's Eutawville, South Carolina.

Here the Eutaw Creek flows into the Santee and also Nelson's Ferry is nearby. Under trees in a nice shady place, it was a nice spot to rest his troops. In what appeared to be general safety.

Now General Greene decided to surprise Stewart and attack his camp. He was within 7 miles of the British camp and Stewart admitted that although he was looking for Greene's force he had failed to locate them, even though the Americans were so close.

On September 8, 1781 General Greene marched his command to the British camp. His order of battle was this. Three lines were formed.

In the first line were the North and South Carolina Militia under the Command of Brigadier General Francis Marion and General Andrew Pickens. Some Virginia dragoons under Colonel Henry Lee were also in the front.

The second line was composed of Maryland and Virginia Continentals under the command of Brigadier General Jethro Sumner.

The third line was a reserve line of cavalry led by Lt. Colonel William Washington and Delaware Continentals led by Captain Robert Kirkwood. General Greene and his small Army marched down the River Road to Eutaw Springs and the British camp.

Now, Stewart was unaware of the approach of the Americans. He sent out a detachment of troops to forage for food.

There were 350 men in this detachment. They were digging for potatoes, certainly not a glorious task for soldiers when one signs up to be a soldier, but a necessary one to obtain food.

Going about their duty would be no big deal except they were currently unarmed. Two deserters from the American side alerted Colonel Stewart that the Americans were coming.

Realizing the bad spot his foragers were in he sent out John Coffin, a local Tory operating with the British Army, in command of 150 men on horse and foot to retrieve his foraging party.

Coffin and his men ran into Lee's Dragoons and a skirmish quickly ensued. Coffin thought it's a small party of rebels so he presses an attack, but while Lee had to await the rest of the main body of troops to come up to support him, they fired into Coffin's men.

Coffin took losses and realized he needed to get back to camp and fell back. Greene's troops come up and more than one letter from the times explained that many of the troops had been emptying casks of rum.

Liquor and warfare should never be mixed but it ain't the first time some men drank up some courage. It just doesn't end well when that happens.

Greene deployed his first line and on they marched down the road. Stewart hurriedly formed his battle line. It was a single line of troops.

The third regiment was on his right flank with Grenadiers under Major John Majoribanks. Loyalist troops held his center.

These troops are the same as the troops that left Fort Ninety Six. His left was covered by the 63rd and the 64th Regiment. Behind them in reserve were Coffin and his mounted troops. Nine o'clock in the morning the two lines converged.

The British presented a field piece in the center and fired away. Lee paused to bring up his own cannons and they dueled back and forth till they were all put out of action dismounted and disabled.

Lee's infantry and Stewart's infantry fired volley after volley in a bloody beginning to the battle. The battle lines were close and the volley went from flank to flank as both sides fired at one another.

Stewart's left flank for some reason advanced without Stewart's orders. This advance pushed in Greene's right flank and center. Greene said that these British troops stood with a "firmness that would have graced the Veterans of the great King of Prussia."

Greene was forced to advance his second line in support. His North Carolina Continentals now entered the battle.

This added fire power drove back the British advance to its original position. Coffin had to use his reserves to bolster the British line as well.

Greene decided to press the attack. He ordered his Maryland and Virginia Continentals in his second line to attack with the bayonet. He also ordered Lee to charge on Stewart's right flank with William Washington's cavalry.

Washington's cavalry charged Majoribank's position but the blackjack oak that grows in this part of the country slowed the attack down because the horses could not penetrate through this brush.

Washington was bayoneted and taken prisoner. Lee has better success as his men poured a destructive fire into the British left, combined with the bayonet charge on the left side of the British line by the Marylanders trailing arms shattered the British left side.

The British fell back on this side and soon the whole line was in retreat. The British ran through their own campsite. Many entered a house that sat in rear of the camp. They used this house to fire from the windows and pick off troops chasing them through the camp.

Oddly, most of the Americans stopped in the camp to take things they needed. Blankets, cups, food all the things many of them didn't have.

Here is where they needed to play 60. Greene had victory in hand but the men didn't follow up on the route of the British.

American officers ran through the camp and were being shot at from the house only to find that they are alone and their men stopped in the camp, many enjoying the fruits of a believed victory and partaking in some camp site rum. Greene tried to rally his men to complete the victory but it was no use.

Majoribanks and Coffin now seeing what had happened rallied their own fleeing troops and counter attacked. They drove the Americans out of the camp.

Greene ordered a strong picket to enter the area again and pick up the wounded men that were not too close to the house. The house had now become a strong position for the British. Once the wounded that could be taken were collected, Greene ordered a retreat.

The Battle of Eutaw Springs was over. Greene was no doubt disappointed in the outcome of the battle he knew he should have won, but the men decided that the battle was over before it actually was.

All the effort in the battle was wasted on not completing the victory so close at hand. Dead on the field were 139 Americans with 375 wounded.

The British suffered more. There were 85 dead and another 297 wounded. They also lost 430 soldiers as prisoners of war. Stewart on September 9, 1781 abandoned the field. He left his dead unburied and 70 of his wounded comrades in the field.

The gallant Majoribanks that helped Stewart steal a victory from certain defeat, took a wound and died in a Negro cabin on the Wantoot Plantation. He was buried next to the road.

All rivers shift and move in time and today most of the Battle site of Eutaw Springs is covered by the Santee River. It's covered by water and time, all but forgotten.

It is a lasting reminder for anyone that takes time to learn.....you got to play the full 60 because you can be sure your opponent will.

Somebody forward this to the Giants and Jets before the lesson is lost along with another season. ###

The Jerseymen at Gettysburg

Part 2 of 7 Cavalry

The 1st New Jersey Volunteer Cavalry Regiment was able to overcome nepotism and internal strife, when it was first formed, to become one of the best cavalry regiments in the Union Army.

The regiment was first formed by William Halstead, a former Congressman from New Jersey. This old time politician, in his late 60s, would fill all of the leadership positions with his family and friends.

Only one man would have any military training, Major Myron Beaumont, and he was of less than noble character, as history would show. Troop B was filled with men from Bergen, Middlesex and Passaic Counties.

After assembling at Trenton, they were shipped to Washington, DC. The site assigned to camp was too small for both men and horses. Some of the men had not received their uniforms, nor were they armed.

These men had to stand guard with only sticks. Colonel Halstead was absent much of the time meeting with his old political pals. There was little or no training, as the officers and NCOs had no experience. Sanitation was neglected and men began to get sick and some to die.

At one point, one hundred and fifty-seven men were reported sick. Discipline began to unravel as officers began to fight among themselves and tried to curry favor with the enlisted men.

The Governor stepped in and appointed Joseph Karge, a former Prussian cavalryman, as Lieutenant Colonel.

When Halstead went on sick leave, Karge instituted regular drills and training, forced out incompetent officers and got uniforms and equipment for the entire regiment.

When Halstead returned, he was furious over the fact that so many of his family and friends had been forced to leave the Army.

As the officers of the regiment were openly arguing and the men had nothing to do, some began to desert. General Stoneman recommended that the regiment be broken up and the men sent to other regiments. Halstead resigned.

Sir Percy Wyndham, a British soldier of fortune, with experience in the British Army and Navy, French Navy, Austrian Lancers and as a cavalry officer with Garibaldi in Italy, where he was knighted by the King of Italy, was appointed Colonel.

Both Wyndham and Karge soon had the regiment in first rate condition. The payoff would come at the Battle of Brandy Station on June 9, 1863.

This battle was the largest cavalry battle of the Civil War. The 1st slashed its way through both the 12th and 35th Virginia Cavalry Regiments. They were then hit by the 6th Virginia and were forced back. Wyndham received a leg wound and would leave the Army.

As the Army of the Potomac advanced in pursuit of Lee, the 1st guarded the right of the Army. They arrived at Gettysburg on July 2, and were placed to guard the right flank, east of Culp's Hill.

That evening the Confederate Stonewall Brigade ran into the position held by the 1st, and were repelled with no losses.

The next day they were sent to relieve another regiment. However, they were slow to come up because Major Beaumont, temporary in command, had gone sick. He had the habit of going on sick call whenever there was a chance of a fight.

Major Hugh Janeway quickly brought up two squadrons (a squadron had four cavalry troops) and Major Beaumont, miraculously cured, led the third squadron up in support.

The troopers dismounted and took a position behind a stone wall. They then opened fire, with their carbines, on Confederate pickets across the way. This went on for some time before they began to run low on carbine ammunition.

Another regiment was sent up to support them. They borrowed some ammunition, but it soon ran out. Rather than withdraw, they drew their revolvers and fired them.

They were then ordered to withdraw so that the artillery could have a clear field of fire on the oncoming Confederate cavalry.

Confederate General J. E. B. Stuart advanced his command in an attempt to get to the rear of Union forces at Gettysburg. This charge was met head on by a Union regiment led by General George A. Custer.

The 1st New Jersey remounted and charged into the left side of the Confederate column. One New Jersey trooper is credited with inflicting two saber wounds to Confederate General Wade Hampton. Stuart was stopped cold here. The regiment had 9 wounded from this fight.

The 1st New Jersey would end the war at Appomattox, Virginia in 1865. They had participated in 97 engagements. Twelve members received the Medal of Honor.

They overcame both internal and external adversity to become the sixth highest rated cavalry regiment in the Union Army. Provided by Civil War Enthusiast Jim Halloran. ###

Carlstadt
Lt. Beese of Carlstadt Police Department reports that there are 20 crossing guards posted throughout the Borough on all school days from 7:45 a.m.– 9 a.m. and 2:45 p.m.– 4 p.m. Please obey the directions of the crossing guards in those areas.

There are approximately 600 students that are dropped off and picked up at Carlstadt Public School every school day. Please follow the following rules.

- Do not park in the drop off zones. They are for dropping off and picking up of students only.
- Parents can use the auxiliary parking lot located at the north/west corner of the school, (next to the basketball courts) which can be entered from Garden Street.
- Please do not turn left from Washington Street on to Summit Avenue, when dropping off and picking up students. This disrupts the flow of traffic.
- Please do not park within 25 feet of a crosswalk or 50 feet of a stop sign. This makes it difficult for the crossing guards to see moving vehicles clearly and be able to safely cross the children.

East Rutherford
The East Rutherford Police Department reports there are currently 26 school crossing guards posted throughout their Borough. All guards will be wearing a lime green vest and have a STOP paddle. There are also multiple School Bus Drop off/Pickup Zones. Drivers are reminded to obey all directions given by the school crossing guards.

- East Rutherford Police deploys two message boards to remind drivers of Traffic Laws, “Stop for Pedestrians in Crosswalks,” “Click it or Ticket,” “No Cellphone use while driving” and “Drivers’ Speeds.”
- Their officers actively conduct radar enforcement and Pedestrian Decoy details throughout the Borough. They also have in street and roadside Pedestrian Crossing signs located throughout the Borough.
- Parents are reminded to follow the following school safety details:
- Faust School: Parents can drop off their children on either Uhland Street or Everett Place. DO NOT DOUBLE PARK! DO NOT PARK IN THE AREAS PAINTED YELLOW.
 - McKenzie School: Parents can drop off their children at either New Street or Wall

- Street. These are Drop-Off Zones Only.
- Do not leave your vehicle if you are in a drop off zone. You may be ticketed. Both drop-off locations are monitored by school aides.
- Becton High School: Parents can drop off at the main entrance located off Wildcat Way. This is a very busy pedestrian/vehicle area, drivers should use extreme caution. Students that use the Vreeland Avenue/Paterson Avenue crossing are reminded to cross by the crossing guard.
- Students that drive and park near the high school shall obey ALL parking regulations, ie: Alternate Side Parking, No Parking within 25’ of a crosswalk and No Parking within 50’ of a stop sign.
- East Rutherford Police Department’s goal is to have all students arrive at school and return home safely.
- Any questions call Traffic Bureau Office at 201-438-6364, Email mrotondo@erpd.org

Hasbrouck Heights
As the new school year begins, Lt. Ian Robertson reminds drivers: “There are 15 school crossing locations in town.

- School crossing guards are present during school days between 7:45 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.
- School crossing guards wear lime green vests and hold portable blinking LED stop signs.
- Additionally, there are four walking school bus routes with a large number of students.
- Drivers should exercise caution at these locations, especially during inclement weather and periods of sun glare.

- Dropping students off at Heights schools:*
- At schools, Lt. Robertson reminds drivers not to park in the yellow zones or double park -- especially during inclement weather, letting off or taking on passengers in moving traffic.
 - Do not park in designated drop-off zones at dismissal time.
 - At Corpus Christi School, don’t park in the Oradell Veterinary Group parking lot.
 - When dropping off or picking up students at the Jr./Sr. High School main entrance at The Boulevard, do not park in the yellow zone, at the bus stop or double park on The Boulevard.
 - At the LaSalle Avenue entrance, no parking, dropping off or picking up students in the yellow zone where no parking or no standing signs are posted. This violation creates a hazard for students and impedes Bou-

- levard/LaSalle traffic flow.
- Use the specially designated drop-off zone in the morning that is clearly marked by traffic cones from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.
 - Paterson Avenue entrance, no double parking. No “K” turns to avoid Paterson/Boulevard intersection.

Little Ferry
Students and parents are reminded to cross only at designated areas where school crossing guards are located and to cross only when instructed to do so by the crossing guard.

- The Borough of Little Ferry has 14 designated school crossing locations throughout the Borough. School crossing guards are present school days from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.
- Parents are reminded to be extra vigilant when dropping off and picking up students.
- Drivers are warned that the Little Ferry Police Department has a ZERO TOLERANCE POLICY for motorists who violate motor vehicle laws in a designated school zone.

Lodi
There are 25 school crossing guards posted throughout the Borough. All guards will be present during school days from 7:30 a.m. until 9 a.m., 11:15 a.m. until 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. until 3:45 p.m.

Both parents and students are to cross ONLY at intersections where guards are posted.

When picking up or dropping off students do not park in the Drop-off Zone.

Special attention at Wilson School: The drop-off zone is located on Liberty Street ONLY. No students should be dropped off on Prospect Street.

This is both a danger to students and backs up traffic on Union Street.

- Special attention at Washington School:* No students are to be dropped off on Kennedy Drive. The drop off is located on Mitchell Street, where the Crossing Guard is posted.
- DO NOT park next to curbs that are painted yellow for student safety reasons. Vehicles parked in the yellow curb area obstruct the vision of oncoming vehicles.
- On Borig Street, at the intersection of Main Street, there is a No Left Turn Sign posted. Left turns there create a danger to students crossing at the intersection of Main Street and Garibaldi Avenue.
- There will be Police Officers posted at all the schools when students are present both before and after school. This Borough will have ZERO TOLERANCE for any motor vehicle infractions in posted school areas.

“Let’s make this a safe school year,” stated Sgt. Russell Inserra, Traffic Division.

- Moonachie
- Students are reminded to cross only at intersections where crossing guards are present and to only cross when instructed to by the crossing guard.
 - Crossing guards are present on all school days from 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., and 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Crossing guards are posted at Metropolitan Trailer Park from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m. and from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m.
 - Parents are reminded that when dropping off children at the Robert L. Craig School the driveway is for drop-off only, there is no parking in the circular driveway.
 - When picking up children after school there is still no parking allowed in the driveway and when parking you should park in a marked parking spot. Do not double park or block another car that is parked in a spot.
 - Please drive with extra care and follow the directions given by the school crossing guards.
 - New Jersey State law requires that all passengers under 8 years old or under 80 lbs. be secured in a child passenger restraint system or a booster in the rear seat. All passengers 8 years old or over 80 lbs., as well as the driver and the front seat passenger of an automobile, must wear a properly adjusted and fastened safety belt system.
 - All drivers are reminded to drive with extra caution in all areas where children are.
 - Buckle up and drive safely.

Rutherford
Rutherford Traffic Coordinator Officer William Gumbman reports that:

- Students are reminded to cross only at intersections where crossing guards are present and to cross only when directed to do so.
- Parents are reminded that the areas adjacent to the schools are for drop-off/ pick up ONLY. Do not park your vehicle in these areas.
- The Borough of Rutherford has 19 designated school crossing locations throughout the Borough.

School crossing guards are present school days from 7:45 a.m. to 8:45 a.m., 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

- Drivers are warned that the Rutherford Police Department has a ZERO TOLERANCE POLICY for motorists who violate motor vehicle laws in designated school zones.

- Wood-Ridge
Lt. Witkowski, Wood-Ridge Traffic Officer, reports that there are 13 crossing guards posted throughout the Borough with the hours being 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:15 p.m. to 3:25 p.m.
- Additionally, Auxiliary Officer and Crossing Guard, Kevin Metcalfe, is posted in front of the W-R High School.
- Utilize the drop-off zones on First and Second Streets for the Wood-Ridge Intermediate School (previously known as Assumption School).
 - Utilize the drop-off zone on Windsor Road for Ostrovsky School.
 - Do not park in Kohler Funeral Home parking lot.
 - The Catherine E. Doyle School now has three drop-off zones to improve flow around the school. They are located at Wood-Ridge Avenue, Twelfth Street and Highland Avenue. The traffic flow is currently being evaluated and residents will be notified.
 - Please obey the directions of the crossing guards in those areas.
 - An agreement has been reached with the Bergen County Vocational School located on Valley Boulevard. They will have an employee of the school monitor the bus parking in that area. No longer will buses be permitted to park 25 feet from an intersection or 50 feet from a stop sign. This will be a great help in the traffic flow around the school for W-R residents.

“School’s Open-- Drive Carefully!”

Traffic officials also stated that, “The greatest threat children face today is motor vehicle crashes.”

To help protect children, motorists should follow these safety tips:

- Slow down near schools and in residential areas.
- Drive with your headlights on - even during the day - so children and other drivers can see you.
- Scan between parked cars and other objects for signs of children.
- Always stop for school busses that are loading or unloading students. ###

Hasbrouck Heights Seniors Cruise on Toms River

Thirty-nine seniors enjoyed a relaxing day on July 21, 2016. It included a riverboat cruise, lunch at a waterfront restaurant and shopping at the famous 60,000 square foot retail market. Dorothy Murray made all the arrangements for the trip that was sponsored by the Leisure Club.

The weather was perfect for the 1 1/2-hour cruise aboard the River Lady. The boat is the only genuine paddle wheel boat in the state. It was built in 1989 and is a reproduction of a riverboat.

The cruise was along the Toms River and Barnegat Bay. The water was calm and the breeze was refreshing. The boat navigator did a great job narrating the history of the area, which was educational as well as enjoyable.

After the cruise, the group was escorted to the Captain's Inn, a waterfront restaurant, where they relished a leisurely lunch. The entrée selections included Roasted Loin of Pork; Stuffed Chicken Gismonda (spinach, sundried tomato & cheese); or Broiled Seafood Combination (flounder, scallops, clams casino, & salmon). All meals were served with soup, salad, potato and vegetables as well as dessert and beverage.

The day ended with a visit to Delicious Orchards, which is a 60,000 square foot retail market specializing in fresh fruits and vegetables. They also have a wide array of baked goods all made on site in their scratch bakery.

They are the home to the finest meat and cheeses with unique deli, prepared foods and grocery sections. Photo and story by Marie and Peter Gallo Jr. ###

Preventing Tooth Erosion

Tooth erosion, or tooth wear, is the loss of the surrounding tooth structure. This loss occurs when the hard part of your teeth—which is called the enamel—is worn away by acid. Over time, this erosion can leave your teeth sensitive, cracked, and discolored.

What causes tooth erosion? Acid is the main cause of tooth erosion.

So, drinking carbonated beverages, energy and sports drinks, and pure fruit juice, which all contain high levels of acid, can cause tooth erosion, especially when consumed in large amounts.

Certain medical conditions, including acid reflux and bulimia, also can cause tooth erosion because they cause increased levels of stomach acids in the mouth.

What are the signs and symptoms of tooth erosion?

Blood Drive September 9

The St. Anthony Council #11585, Knights of Columbus, in Wood-Ridge, will once again be hosting its Annual Community Blood Drive. The drive will take place on Friday, September 9, 2016, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The Community Bloodmobile will be stationed at Veterans Park (Valley Boulevard between Highland Avenue and Marlboro Road).

The need for blood locally remains constant, and donations are needed to offset summer blood shortages. People can donate a pint of blood every 56 days. Donors are encouraged to eat a meal prior to giving blood and drink plenty of water. Photo ID is required at donation time. Blood donation requirements include a minimum weight of 114 pounds and minimum age of 17.

For more information contact PGK Tom Gonnella at 201-933-3082. Walk-ins are welcomed. PG ###

Thyroid Cancer Support Group

Thyroid Cancer Survivors' Association, Inc. will meet on Thursday, September 1, 2016, from 6 to 8 p.m., at The Wood-Ridge Memorial Library. All are welcome. No registration required. For more information call Kerri at 860-938-6996. ###

Tooth erosion can present in a variety of ways. Below are some common signs and symptoms:

- Sensitivity—Since protective enamel is wearing away, you may feel a twinge of pain when you consume hot, cold, or sweet foods and drinks. As more enamel wears away, teeth can become increasingly sensitive.

- Discoloration—Teeth can become yellow as the dentin, the second layer of the tooth, is exposed.

- Rounded teeth—Your teeth may have a rounded or “sand-blasted” look.

- Transparency—Your front teeth may appear slightly transparent near the biting edges.

- Cracks—Small cracks and rough areas may appear at the edges of your teeth.

- Cupping—Small dents may appear on the chewing surfaces of your teeth, and fillings might appear to be rising up out of the teeth.

What can I do to prevent tooth erosion? You can help prevent tooth erosion from occurring by taking these simple steps:

- Cut down on your consumption of carbonated beverages, sports and energy drinks, and pure fruit juice.

- Drink acidic drinks quickly and with a straw. This helps prevent acid from coming in contact with your teeth.

Also, don't swish these liquids around or hold them in your mouth for long periods of time.

- After consuming acidic drinks, rinse your mouth with water to neutralize the acids and wait at least one hour before brushing your teeth.

- Chew sugar-free gum, which helps your mouth produce more saliva to remineralize your teeth.

- Brush with a soft toothbrush and be sure your toothpaste contains a high amount of fluoride.

- Don't let your child consume highly acidic drinks or fruit juices in his or her sippy cup or bottle.

How can I deal with the sensitivity caused by tooth erosion? You can reduce sensitivity by using specially formulated toothpaste or over-the-counter enamel-building products.

However, always be sure to check with your general dentist before you try any new dental products. Tooth erosion impacts everyone in different ways. Make sure you speak with your dentist about your oral hygiene and find out what else you can do to protect yourself from tooth erosion.

Artful Thinking

By Artie Maglionico • Lodi Historian

Goodbye Summer 2016...I don't want to say good riddance but after all those 90 + dog days we had to deal with, especially the month of July, my true feelings are doomed to appear "good riddance"!

Oh, and by the way, as of the first of this month there are 116 days until Christmas... that should cool things down a little and personally I can't wait, how about you? I know that I'm rushing things by more than just a few months but I'm going to say it anyway "Merry Christmas."

Looking back over the summer of 2016, one question continues to plague my mind in bold print no less...Where the heck were all the kids?

The streets reminded me of that cable program called "Life Without People." Have any of you had occasion to catch that show? If yes, then you know what I mean.

The landscape was so barren that I expected to see tumble weed skipping across the sun baked road where once the kids from Columbus School played box ball or two hand touch.

There was a time, and you baby boomers can attest to this, when every street, vacant lot, dirt road, hillside and school yard in Lodi was overflowing with kids.

From dawn till dusk there was something going on that involved youngsters at play.

All someone had to do was bounce a ball and presto, like magic, there were 10 kids on the scene choosing sides and drawing bases on the macadam with rocks that were washed down from the hills of Farnham Avenue during a thunderstorm.

If someone happened to show up with a basketball then before you knew it another kid was balancing himself on the shoulders of his buddy nailing the rim of a large wooden vegetable basket to the telephone pole.

Of course a few ill-fated dunks and down came the hoop but it was definitely fun while it lasted. That was life on the street back when I was a kid. You never had to wonder what you were going to do if only because the kid next door was one step ahead of you. All you had to do was walk no more than 100 feet from your house, sometimes less than that, and you were involved in a game.

That wasn't only in the summer months folks ...that was year round. It was never too hot, too cold or too anything for that matter. There was always something going on and everyone took part in it. Am I right folks?

If we needed a change of pace there was always our trusted bikes. Those beat up two wheelers were an important part of everyday life for a kid growing up in the 50s and 60s.

True we didn't use them on a regular basis, but when someone yelled "Let's go bike riding" that Huffy had to be in working condition and ready at a moment's notice lest you get left behind. You started off with maybe four or five kids and by the time you went around the block twice the number grew to 8 or more.

Again that's because there were so many of us. "Hey where you guys going?" No one knew or cared for that matter. The truth is we didn't know until we got there. I rode a Huffy Convertible and it was as much a part of me as my Keds high top black and white sneakers.

When my parents, Vito and Lena, gave it to me a couple of Christmases earlier it was equipped with red and white fenders, a matching chain guard, a horn, handle bar grips with red white and blue streamers attached to them, a seat cover, reflectors and yes, a rear view mirror.

The bike came with red metal covers that were connected to the bars that ran from the handle bars to the seat. It's what distinguished it from a girl's bike which was obviously a very important feature for a young boy ready to hit the streets like Marlin Brando in the motion picture "The Wild Ones."

My Huffy also came with training wheels but by the time I made my debut with the kids from Westervelt Place, they were long gone and used at a later date when we were building soap box go carts.

Any way by the time the summer of 1957 was over the once shiny and new Huffy was beat up and stripped clean of all of those added features.

All that was left was the rear fender and the handle bar grips minus the streamers. Even the chain guard was gone which meant every so often the bike ride had to stop long enough for someone to help you remove your pant cuffs from the chain. It was a greasy affair that did not bode well for the kid whose mom had to wash them...torn cuffs and all.

My pal, Johnny Rannou, had a bike which was made up of parts from other bikes of various makes and models. Other kids at least knew what the heck they were pedaling.

It was a Road Master, a Huffy, or a Schwinn. When someone asked Rannou what kind of bike he was riding he'd have a choice as to what answer to give them and wouldn't be lying.

Any way folks the question remains..."Where have all the children gone?" Yea, I know those days are long gone and one can most likely find them staring into a computer which of course is a sign of the times.

Where are these kids going to play? Even the side streets are like highways. You can't even cross them, let alone play on them.

There are no more open fields or vacant lots to play on for they have long since given way to homes and businesses.

Even the school yards, once the very mecca of summer fun and recreation, are now lifeless.

Today it's mostly organized sports and I think it's a great idea because without them, especially in today's fast pace society, a kid would have no place else to simply have fun. And that's what being a kid is all about...That much hasn't changed...right folks? ###

Chore Program Helps Seniors

Since 1977, the Chore Volunteer Handyman Service of the Volunteer Center of Bergen County has been helping elderly and/or disabled people, by performing minor household repairs that clients cannot perform themselves.

The Chore Service assists in improving the quality of life of older people who are living independently. Chore's services include installing grab bars and railings, smoke and carbon monoxide detectors; repairing leaky faucets or toilets, replacing broken door locks, installing weather-stripping, changing screens and storms, replacing light bulbs, fixing broken lamps and switches, installing simple electrical fixtures or replacing existing electric outlets and switches.

There are some jobs that are beyond Chore's capacity. Chore cannot service emergencies, and does not do outdoor work, painting, work requiring high ladders, tiling, door or window replacements, heavy lifting, new wiring or appliance repairs, cosmetic repairs or interior decorating.

Chore serves Bergen County residents who are at least age sixty (60) or who are permanently disabled of any age. Chore provides service without charge; the only cost to the client is for parts necessary to complete the repair. To schedule a repair, or become a Chore Service volunteer, call 201-489-7790. For info: <http://bergenvolunteers.org/> ###

Real Estate Insight

By Mary Ellen Courtney

Thoughts on Back to School

Earlier this year, a nice young couple decided to sell their condo in Jersey City and move to one of the towns down here in our desirable south central Bergen County area. The main reason they moved? Their son Robbie, age 5, starts school this week.

It's a typical realtor story, but it highlights the quality of our local school districts which, I can tell from long experience, accounts immeasurably for the allure and value others put on residential real estate around here.

"We definitely moved here for the schools," Robbie's mom told us. "We wanted our kids to be with other children whose parents had as much involvement with education. The people here have similar backgrounds to ours. Those are the types of people you want to become friends with, whose kids you want your kids to become friends with."

All over the country, parents are preparing this week to send their children back to school, spending hundreds of dollars on books, clothes and groceries for brown bag lunches. And, for many families, another key back-to-school purchase is... a new home!

Online giant Trulia, conducted a survey that compared the ratio of families with children aged 5 to 9 versus families with children aged 0 to 4. The results, unsurprisingly, showed that the most attractive communities for families with school-aged kids are traditional suburbs like those around here, where many of us grew up.

The communities that are the least attractive to parents with school-age children (the districts with the lowest ratios of 5-to-9 year olds and 0-to-4 year olds), tended to be densely-populated areas that are popular with young professionals and students, yet have high real estate prices. Notable among them is Hoboken, which has only 39 children of elementary school age for every 100 preschool-aged children.

We in the real estate business see up close the migration trends motivating many 30-39 year olds. A fair number of people in this age group may originate in the centers of cities but, we note, a substantial outflow of them as their kids approach school age.

It would appear that, setting their own interests aside, these more mature, responsible couples think more now along the lines of what's in the best interests of their kids.

(Our own son, Martin, father of two, made a similar decision last year when he and his wife gave up their hipster lifestyle in Williamsburg, Brooklyn and transitioned to the more staid environment of Beacon, NY.)

The fact is, though, that buying in a community with a good school district can benefit you even if you don't have kids.

Realtor.com did a survey recently which showed that school district boundaries impact the buying decision for more than 60 percent of home buyers.

Schools have always been closely tied to real estate sales but, more than ever, education is often seen as a factor that is even more important than price, commute time and nearby amenities. It means high resale value.

We're fortunate to have that (and more!), right here in our local area. Just last year, for example, the Hasbrouck Heights School District was acclaimed 80th best school district in New Jersey according to the 2015 Niche Rankings, a research and rating standard.

According to Niche: "A high ranking indicates that the district contains great schools with exceptional teachers, sufficient resources, and a diverse set of high-achieving students who rate their experiences very highly."

And Hasbrouck Heights' "80 out of the hundred best" is pretty damn awesome when you realize that that score was based on a total 8,738 school districts and dozens of key statistics, plus 4.6 million opinions from 280,000 students and parents...!

Good Schools. Good for your kids and good for you, smart home buying/owning parents!

Along the way, the children discover a relationship with their greatest friend... Jesus. Parents get excited about the growth they see in their children socially, emotionally, and especially spiritually.

Parents are invited to join the adult Bible study, which meets during the same time.

Needed items include: beans, canned fruit, juices, pasta sauce, gravies, paper products, all kinds of soaps and cleaning products, shampoo, toiletries, jelly, coffee, tea, cereal, powdered milk, crackers, cookies and snacks.

The Food Bank is supported by food drives held at the Churches, schools, the Scouts, The Library and special programs, the monetary donations that buy food store gift cards and those who drop off bags of groceries at the Borough Clerk’s Office.

The 15-20 families who need help are very fortunate to be able to have a place to come if needed. Borough Clerk Rose Marie Sees said, “A great big thank you for your generosity. It is overwhelming and very much appreciated.”

What's New This Year at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church

Rally Day, marking the beginning of the new Church school year at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, will take place on Sunday, September 18, 2016, beginning with a service of Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m.

Celebrating Baptism, this year's theme for Rally Day is "Wade in the Water." There will be a special blessing of all students, backpacks, and teachers at the service. After the service, we'll be making a big splash with an outdoor block party and water-related games for children including water balloons, a fishing game, and a water relay race to raise awareness for the ELCA Walk4Water program. Additional information about this program can be found at www.elca.org/walk4water.

Sunday School begins the following week on September 25 at 9:15 a.m. A lectionary-based curriculum will be used. It will follow the pattern of our worship service: Gathering Time -- worship in the sanctuary with Pastor Susan including songs, an introduction to the gospel story of the day, and prayer; Time with the Word -- classroom learning time will include a more in-depth discussion of the gospel lesson, related games and activities, crafts and a snack; and Sending Time -- a gathering of gifts, closing with the Lord's Prayer, passing the peace and dismissal. We love to welcome newcomers and we invite all children, ages 4 and up, to join us. Parents are welcome to sit in on the classes at any time and to bring the children to worship at 10:30 a.m.

This year, we will be using a new Confirmation curriculum entitled, "Fearless Faith Formation." The curriculum uses a hands-on investigative learning approach that leads to deep engagement with the Bible, Church history, and Lutheran theology. Students are invited to bring their questions and curiosity to every class. A student and parent orientation to Confirmation will take place on Monday, September 26, at 7 p.m. Monday classes for 7th and 8th Grade students will resume on October 3 at 4 p.m.

Also, new this year, is a fun introduction to some important and interesting people in the Bible for 5th and 6th Grade students. Re:form is a one-year class designed as a preparation for 7th Grade Confirmation studies. A parent orientation to Re:form will take place on Sunday morning, September 25, during the Sunday School hour.

A current Sunday Church School registration form, is available at holytrinityhasbrouckheights.com, contact Pastor Susan at 201-288-6889 or e-mail at pastorsusanholyltrinitynj@gmail.com Provided by Judy Danilchick. ###

Knights Thank All Who Contributed

During April 2016, Knights of Columbus Councils throughout the state hold their annual fund-raising drive to help people with developmental disabilities and special needs.

You may have seen the Knights standing with their yellow and red vests on in front of local businesses, banks, etc., or you may have seen their canisters in local stores all year round.

The Knights of Columbus from St. Anthony Council #11585 in Wood-Ridge has been doing this since the Council was chartered in July 1995. During the past 20 years they have collected a total of $64,139. This year, 2016, they collected $7,000.

The money collected will be distributed equally to the following organizations or schools: The ARC of Bergen and Passaic Counties, Inc., The Children's Therapy Center, The Felician School for Exceptional Children, The Special Olympics of New Jersey, and The Transition Center of Wood-Ridge.

Chairman Thomas Reinhart extended his thanks to all of the Knights members who collected for this drive as well as each and every New Jersey resident who has supported this drive. Reinhart has been the council chairman of this activity for the last twenty-two years.

The Wood-Ridge Knights would like to thank the following businesses for allowing their members to collect in front of their stores: Stop & Shop of Hackensack, Stop & Shop of Carlstadt, Shop Rite of Wallington, Quick Check in Carlstadt, and the following locations in Wood-Ridge, Ke-arny Bank, Mills Bakery, 7-11 and the Assumption Church.

They would also like to thank the IHOP in Hasbrouck Heights for allowing the Knights to have a canister inside their store all year long for customers to make donations. Provided by Peter Gallo Jr. ###

Pinot Noir

“Wine Time with The Wine Guys”
Philip Miuccio & Angel Martinez

Now while that is a pretty bold statement made by Master Sommelier, a fancy title for a wine expert, Madeline Triffon, who called Pinot Noir sex in a glass, one can't overlook the fact that PN is one of the finest wines produced around the world.

Even though PN has at times been referred to as a “minx of a vine” by Jancis Robinson because of its difficulty in growing the grapes or being declared by Andre Tchelistcheff, in a fit of obvious rage that “God made Cabernet Sauvignon whereas the devil made Pinot Noir,” or Joel Fleischman of Vanity Fair who describes Pinot Noir as “the most romantic of wines, with so voluptuous a perfume, so sweet an edge, and so powerful a punch that, like falling in love, they make the blood run hot and the soul wax embarrassingly poetic”

Really? Seriously what the hell are these people talking about?

The wine experts, at times referred to as wine snobs, make such references not only to express how good the wine is, but to impress you with their immense wine knowledge. We get it, you have a wine degree in Oenology you are special!

Now far be it from us to disagree with them. In fact we respect their knowledge and could only strive to come close to a sommelier let only a Master Sommelier. That being said and we mean this from the bottom of our hearts, they need to lighten up big time!

What we the average wine person and mind you, the largest growing consumer group of wines want to know, is can we really get a nice bottle of PN that will not break the bank that we can enjoy with our meals?

Will it work well with hamburgers, Chinese food or pizza, with cheese, olives or other savory snacks? Will it work with desserts?

So for all of you fine people who enjoy wine but may feel a bit intimidated by all the aristocratic mumbo jumbo, let's break it down in plain old English without the hint of trying to sound pompous or like a stuffed shirt if you will. Bless their hearts.

Does PN pair with a big juicy steak or a simple hamburger, you bet it does. How about a slice of pizza, pasta dish or seafood, come on why wouldn't it. Chinese and other Asian dishes, are you kidding me, pass the dumplings please! What about fresh fruits, chocolates, cannoli, yup all of the above. Hell, even Entenmann's will go with Pinot Noir. What?

You never had any of their products at the end of the aisle in the supermarket. That's what I thought. Trust me I speak from experience; after all we all can't afford Crepes Suzette.

What you need to know is that when PN is young, only a year or two, it will have a nice full red fruit aroma with subtle taste hints of cherries, berries, plums or raspberries.

But, when you have a bottle that has a little more age to it, three years or older, you will be able to notice the complexity of the wine, the fullness of the taste that will give you great pleasure or dare I sound like one of the wine experts, tastes like liquid velvet washing over your tongue.

Yea I know that sounds snobbish, sorry but it really does. Simply put it is a damn good wine to be enjoyed again and again.

You're starting to think I need to try this PN but how do I know what to get or how much to spend. Well how much you want to spend depends on you.

But remember you don't need to spend a lot to get a good bottle of any type of wine today. The how and the where to buy them is easy too. Just go to your local wine store that offer tastings, some local examples are Stew Leonard's Wines which has several locations, or Total Wine in Paramus.

Locals can also go to Meadowland Wine and Liquor in Wood-Ridge. Ask for So-Ham the owner, a great guy that always has many interesting wines to offer.

Most will offer a tasting of wines on a regular basis; ask them when they will be offering Pinot Noir for a taste. Trust me you will be pleasantly surprised, and do not be afraid to let them know a price range that you want to spend; they will be able to get you a great bottle that will fit your budget.

The days of bad wine are far behind us my fellow wine lovers. Over 90% of the vineyards around the world and here in the USA are committed to putting only the best wines in the bottle showcasing their label. Do a little research and taste, taste and, when in doubt, taste again.

There is nothing wrong with a splash or two or even three. Don't forget to share your wine finds with family and friends, it will taste that much better.

Besides you may just find that bottle of Pinot Noir that the wine experts refer to as “sex in a glass.” Till next month, enjoy, drink, cheers and Salute!

The Mandala Project

The “Mandala Project” is a program offered by the Advisory Council Education and Outreach Committee of Bergen County Division of Senior Services.

This program is part cultural event and part arts and crafts activity.

It involves a one-time visit from Committee members and is available upon request to area senior clubs, organizations and/or senior activity centers and caregivers support groups.

The Division of Senior Services, in conjunction with the Education and Outreach Committee, will visit with crayons, markers, colored pencils and adult coloring pages and will explain the meaning of mandala designs and what the colors represent.

Participants are welcome to color a pre-printed mandala or create/design one of their own. Samples of other crafts worked in a mandala style will also be available for view.

In addition to the activity, staff from the Division's Information and Assistance unit will be on hand to provide outreach to those who may be eligible for Medicare Savings Programs under the newly acquired Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act (MIPPA) grant.

This grant will assist low-income older Americans who struggle to pay their prescription and health care costs.

To schedule a visit in your community, please call: 201-336-7427. ###

Youth Mentors Needed

Each year, in Bergen County, approximately 600 children are removed from their homes due to abuse, neglect or other factors that place them at risk of harm.

These children are placed in foster homes, residential facilities, hospitals, shelters or in the care of other family members.

The Bergen Volunteer Center's Mentoring Youth program is currently recruiting volunteer mentors to work one-on-one with youth between the ages of 5-18 who are facing these difficult challenges.

For more than 30 years, Mentoring Youth has trained and supervised adult volunteers to serve as mentors to children who are confronting adverse social, emotional and/or behavioral challenges at home or in their daily lives.

Mentors serve as positive role models; provide guidance, friendship and support; and advocate on behalf of youth when called upon to do so.

The next 3-week Mentoring Youth training will begin on Wednesday, September 21, 2016.

Each session is held from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Bergen Volunteer Center (64 Passaic Street, Hackensack).

Mentors show children a different perspective, expose them to unexplored opportunities and help them to build trust.

According to a study by Big Brothers/Big Sisters, youth who regularly meet with a mentor are 52% less likely than peers to skip school and 46% less likely to use drugs.

Additionally, they are 33% less likely to hit someone or to start drinking.

By sharing fun activities and exposing a youth to new experiences, mentors encourage positive choices, promote high self-esteem, support academic achievement and introduce young people to new ideas.

Mentoring Youth volunteer training is provided at no charge and covers such topics as the benefits of mentoring for volunteers and children; child and adolescent development; understanding child maltreatment; effective listening and communication skills; building rapport and developing strong mentoring relationships; the role of the mentor; and the matching and closure process.

Applicants are required to undergo a comprehensive background check and must obtain written letters of recommendation as part of the training course.

For more information about the Mentoring Youth program, contact Eva Tobias at 201-489-9454 x-209, or visit www.bergenvolunteers.org and click on Mentoring Youth. ###

Friendship Club Connects with bergenPAC

The Carlstadt Senior Friendship Club is very happy to announce that they have been accepted by the Arts Access Initiative program of bergenPAC in Englewood.

Carlstadt Senior Friendship Club members will be given free tickets to approximately 90% of the shows offered at bergenPAC. Through several grants, bergenPAC purchases each ticket on behalf of the participating organization and then distributes those tickets.

The Mayor and Council have agreed to provide the town bus to take members to Englewood for performances during the week.

Many seniors either do not drive or are not comfortable driving at night and therefore would not be able to attend these great shows without this service. In September some members will get to enjoy the music of Johnny Mathis. Joanne Kearney. ###

Recently, two members of the Carlstadt Senior Friendship Club attended a performance of Les Misérables, School Edition, presented by The Performing Arts School at bergenPAC. These tickets were provided free of charge by the Arts Access Program. The show was fantastic with a great cast with a lot of talent and boundless enthusiasm.

Pictured are Eleanor Costa and Joanne Kearney from the Senior Friendship Club. In the second photo, Joanne is joined by her granddaughter, Kathryn Kearney, who was a featured dancer and a member of the main ensemble. The cast worked all through the summer 6 days a week to get ready for the show. Their hard work paid off. Provided by Joanne Kearney. ###
