Steampunk

Science. Technology. Engineering. Art. Mathematics. (S.T.E.A.M.) is our future.
Steampunk could be described as “What the past would look like if the future had happened sooner.” Craftsmen, dreamers and inventors of the steam power age. Engineering inventions, gadgets, contraptions, widgets and contrivance. Using gears, levers, pulleys and springs. Fashioned of wood, leather, brass, copper, glass and polished wood, engraving and etching. It’s retro-futuristic science fiction depicting the 19th century’s Victorian era associated with H. G. Wells, Jules Verne and Mary Shelley. Steampunk is at the intersection of technology and romance. Where the future meets the past. See pages 16-17 for a Steampunk sampling.

Rutherford Hosts 42nd Annual Labor Day Antique and Craft Fair Sept. 4

The Borough of Rutherford has selected Cliffhanger Productions to produce its 42nd Annual Labor Day Street Fair to be held September 4, 2017.

One of the most well attended street fairs in the state, visitors can expect to find over 250 vendors lining the streets, parks, and plazas featuring antiques, collectibles, and craft vendors from all over the East Coast.

Cliffhanger Productions will bring its signature brand of entertainment to the festival with many activities to entertain the kids while the parents shop.

Local restaurants will be out in force, along with some of the area's non-profit groups that are planning food-related fund raising, all doing their part to make sure that festival goers can keep up their energy throughout the day.

Other area non-profits will have booths to provide information, engage in fundraising, and recruit volunteers.

The Street Fair runs from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Musical entertainment will be held at the Hutzel Memorial Band Shell in Rutherford's Lincoln Park starting at 11 a.m.

There will be live music all day long beginning with local artist and radio personality Lise Avery, Total Soul, and other local artists.

The Art Association of Rutherford members will be selling their paintings on the lawn of the Borough Hall. In addition, The NJ Hall of Fame Mobile Museum will also be a part of this year's festival.

Political candidates for local and state elections will be there to meet the public and answer questions.

Everyone is invited to join in this fun day, which last year attracted over 35,000 people.

AWS is Back! Meets Sept. 21

After its summer hiatus, the AWS is back and they are hitting the ground running; they will taste wine so they will not exactly be running but it's all good.

They are kicking off the fall season with ports of Portugal. Many of the oldest and most famous producers of ports, such as Taylor's or Croft, are of English or Scottish origin as, for most of the history of Port wine; Britain was by far its largest market. Today Millions all over the world now enjoy port.

They will be enjoying ports from three of the most respected makers of Port that Portugal has to offer. Taylor Fladgate, since early 1800 is among one of the oldest port houses in Portugal. Fonseca Guimaraens, often simply called Fonseca, is one of the largest Port wine houses in Portugal and finally yet importantly Croft, they are one of the most distinguished of all Port houses. Founded in 1588, it is the oldest firm still active today as a Port wine producer.

We are sampling a couple of Ports from each house, which we will be pairing with some of the finest cheeses, savory crackers, candied fruits and luscious dark chocolates. Is your mouth watering yet? We will also have available for those who wish to enjoy in the sitting garden "outside" some fine cigars. Wow, ports, food, cigars, can it get any better. Well now that you ask it can, because all of this and other fun events can be enjoyed by you and your friends at the AWS Meadowlands chapter, don't you think it is time that you joined our merry little group of wine drinkers, wine educators and wine makers. Yes, we make wines as well. We meet at the award-winning wine school Make Wine With US located at 21 Currie Street in Wallington, NJ.

Cost for this meeting is $18 for members and $25 for non-members, not a bad price for 6-7 different wines and snacks too! Have some wine and learn some fun facts. Seating for this event is limited, if interested in attending RSVP to wineclub201@gmail.com

ATTENTION: The Holiday/Christmas Party is Saturday December 2, 2017, at The Fiesta and you do not want to miss that, last year's was amazing. This year we are anticipating that we will be sold out, come to the meeting for more details.

Please check our blog for news and updates regarding our club at <http://wineclub201.blogspot.com>.

Thank you and we look forward to seeing you there. Chapter President Angel Martinez and all around good wine guy Vice President Philip Miuccio. Cheers & Salute! ###

It’s Hurricane Season -- Be Prepared

The 2017 Atlantic hurricane season is an ongoing event in the annual formation of tropical cyclones in the Atlantic basin. The season officially began on June 1, and will end on November 30, 2017. These dates historically describe the period of year when most tropical cyclones form in the Atlantic basin and are adopted by convention. However, as shown by Tropical Storm Arlene on April 19, 2017, the formation of tropical cyclones is possible at any time of the year. NOAA has raised the number of named storms it expects to develop in their latest 2017 Atlantic hurricane season outlook, warning that “the season has the potential to be extremely active.” In their August outlook update, NOAA forecasters said there is a high chance – 60 percent – of an above-average hurricane season, with 14 to 19 named storms expected throughout the season.

Hurricanes can cause catastrophic damage. Hurricanes can produce winds exceeding 155 miles per hour as well as tornadoes and microbursts.

Additionally, hurricanes can create storm surges along the coast and cause extensive damage from heavy rainfall.

Floods and flying debris from the excessive winds are often the deadly and destructive results of these weather events. Flash flooding can occur due to intense rainfall.

Know the Difference
Hurricane Watch—Hurricane conditions are a threat within 48 hours.

Review your hurricane plans, keep informed and be ready to act if a warning is issued.

Hurricane Warning—Hurricane conditions are expected within 36 hours. Complete your storm preparations and leave the area if directed to do so by authorities.

Prepare Your Home/Property

- Bring in or secure anything that can be picked up by the wind (bicycles, lawn furniture).
- Trim loose/dead branches from trees.
- Secure windows with storm shutters/plywood (pre-drill holes).
- Remove satellite dishes/antennae/roof turbines.
- Clean out gutters.
- Stack sandbags around exterior door frames.
- Close windows, doors and hurricane shutters. If you do not have hurricane shutters, close and board up all windows and doors with plywood.

- Turn the refrigerator and freezer to the coldest setting and keep them closed as much as possible so that food will last longer if the power goes out.
- Turn off propane tanks and unplug small appliances.
- Talk with members of your household and create an evacuation plan. Planning and practicing your evacuation plan minimizes confusion and fear during the event.
- Securely moor or move your watercraft to a safe location.

Don’t Forget

- Fill your vehicle with gas well in advance.
- Know how to turn off your home’s gas, electricity and water.
- Prep generator to assure proper operation.
- Do NOT plan on using propane heaters indoors as these are a health hazard and a fire hazard when used indoors. Same story -- do not use candles.

Have On Hand

- Tools (hammer, screw-driver, chainsaw, etc.).
- Plastic tarp (roof/window repair).
- Clean up supplies (for yard and home).
- Camera to document before/after.

Basic Disaster Supplies Kit
A basic emergency supply kit could include the following recommended items:

- Battery-powered or hand crank radio and a NOAA Weather Radio with tone alert and extra batteries for both.
- Flashlight and extra batteries.
- First aid kit.
- Moist towelettes, garbage bags and plastic ties for personal sanitation.
- Prescription Medications (7-day supply), medical information and medical items (hearing aids with extra batteries, glasses, contact lenses, syringes, cane).
- Baby supplies (bottles, formula, baby food, diapers).
- Pet supplies (collar, leash, ID, food, carrier, bowl), and vet records.
- Extra cash or traveler’s checks and change.
- Important family documents such as copies of insurance policies, identification and bank account records in a waterproof, portable container.
- Sleeping bag or warm blanket for each person.
- Complete change of clothing including a long sleeved shirt, long pants and sturdy shoes. Rain gear.
- Extra set of car keys and house keys.
- Insect repellent and sunscreen.
- Fire extinguisher.
- Matches in a waterproof container.
- Books, games, puzzles or other activities for children.

Food/Water
Consider the following things when putting together your emergency food supplies:

- Water, one gallon of water per person per day for at least three days, for drinking and sanitation.

- Store at least a three-day supply of non-perishable food.
- Choose foods your family will eat.
- Remember any special dietary needs.
- Avoid foods that will make you thirsty.
- Choose salt-free crackers, whole grain cereals and canned foods with high liquid content.
- Mess kits, paper cups, plates, paper towels and plastic utensils.
- Manual can opener for food.

Following a disaster, there may be power outages that could last for several days. Stock canned foods, dry mixes and other staples that do not require refrigeration, cooking, water or special preparation.

What do I do After a Hurricane?

- Drive only if necessary and avoid flooded roads and washed-out bridges.
- Keep away from loose or dangling power lines and report them immediately to the power company.
- Stay out of any building that has water around it.
- Inspect your home for damage. Take pictures of damage, both of the building and its contents, for insurance purposes.
- Use flashlights in the dark. Do NOT use candles.
- Avoid drinking or preparing food with tap water until you are sure it’s not contaminated.

taminated.

- Check refrigerated food for spoilage. If in doubt, throw it out.
- Wear protective clothing and be cautious when cleaning up to avoid injury.
- Watch animals closely and keep them under your direct control.
- Use the telephone only for emergency calls.

Flood Insurance
Because standard homeowners insurance doesn’t cover flooding, it’s important to have protection from the floods associated with hurricanes, tropical storms, heavy rains and other conditions that impact the U.S. For more information on flood insurance, please visit the National Flood Insurance Program web site at www.FloodSmart.gov.

Dealing With Flood Water
If you experience flooding, take immediate steps to protect yourself, your family, your home and your business.

For an overview of steps you can take, go online to: www.the-gazette-newspaper.com and check out the January 2013 issue, page 25.

Flash Flood Driving Tips

Flash flooding can occur after only a few minutes of heavy rainfall or after hours of precipitation. Safety officials offer these flood safety tips.

- During foul weather, be sure to turn on your lights. Remember, it’s the law.
- Never drive around barricades at water crossings.
- Do not drive through standing water on roads or in parking lots. This could cause you to hydroplane and lose control of your vehicle. If you do experience aquaplaning, hold the steering wheel lightly and lift off the throttle until the tires regain grip.

- Don’t try driving through fast-moving water, such as at a flooded bridge approach - your car could easily be swept away. If no alternate route exists and you have no other reasonable alternative but to drive through standing water --
- Remember that six inches of water will reach the bottom of most car doors. One foot of water will float most vehicles and two feet of water will carry most vehicles away.
- There is no way to tell if flooded roads have been washed out by swift-moving waters. Roads covered by water are prone to collapse.

- Watch for debris in the roadway, such as downed trees or limbs.
- Avoid driving in water that downed electrical or power lines have fallen in — electric current passes through water easily.
- Do your best to estimate the depth of the water (if other cars are driving through, take note of how deep the water is).
- Drive slowly and steadily to avoid creating a bow wave.
- Driving fast through standing water can cause expensive damage - the air intake on many cars is low down at the front of the engine bay and it only takes a small quantity of water sucked into the engine to cause serious damage. All engines are affected but turbo-charged and diesel engines are most vulnerable.

- Drive in the highest section of the road if it is safe to do so.
- Just like in winter weather, try to keep a little more distance between your vehicle and the vehicle in front of you.
- Do not drive through flood water if a vehicle is traveling in the opposite direction.
- Watch and be prepared for spray from larger vehicles like trucks.
- Be especially careful at night as it can be difficult to see water and its depth across the roadway.
- If your vehicle stalls in the deep water, you may need to restart the engine to make it to safety. Keep in mind that re-starting may cause irreparable damage to the engine.

- If you can’t restart your vehicle and you become trapped in rising water, immediately abandon it for higher ground.
- Try to open the door or roll down the window to get out of the vehicle.
- Have a device (hammer) to break a window from inside your vehicle.
- If you find yourself stranded in flood waters remain calm. Call 9-1-1 from the top of your vehicle or higher ground.
- Test your brakes thoroughly after leaving the flood water. ###

Steampunk: Where the

A Journey Through Steampunk Land was held on Friday, August 4, 2017, from 6:30 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday, August 5th. This was The Free Public Library of Hasbrouck Heights' 11th Annual Summer Bash.

This journey featured costume characters, DIY craft projects, a karaoke sing-off, entertainment, and science experiments geared for families in a Steampunk setting, transporting them to a world of magic, technology, and science.

The Library was dressed up as if it was the Belle Époque era in France – the late 1800s, a period of scientific, artistic and literary innovation, full of optimism, creativity, and excitement.

Events and exhibits included:

- Scott Calvin, the "Steampunk Professor," told stories and used gadgets to showcase the magic of physics, the scientific process, and some of the inventors and inventions that have formed the modern world.

- The Magic of Light Painting, where a photographer demonstrated how to make long exposure photos, illuminating bright light so it appears as a neon painting.

- Josh Urban, a musician who specializes in humor and a bluesy, rock-and-roll one-man show, performed a 45-minute concert.

- There was a workshop on making musical instruments using commonly found materials.

- Makerspace Alley, where children had the opportunity to make slime, paper flowers, and build bristle bots – an introductory robot that's powered by toothbrush-style bristles and a tiny motor – along with other DIY crafts.

- A demonstration of aerodynamics from the Aviation Hall of Fame and Museum of New Jersey in Teterboro who also provided gliders for the children.

- There was an informative presentation of exotic animals featuring a very hungry little piglet.

There was a late-night movie screening of a 2017 animated feature, rated PG, from approximately 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Food was provided, featuring finger sandwiches of cheese, ham, turkey and roast beef, a Caprese-style pasta salad, cupcakes, and pastries and coffee and tea for adults, served in a bistro style.

This year's theme, building upon the summer reading tagline "Build a Better World," is meant to inspire the next generation of inventors, innovators and leaders. Steampunk Land, which focuses on Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Math, fits in with The Hasbrouck Heights Public Library's 100th Anniversary, blending the old and new in imaginative ways. ###

Bible Baptist Operation Arctic VBS

On Monday, July 24, to Friday, July 28, 2017, Operation Arctic took children through an exploration of a cool place. They learned about some of the thrills of the Arctic Circle while exploring the Bible. It was a flurry of fun and excitement. They met animals that live there and learned about the climate, and how God created the animals to be able to live there. They also explored a cool book, the Bible, and learned about God and His love for all His creation.

This year the kids supported Lighthouse Pregnancy Centers by bringing in diapers which the center provides for newborns. A great big thank you to all who supported them. To learn more about what Lighthouse does and ways you can help go to www.lighthouseprc.org Provided by Bible Baptist Church.

Filling You In

By Jeffrey E. Mason, D.M.D.

Preventing Tooth Erosion

Tooth erosion, or tooth wear, is the loss of the surrounding tooth structure. This loss occurs when the hard part of your teeth—which is called the enamel—is worn away by acid.

Over time, this erosion can leave your teeth sensitive, cracked, and discolored.

What causes tooth erosion?

Acid is the main cause of tooth erosion. So, drinking carbonated beverages, energy and sports drinks, and pure fruit juice, which all contain high levels of acid, can cause tooth erosion, especially when consumed in large amounts.

Certain medical conditions, including acid reflux and bulimia, also can cause tooth erosion because they cause increased levels of stomach acids in the mouth.

What are the signs and symptoms of tooth erosion?

Tooth erosion can present in a variety of ways. Below are some common signs and symptoms:

- Sensitivity—Since protective enamel is wearing away, you may feel a twinge of pain when you consume hot, cold, or sweet foods and drinks.
- As more enamel wears away, teeth can become increasingly sensitive.
- Discoloration—Teeth can become yellow as the dentin, the second layer of the tooth, is exposed.
- Rounded teeth—Your teeth may have a rounded or “sand-blasted” look.
- Transparency—Your front teeth may appear slightly transparent near the biting edges.
- Cracks—Small cracks and rough areas may appear at the edges of your teeth.
- Cupping—Small dents may appear on the chewing surfaces of your teeth, and fillings might appear to be rising up out of the teeth.

What can I do to prevent tooth erosion?

You can help prevent tooth erosion from occurring by taking these simple steps:

- Cut down on your consumption of carbonated beverages, sports and energy drinks, and pure fruit juice.
- Drink acidic drinks quickly and with a straw. This helps prevent acid from coming in contact with your teeth.
- Also, don’t swish these liquids around or hold them in your mouth for long periods of time.
- After consuming acidic drinks, rinse your mouth with water to neutralize the acids and wait at least one hour before brushing your teeth.
- Chew sugar-free gum, which helps your mouth produce more saliva to remineralize your teeth.
- Brush with a soft toothbrush and be sure your toothpaste contains a high amount of fluoride.
- Don’t let your child consume highly acidic drinks or fruit juices in his or her sippy cup or bottle.

How can I deal with the sensitivity caused by tooth erosion?

You can reduce sensitivity by using specially formulated toothpaste or over the counter enamel-building products.

However, always be sure to check with your general dentist before you try any new dental products.

Tooth erosion impacts everyone in different ways. Make sure you speak with your dentist about your oral hygiene and find out what else you can do to protect yourself from tooth erosion.

Veterans Today

By Thomas Marshall

When I was young I remember the older folks telling me to save my pennies. Hold your nickels. Dimes add up. Ten cents is ten cents. I remember thinking that saving pennies would still take forever to get rich.

The lesson in saving your money is a useful lesson of course. Getting rich was not the lesson here. The true meaning of it is simple. Save your pennies and they will add up. Small amounts in time will add to the larger sum of money.

You may not get rich but if you make a good habit of it, you won't go totally broke and you will hit the goal you set in time. Small things adding up to make the whole, goes for other things as well.

Francis Marion was born in 1732 in South Carolina. He lived and worked on the family plantation like most young folks of the time did. His military career would begin in the French and Indian War when he joined William Moultrie's force to fight against the Cherokee Indians in 1757. In Moultrie's unit he became a Lieutenant. Fighting the Indians taught him well about using cover of trees and the landscape to help surprise your enemy and wipe them out. He served the British at the time, but this would change.

After the French and Indian War he purchased his own plantation and went back to farming for a living. After the Revolutionary War started in 1775, he sided with the American cause and was told to recruit men for his own unit based on the fact that he had some military experience. So this he did. He was once again placed under the Command of William Moultrie who also took up the cause of American Independence.

The first assignment was to build Fort Moultrie. He and his men helped complete the task. History picks up Marion's military life once again in the spring of 1780 when the British lay siege and captured Charleston, South Carolina. Marion was in Charleston at the time but he was not captured. Lucky for him he broke his ankle and was sent out of the city before it fell.

He joined General Horatio

Gates' Army which was being raised in the south to fight the British Southern Army. Marion knew the country and terrain in which Gates wanted to attack the British Army under the Command of General Cornwallis.

One would have thought Marion would be useful to Gates. General Gates however, had no confidence in Francis Marion and his luck would prove once again to be with him. Gates sent Marion and his small group of men out on scouting missions. More so it was said to get Marion out of Gates' way. So Marion and his men missed the Battle of Camden in which Gates' Army is routed and sent scattering to the country side.

Now at this point in time the British wanted to secure their hold on the Carolinas. Units were sent out from the British army that burnt towns stole and killed livestock, and arrested those that supported the Patriot cause. By doing these raids the British actually caused more of the local population in South Carolina to join the American cause.

The people of the area provided food and information to Francis Marion. He and his men, which numbered somewhere between 50 and 70 men at the time, took up camp in the Great White Marsh. Sick as many of his men were, Marion wanted to go into action.

Cornwallis had ordered his Loyalist troops not to go east of the Santee River because he was moving north to capture Charlotte, North Carolina with the rest of the Army and would not be around to give support.

So, the area was now under the control of Loyalist troops. John Ball and Joseph Wigfall were two Loyalist Captains that were ordered north of the Black River to maintain control in the Williamsburg District. Wigfall had 50 men in his command and Ball had 47 or so. Ball took his men to Shepherd's Ferry on the Black Mingo Creek and camped at a tavern known locally as the Red House.

He did this to control the traffic on the post road and also could strike at Kingstree and Indiantown if need be. He and his men became the outpost for Georgetown. The defenses of Georgetown had been completed so the only thing that remained was to guard the area.

As stated before, Francis Marion and his men were looking to move out of the Great White Marsh and attack the British. His intelligence was excellent. The locals told him about the movements of the Loyalists and of their outposts in the area. Captain John Ball's small command at the Red House became Marion's target.

On September 14, 1780, Marion and his men crossed the Pee Dee River and went to Witherspoon's Ferry. He joined up forces with Captain James and considered waiting for reinforcements, but decided to proceed to attack anyway. On horseback they rode 12 miles to the Willtown Bridge.

Right before midnight and near the Red House now, Ball's men had heard the hooves of Marion's horses on the planks of the bridge as they crossed. The Loyalist sentry fired his musket. Alerted to the presence of Marion's troops the Loyalists scrambled to defend their position. Marion ordered his men to dismount and fight as Infantry. He did this because Infantry would be better to capture the Red House as opposed to mounted troops.

Marion ordered Captain Thomas Waites and some other officers to demonstrate before the Red House and attack it if possible. He then ordered Colonel Hugh Horry to attack from the right side of the house with his regiment of Patriots from Kingstree. Some of the troops still on horses were to attack the left side so as to attack from three sides. Marion and a small reserve were to wait and go into action where needed.

Captain Ball and his men scrambled to the west side of the house and took the field near the swamp and waited in the darkness for the attack he and they all knew was coming. Colonel Horry's men emerged from the woods and at 30 yards the Loyalists fired into his troops. The line staggered, but it held. The Patriots now moved forward keeping themselves concealed as much as possible as they fired on the Loyalists. On the Loyalist right side Waites and his men came onto the field and they fired on the British.

Attacked on two sides proved to be enough, Ball's men fired a few more scattering shots and broke. They ran into the Blank Mingo Swamp. The battle of Black Mingo Swamp was a victory for the Americans. Small as it was. Marion's troops took all their arms and ammunition as well as supplies.

They also took their horses. Francis Marion took Captain Ball's horse. It was a good spirited horse that Marion rode in future engagements.

The two sides at the time had about 50 men apiece. The British had 6 men killed and 8 were wounded. The Americans had 2 killed and 5 wounded.

The lasting effects of this small win were worth the risk. More recruits joined Marion's force. Cornwallis was concerned about Marion and made it a priority to capture him or kill him. He sends Banastre Tarleton and his Dragoons out to catch him.

Marion moved through the swamps and back country frustrating Tarleton to the point that after 26 days he was said to curse Marion and that only the devil himself could catch the old fox.

Given the rank of General after he had rescued 500 American POW's, Marion continued his harassment of the British Army. His small engagements added up.

Little by little the British lost supplies and men to his attacks. Hit, run, hit again added up to help America achieve our independence. General Francis Marion, known affectionately by his countrymen as the Swamp Fox, is a name that every American should remember.

By the way, Marion gave his new horse a name. Can you guess what it was? Cool weather is coming. September is here. Don't worry I won't leave you in suspense. He named it Ball. ###

Corn Moon

The September Full Corn Moon appears on Wednesday, September 6, 2017, at 3:03 a.m. It is usually known as the “Full Corn Moon” or the “Barley Moon.” Corn, pumpkins, squash, beans and wild rice, the chief Indian staples, are now ready for gathering.

According to “The Farmer’s Almanac,” this full moon occurs closest to the autumn equinox. The “Full Corn Moon” usually comes in September, but in some years it occurs in October.

Often, the September Moon is called the “Harvest Moon” but this year it’s in October. The Harvest Moon is the Moon that falls nearest the autumn equinox; this full moon provides the most light at the time when farmers can work late into the night by the light of this moon. It’s needed most - to complete the harvest!

The Native American Indians of the northern and eastern United States kept track of the seasons by giving a name to recurring full moons. Europeans followed the custom. ###

Ezio Altamura Recognized for Creating “Keep Wood-Ridge Beautiful Campaign”

On July 31, 2017, Wood-Ridge Councilman Ezio Altamura was honored with the “Clean Communities Program Award.”

Since 2000, Councilman Altamura has worked to create and maintain a comprehensive cleanup, enforcement and education program on litter for the Borough of Wood-Ridge, earning him the “Clean Communities Program Award” from the New Jersey Clean Communities Council (NJCCC).

“Keep Wood-Ridge Beautiful,” is run annually on the first Sunday of June. This year, more than 140 volunteers from Bergen County and various civic organizations came together to clean the business area of Wood-Ridge.

For the past 10-12 years, the Bergen County Health Department has sent an instructor to teach a litter control program to 2nd Graders in the spring.

In addition, Altamura asks 7th and 8th Grade students to submit artwork inspired by green ideas.

The winning student artist is given a $50 prize compliments of the Mayor and Council. His or her work is displayed on the T-shirts given to volunteers at the “Keep Wood-Ridge Beautiful” event.

NJCCC Executive Director Sandy Huber said: “We are tremendously proud of the work Councilman Altamura is doing every year to pull the Borough of Wood-Ridge community together for a greater cause. He is an ideal example of a public servant who is truly committed to the community he serves.”

NJCCC is a comprehensive, statewide litter-abatement program that has served New Jersey residents and visitors for more than 25 years. Learn more at njcclean.org ###

Real Estate Insight

By Mary Ellen Courtney

Renters Beware!

OMG! Another one! Just about everywhere you look lately someone has figured a way to scam other people out of their time and money.

A couple of months ago we wrote about clever hacker-thieves who penetrate email accounts and instruct unsuspecting homebuyers to wire their closing funds to crooked bank accounts in Moldavia, Kyrgyzstan or wherever.

Big league, sinister stuff! But what about the risks involved in more mundane real estate activities like renting an apartment? Take a look at an edited email that we saw received regarding a house our office listed for sale in Lodi....

"Thanks for showing interest. The property is still for rent. It's located at... [address]. Move-in date ASAP. You may see a 'for sale' on the lawn but I've decided not to sell. The realtor's a jerk. Most agents aren't truthful. I've decided to rent it myself."

Dominick, the intended victim, showed us the ad on Craigslist which led to this email. The scam artist, 'Sal', was offering the property – a 4 bedroom, 2 bath cape, in a beautiful area – for $1,500 a month (it would easily go for $2,500). Fake owner 'Sal', was unable to show the vacant house to Dominick; he was recently "transferred out of state."

So, instead, Sal invited Dominick to peek in the windows or view the realtor photos online via Zillow. He would, he wrote, send Dominick an application ("please provide references") and a copy of lease.

If everything went well, Dominick would be FedEx'd the keys and could move in immediately. But only after, of course, slick Sal got the rent & security monies wired to his bank account. Dominick immediately smelled a rat and came to see us.

These days, renters have a lot to worry about, what with raising rents in our NYC area and landlords requesting highly personal information on rental applications (info that could be used for identity theft if improperly handled).

Craigslist is one of the most popular resources prospective tenants use to find available places but due to its nature of allowing anyone to sign up and post, it's riddled with phony postings like the one for our Lodi property.

We were already starting to get a lot of calls about the house being for rent before Dominick came to the office with his story and evidence. We flagged all the scam ads we could find online (on various websites) and even reached out to Sal the SOB scammer to tell him to knock it off. But, thankfully, the house sold quickly and this became a non-issue overnight.

If this scenario sounds like something only a sucker would fall for, consider a more sophisticated fake-landlord scam.

The scammer somehow obtains a copy of a key to the property - perhaps by signing a lease himself with an unwary landlord. Then he posts rental listings of the place online, featuring a low asking rent.

The scammer, dressed respectably, shows prospective renters around the property and signs as many leases as he can within a three-week period, with a move-in date scheduled for the first of the next month.

He collects the first month's rent and security deposit from each prospective tenant. Then he disappears, and on the first day of the next month a dozen people all show up to move in...

These are real scenarios, and it happens more often than you think!

So, what are you to do to ensure that you're not dealing with a scammer? First, you can check public records on the Internet (where available) to be sure that the person claiming to own the property actually does.

Second, you can use a specialty site like Airbnb or VRBO, which add transparency through renter reviews and verifications.

Third, you can be alert enough to never send money to anyone without evidence of who they are.

Or - best solution! - you can skip all that and simply engage the services of a Realtor. He or she will help you avoid being scammed. It's part of our job.

Chore Program Helps Seniors

Since 1977, the Chore Volunteer Handyman Service of the Volunteer Center of Bergen County has been helping elderly and/or disabled people, by performing minor household repairs that clients cannot perform themselves.

The Chore Service assists in improving the quality of life of older people who are living independently. Chore's services include installing grab bars and railings, smoke and carbon monoxide detectors; repairing leaky faucets or toilets, replacing broken door locks, installing weather-stripping, changing screens and storms, replacing light bulbs, fixing broken lamps and switches, installing simple electrical fixtures or replacing existing electric outlets and switches.

There are some jobs that are beyond Chore's capacity. Chore cannot service emergencies, and does not do outdoor work, painting, work requiring high ladders, tiling, door or window replacements, heavy lifting, new wiring or appliance repairs, cosmetic repairs or interior decorating.

Chore serves Bergen County residents who are at least age sixty (60) or who are permanently disabled of any age. Chore provides service without charge; the only cost to the client is for parts necessary to complete the repair. To schedule a repair, or become a Chore Service volunteer, call 201- 489-7790. Parents are invited to join the adult Bible study, which meets during the same time.

Lodi Enjoys National Night Out

Lodi National Night Out started about 5:30 p.m. on August 1, 2017, in the Borough parking lot on Memorial Place.

An estimated 1,000 viewed displays by the Police Department, Office of Emergency Management, Fire Prevention, Fire Department, Ambulance Corps, Recreation Department, Lodi Municipal Drug Alliance and the American Legion.

The Friends of The Library held a Library sign-up and a book sale. Girl Scouts, Lodi Rams and other organizations had tables. There was music as well as free hot dogs, T-shirts and lots of giveaways. A movie followed.

In our area, National Night Out was also observed in Carlstadt, East Rutherford, Little Ferry, Rutherford, etc. National Night Out is a community-police awareness-raising event in the United States, held the first Tuesday of August. National Night Out is an annual community-building campaign that promotes police-community partnerships and neighborhood camaraderie to make our neighborhoods safer, more caring places to live. Furthermore, it provides a great opportunity to bring police and neighbors together under positive circumstances.

The event has been held annually since 1984 and is sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch in the United States and Canada. National Night Out began simply with neighbors turning on their porch lights and sitting in front of their homes. From the first National Night Out involving 2.5 million residents across 400 communities in 23 states, National Night Out has grown to include more than thirty-eight million residents in twenty-thousand communities across the USA as of 2016. ###

901 Gets Christened

Engine 901 is a 2017 KME Predator. It has a 2,000 gallon per minute (gpm) pump and a 750 gallon water tank. It was placed in service on May 12, 2017.

Engine 901 was “Blessed” on Saturday, August 12, 2017, at the Firehouse, 85 Humboldt Street, Wood-Ridge.

The event began with Assumption Church Pastor Rev. Richard Mucowski officiating a spiritual blessing, followed by Ex- Chief Ronald Phillips Jr. christening 901 with a bottle of bubbly and a Department toast.

There were refreshments, raffle, plus live music by “Crossover Band.” T-shirts and mugs to commemorate the day were available.

A wetdown is a long standing tradition in the fire service when a new piece of fire apparatus is purchased. Many towns throughout New Jersey attended this function and christened it with streams of water (fog spray only), to wish and pray for the safe use for all who ride it.

Area Fire Departments participated by hosing down 901, followed by “friendly water fights.”

Departments that came with an engine or truck: Washington Twp., Rochelle Park, Wallington, Carlstadt, Little Ferry, Garfield, Moonachie, East Rutherford, Hasbrouck Heights, River Edge, Highland Lakes, Lodi and Saddle River.

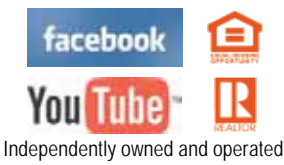

The Chief of the Wyckoff FD and the Divide, CO Fire Department were also there as well. Selected photos by Denis Kronyak Sr. ###
